MacArthur Condition Ebbs More

Heart and Kidney Function Waning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur has suffered a "further waning" of his heart and kidney function, Walter Reed Army Hospital announced today.

Stimulates Function

A bulletin at 10:16 a.m. said continuing deterioration of the five-star general's kidney function has nessitated institution of a semi-artifical means of stimulating kidney function. The technique involves making two incisions in MacArthur's abdomen and inserting two tubes.

The purpose is to attempt to wash out from the general's blood poisonous materials which cannot be efficently filtered out by his own faltering kidney system.

The procedure is technically known as "peritoneal dialysis." It involves continuous running of liquid chemicals, somewhat similar to those used by the kidneys, through one of the tubes into a cavity between two blood-filled membranes within the abdomen which are known as the "peritoneum."

The resulting products are pumped out through the other tube.

Outlook Not Good

The new downturn followed a terse and gloomy report from the doctors Wednesday that the outlook was not good.

That was the last report Wednesday when doctors had noted a slight improvement in the 84-year-old general's lowered blood pressure and control of the troublesome and sporadic internal bleeding.

Asked flatly if the general would recover, Dr. Henry S. Murphey, a brigadier general and hospital commandant answered: "We hope so."

Is Markedly Composed

The tube which had been inserted through MacArthur's esophagus and into his stomach remained in place. But the pressure of a small balloon against broken veins — designed to retard bleeding in the esophagus —was all but removed.

"He is markedly composed—has asked for his wife many times and she has visited him frequently," Murphey said.

Most critical still were signs early Wednesday that MacArthur's heart was losing efficiency and his kidney function was worsening. Even the slight improvement in blood pressure during the day was not enough to add optimism to the late report.

Doctors explained that they had stand-by methods of taking over for the failing kidneys if it became necessary. But a heightened pulse rate and the faltering blood pressure — signs the heart was working harder, but doing its job less well—were still worrisome.

Mazzilli New Head Of Brazil

Ousted Leader Claims Support

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A broadcast heard here today quoted the Mayor of Porto Alegre, Brazil, as saying Joao Goulart, deposed president of Brazil has decided not to resist the new government.

Goulart, the mayor said in the broadcast from Porto Alegre, wants to avoid bloodshed. Goulart reached Porto Alegre earlier today.

An Argentine foreign ministry source said Goulart would seek political refuge in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The broadcast, said the mayor, followed consultations by Goulart with political friends and Porto Alegre officials.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Congress today declared President Joao Goulart was ousted from office by two-day military rebellion, and installed his successor. But from a haven in southern Brazil, Goulart declared he still is president and will "fight to the death."

Installed in an early morning ceremony in the inland capital of Brasilia as the new president was Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli, president of the Chamber of Deputies.

Claims Army Support

Goulart fled from Rio de Janeiro as rebel army units and civilian militiamen marched on the city Wednesday, vowing to force him from office and lift "the Red yoke" from Brazil. He flew to Brasilia and then to Porto Alegre, 670 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro.

There, in his home state of Rio Grande do Sul, he claimed support of the strong 3rd Army. A statement read in his name over Porto Alegre radio declared: "The hour of mobilization, the hour of vigilance is here."

Declares Goulart President

The broadcast declared Goulart still is president and would put down the rebellion with powerful military support. It insisted that Goulart still is in Brazil, but did not say he was in Porto Alegre.

His statement called on the people to organize to defend democracy, and urged them to come to Porto Alegre or to go to their city halls and demonstrate.

Radio Liberty, in the industrial city of Sao Paulo, an anti-Goulart stronghold, said there were unconfirmed reports Goulart had fled to Asuncion, Paraguay, and asked for political asylum.

Country Is Calm

In Brasilia, Auro Andrade, president of the Brazilian Senate, declared the presidency vacant. Mazzilli, next in line because Brazil has no vice president, took the oath of office at 3:30 a.m.

The revolutionary generals met in Rio and announced that calm reigned throughout the country.

Mazzilli planned to come to Rio this afternoon for a series of political contacts to form a new government.

The people of Rio poured spontaneously into the streets in celebration of the 48-hour revolution, whose leaders accused the president of seeking to turn Latin America's largest country into another Cuba.

Fulbright Glad About Policy Speech, Sees Debate LBJ Help

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright voiced pleasure today at the response to his foreign policy speech and predicted the wide election year debate it has touched off will help the Johnson administration.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman's aim in his March 25 address was to stir up public talk on basic foreign policy issues, and he appeared to have succeeded beyond his expectations.

The Arkansas Democrat's remarks to a sparsely attended Senate last week so far have evoked:

Cautious comment from President Johnson and a mixed evaluation by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Allegations of softness-on-communism from some leading Republicans and some Democrats, plus some support from both sides of the political fence.

Report on Letters

At latest count, aides said some 5,000 letters, telegrams and postcards had arrived from around the nation and abroad, and the ratio so far favors Fulbright's stand 4 or 5 to 1.

Fulbright lit the fuse by urging abandonment of "old myths" in cold war attitudes in face of the "new realities" of today. "The master myth of the cold war is that the Communist bloc is a monolith," he said.

In calling for flexibility in dealing with the growing "great variation" among the Reds, Fulbright also advocated an end to the Cuba boycott—a "failure," he called it — and proposed open-mindedness about recognizing Red China some day. He said the public, Congress and executive branch should dare to explore such "unthinkable" things.

Pleased With Response

In an interview today, Fulbright said "I'm very pleased and somewhat surprised at the volume" of the response triggered by the speech.

"I do not think this is damaging to the administration at all" he added. "I think this is helpful to the administration in the sense that it brings these things out into the open" for public discussion.

He said he had made the speech because in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had named foreign policy as a 1964 campaign issue. The GOP candidates had only issued "a collection of generalities," he said.

Fulbright said he has not heard from Johnson since the speech nor did he consult the administration beforehand.

Ask Letters For Veto of Some Bills

Mrs. David Gerbarg, president of the League of Women Voters of Kingston, announced today that citizens are again urged to call upon Governor Rockefeller to veto measures which seriously jeopardize the court reform so overwhelmingly approved by the voters less than three years ago.

Despite strong opposition from social, civic and professional groups, the Surrogate's jurisdiction over adoptions was extended. A constructive proposal by the Administration Board of the Judicial Conference which would have provided for an orderly and supervised transfer of adoptions to the Family Court was ignored.

The exclusive jurisdiction of the Family Court over matters affecting children and families is further threatened by a bill removing many family assaults from this court and returning them to the criminal courts where they were handled prior to court reorganization.

Upset About Election

The League is also distressed by the Legislature's failure to enact much needed reforms in the Election Law. For years the League has been urging the adoption of mandatory Permanent Personal Registration on a statewide basis. Now that 90-day residents may vote for presidential electors only, there is re-emphasized the need for a uniform statewide system of voter registration. The League believes that residence requirements for all voters in all elections should be lowered. It will observe the operation of next November's election with interest.

The purpose of the League of Women Voters is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. Membership is open to all women of voting age.

Announce Ward Captains for Cancer Campaign

Ward captains for the city's participation in the 1964 American Cancer Society Crusade, which started Wednesday, were announced today by Lawrence A. Quilty, chairman of the Ulster county fund raising committee, and Augustas S. Brinnier, vice chairman.

The Crusade will continue through April, which has been proclaimed by President Lyndon B. Johnson as Cancer Month.

Canvass Underway

Scores of Volunteer workers, especially trained for their assignment for the Cancer Crusade including a door-to-door visit of all homes in Ulster County communities and the city of Kingston, began their canvass yesterday morning.

The volunteers will distribute leaflets—Answers to Questions That May Help Save Your Life at each home, as a key phase of the ACS educational and fund—raising drive.

"We hope to make the greatest educational effort ever undertaken by the Society in its fight to help protect our people from death from cancer," said Mrs. Arthur Freeman, director of the Ulster County Society.

"Our volunteers will not be content until every home has a copy of the ACS leaflet because the home is the place where protection against death from cancer begins," Chairman Quilty said.

Anchorage Making Comeback But Alaska Needs Much Help

By WARD SIMS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An air of normalcy has returned to the streets of Anchorage, but here and elsewhere in Alaska a lot of work remains before the devastation of last Friday's earthquake is repaired.

Today, as they continued the monumental task of clearing debris and trying to get schools, transportation facilities and the economy functioning, Alaskans were cheered by the news President Johnson has ordered quick federal aid for the stricken state.

The President said Wednesday he would ask Congress for $50 million in emergency relief funds.

Will Ask $500 Million

Gov. William A. Egan, who plans to meet with President Johnson in Washington, probably Monday, says he will ask for $500 million in federal aid. Robert G. Baker, president of Matanuska Valley Bank, says he thinks the request should be for $1 billion.

Both men said the money should be grants, no loans, so the hard-hit individuals and businesses will not be burdened by additional debt.

Egan told a late evening news conference he would ask the legislature, which reconvenes after an earthquake recess Friday, to vote a $50-million bond issue — more than double the state's present bonded indebtedness.

To Make Sacrifices

"This will exemplify our willingness to do everything possible, to make every sacrifice, to begin pulling ourselves up by our own bootstraps as much as financially possible."

The massive tremblor crippled business and industry in Anchorage, Alaska's largest city, and virtually wiped them out in Seward, Valdez and Kodiak.

One of the biggest immediate problems is getting the youngsters back to school.

Of Anchorage's two high schools, one was so badly damaged it cannot be used until major repairs are completed. One elementary school was destroyed. Double shifts are planned at the other high school and at another grade school.

"We hope to have some, maybe all, of the schools open early next week," says Dr. Don Dafoe, superintendent.

Pupils evacuated from Valdez, along with their teachers, now are attending schools at Gulkana, Copper Center and Glenallen. The schools in Kodi-

Former Resident Relates Horrors Of Alaska Quake

"The earth opened up and quite a few of the houses in our neighborhood slid down in the holes. The school caved in, Mom, its awful, its awful."

These are the words of a former Kingston resident, now living in Anchorage, Alaska, the focal point of a devastating earthquake which on Friday caused damage estimated in the millions and cost the lives of more than 130.

Receive Airmail Letter

Mrs. Eugene Webster, the former Addie Brown, in an airmail letter received today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs E. J. Brown of Port Ewen, gives an eyewitness account of the horrors of Good Friday in the Alaskan city.

The Brown's son-in-law, with the Air Force, attached to the airbase near Anchorage, managed to arrange for someone to call the Browns Saturday from Seattle, Wash., advising them that the Webster family was unharmed by the quake.

The letter, written Easter Sunday says in part:

"We are okay. Our house is all shaken up, we haven't had lights or heat since the disaster. On each side of us the earth opened up and several houses slid down into the holes.

"They say some holes are about 50 feet deep. When it started we left our home, got into the car with C rations and blankets. I'll never forget Good Friday 1964.

Easter Not Happy

"It hasn't been a happy Easter, believe me, but thank God my children and Gene and I are alive.

"It was pitch black everywhere, cold and snowing hard,

LBJ Will Ask $50 Million For Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named a special commission to plan rehabilitation of the earthquake-ravaged Alaskan economy and he will ask Congress for $50 million for emergency relief.

Both decisions were announced Wednesday by the White House after Johnson conferred with Alaska's senators, Democrats E. L. Bartlett and Ernest Gruening, and—by telephone—with William A. Egan, governor of the stricken state.

First Step Measure

The $50-million appropriation is generally viewed as a first-step measure to help rebuild vital roads, bridges, utilities and other publicly owned facilities. To the three Alaskans it is a bare one-tenth of the federal aid that will be needed to restore their state's economy.

At least $500 million is required to cope with "the worst disaster that has ever struck any state," Gruening declared. In Anchorage, Egan said outright grants of at least that much will be needed to reconstruct housing, business and industrial facilities. "We can rebuild in no other way," he said.

May Ask Industrial Aid

Usually federal funds are available only for clearing debris and rehabilitating public buildings and highways, but Bartlett and Gruening hinted that the President may request congressional authority to provide direct financial assistance to private industry.

There was no official confirmation of the Alaskans' suggestion, although the idea is known to have been discussed in high administration quarters.

McCullough Studying New Way to Identify

Detective Charles McCullough of the local police force is in Rochester learning the Identi-Kit system of identification, now considered a major factor in the solution of crime, Chief Robert F. Murphy announced today.

Develped by Hugh McDonald, chief of the civil division, Los Angles Sheriff's Department, the small box of portrait potential, has in a short time worked like magic for the police.

It gained recent nationwide notice in news and magazine articles, including one in the Science Digest.

The Rochester training course, which began today, continues through Saturday. It was arranged by Chief William Lombard of Rochester.

The Identi-Kit, not a foot long, weighs only six pounds, but it can weigh heavily in supplying information to investigating policemen .

It contains 26 age lines, 25 types of beards and mustaches, 52 chin lines, 102 types of eyes, 83 variations of eyebrows, four facial tones, 10 types of eye glasses, 143 hair lines, 30 types of head gear, 37 noses, 40 lips and a scar grid.

Trained detectives or policemen using the kit are able to piece together features of an individual described by a witness, or victim of a crime, and it has been found many times that the results are amazing. The kit was first used in 1959.

COURSE ON STOLEN CARS—Twenty-two members of the local police force attended a training course dealing with automobile theft conducted Wednesday in the 156th Artillery Armory by FBI agents and an official of the National Auto Theft Bureau. It dealt with thorough identification of vehicles, means of spotting stolen cars, means of obtaining leads and methods used by car-theft rings. Film and slides were used by instructors, who included a phase of field work. Among the officers, (front l to r) Officer Meyer Levy, Deputy Chief Grover S. Hoffay, and Lt. Charles A. Hoehing. The FBI instructor is Thomas J. Harrington. Others not shown were FBI Agent John R. Kennedy, and John J. Scarcsbrick, of the National Auto Theft Bureau. (Freeman photo)

Phone Worker Executive Board Advises Union Vote for Strike

Members of the executive board of Local 1120, Communications Workers of America at a meeting Wednesday night in Poughkeepsie unanimously urged members to vote for a strike in a wage contract dispute with the New York Telephone Co.

Harold Van Etten, of Veteran, president of Local 1120 of CWA, said workers in Ulster Dutchess, Greene, Sullivan, Columbia and Orange County will vote at 8 p. m. today on the strike proposal.

Voting in Kingston, Van Etten said, will take place at Odd Fellows Hall on Brewster Street. Polls also will be open at the same hour in Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Monticello and Catskill.

Negotiations between the company and union officials were resumed today in Manhattan. However, Van Etten said the strike vote scheduled for tonight will not be called off.

Van Etten said the workers feel the company came through with a package offer that might look good at first, but after analysis it appeared the wage conditions worsened.

The local president stated that the union has been fighting the wage differential for years, and will continue to fight for a uniform wage in all classifications. It was reported that the wage contract offer, leaves a differential in pay for workers in some areas, who are doing the same work as others who receive higher wages.

The dispute involves 500 plant department personnel in this area and approximately 24,000 plant workers in the New York City and upstate areas.

One report today indicated that a new offer by the telephone company, might forestall the threat of a strike. It was also reported that negotiations were being pressed in Manhattan in an effort to reach an agreement in the wage contract dispute.

These are the words of a former Kingston resident, now living in Anchorage, Alaska, the focal point of a devastating earthquake which on Friday caused damage estimated in the millions and cost the lives of more than 130.

Receive Airmail Letter

Mrs. Eugene Webster, the former Addie Brown, in an airmail letter received today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs E. J. Brown of Port Ewen, gives an eyewitness account of the horrors of Good Friday in the Alaskan city.

The Brown's son-in-law, with the Air Force, attached to the airbase near Anchorage, managed to arrange for someone to call the Browns Saturday from Seattle, Wash., advising them that the Webster family was unharmed by the quake.

The letter, written Easter Sunday says in part:

"We are okay. Our house is all shaken up, we haven't had lights or heat since the disaster. On each side of us the earth opened up and several houses slid down into the holes.

"They say some holes are about 50 feet deep. When it started we left our home, got into the car with C rations and blankets. I'll never forget Good Friday 1964.

Easter Not Happy

"It hasn't been a happy Easter, believe me, but thank God my children and Gene and I are alive.

"It was pitch black everywhere, cold and snowing hard,

LBJ Will Ask $50 Million For Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named a special commission to plan rehabilitation of the earthquake-ravaged Alaskan economy and he will ask Congress for $50 million for emergency relief.

Both decisions were announced Wednesday by the White House after Johnson conferred with Alaska's senators, Democrats E. L. Bartlett and Ernest Gruening, and—by telephone—with William A. Egan, governor of the stricken state.

First Step Measure

The $50-million appropriation is generally viewed as a first-step measure to help rebuild vital roads, bridges, utilities and other publicly owned facilities. To the three Alaskans it is a bare one-tenth of the federal aid that will be needed to restore their state's economy.

At least $500 million is required to cope with "the worst disaster that has ever struck any state," Gruening declared. In Anchorage, Egan said outright grants of at least that much will be needed to reconstruct housing, business and industrial facilities. "We can rebuild in no other way," he said.

May Ask Industrial Aid

Usually federal funds are available only for clearing debris and rehabilitating public buildings and highways, but Bartlett and Gruening hinted that the President may request congressional authority to provide direct financial assistance to private industry.

There was no official confirmation of the Alaskans' suggestion, although the idea is known to have been discussed in high administration quarters.

McCullough Studying New Way to Identify

Detective Charles McCullough of the local police force is in Rochester learning the Identi-Kit system of identification, now considered a major factor in the solution of crime, Chief Robert F. Murphy announced today.

Develped by Hugh McDonald, chief of the civil division, Los Angles Sheriff's Department, the small box of portrait potential, has in a short time worked like magic for the police.

It gained recent nationwide notice in news and magazine articles, including one in the Science Digest.

The Rochester training course, which began today, continues through Saturday. It was arranged by Chief William Lombard of Rochester.

The Identi-Kit, not a foot long, weighs only six pounds, but it can weigh heavily in supplying information to investigating policemen .

It contains 26 age lines, 25 types of beards and mustaches, 52 chin lines, 102 types of eyes, 83 variations of eyebrows, four facial tones, 10 types of eye glasses, 143 hair lines, 30 types of head gear, 37 noses, 40 lips and a scar grid.

Trained detectives or policemen using the kit are able to piece together features of an individual described by a witness, or victim of a crime, and it has been found many times that the results are amazing. The kit was first used in 1959.

COURSE ON STOLEN CARS—Twenty-two members of the local police force attended a training course dealing with automobile theft conducted Wednesday in the 156th Artillery Armory by FBI agents and an official of the National Auto Theft Bureau. It dealt with thorough identification of vehicles, means of spotting stolen cars, means of obtaining leads and methods used by car-theft rings. Film and slides were used by instructors, who included a phase of field work. Among the officers, (front l to r) Officer Meyer Levy, Deputy Chief Grover S. Hoffay, and Lt. Charles A. Hoehing. The FBI instructor is Thomas J. Harrington. Others not shown were FBI Agent John R. Kennedy, and John J. Scarcsbrick, of the National Auto Theft Bureau. (Freeman photo)

Phone Worker Executive Board Advises Union Vote for Strike

Members of the executive board of Local 1120, Communications Workers of America at a meeting Wednesday night in Poughkeepsie unanimously urged members to vote for a strike in a wage contract dispute with the New York Telephone Co.

Harold Van Etten, of Veteran, president of Local 1120 of CWA, said workers in Ulster Dutchess, Greene, Sullivan, Columbia and Orange County will vote at 8 p. m. today on the strike proposal.

Voting in Kingston, Van Etten said, will take place at Odd Fellows Hall on Brewster Street. Polls also will be open at the same hour in Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Monticello and Catskill.

Negotiations between the company and union officials were resumed today in Manhattan. However, Van Etten said the strike vote scheduled for tonight will not be called off.

Van Etten said the workers feel the company came through with a package offer that might look good at first, but after analysis it appeared the wage conditions worsened.

The local president stated that the union has been fighting the wage differential for years, and will continue to fight for a uniform wage in all classifications. It was reported that the wage contract offer, leaves a differential in pay for workers in some areas, who are doing the same work as others who receive higher wages.

The dispute involves 500 plant department personnel in this area and approximately 24,000 plant workers in the New York City and upstate areas.

One report today indicated that a new offer by the telephone company, might forestall the threat of a strike. It was also reported that negotiations were being pressed in Manhattan in an effort to reach an agreement in the wage contract dispute.

Promises Ballot

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Walter Lagergren imposed a 60-day jail sentence on Emmett Covan of Pensacola Wednesday on a charge of public drunkenness.

The justice of the peace is a candidate for renomination in the May 5 primary.

"But judge," protested Covan, 56, "I won't be able to vote for you."

"That's all right," replied Lagergren, "I'll send you an absentee ballot."

Dear Abby . . .

It's NOT Elementary!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our children go to elementary school in a state where salaries are low and there is a shortage of teachers. A woman I shall call Mrs. X is a supply teacher. She is also a crossing guard, and must excuse herself in order to direct traffic. Mrs. X married at 14 and had her first child at 15. She did not even finish JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL! Yet we hear that the principal is making her a full-time teacher next year. When we complained, the principal said he "thought" she took a correspondence course and finished high school. Is this fair? Many high school grads would like to forego the expense and work of college, and go right into teaching. Mrs. X must have cast a spell over this principal. What can be done?

ANGRY PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Qualifications for teaching vary vastly in the individual states. But apparently Mrs. X. qualifies to teach in yours. If she hasn't also "cast a spell" over the superintendent and the school board, they can explain it to you.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: A very cute boy shouted across the campus to me, "C. Y. K." I didn't know what he meant, so the next time I saw him I asked him and he told me to ask you. So I am asking.

DEBBIE

DEAR DEBBIE: It means, "Consider yourself kissed."

DEAR ABBY: What makes a 57-year-old man suddenly decide to go on a diet, and to take an interest in clothes and grooming?

DEAR CURIOUS: A woman.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My front porch is being used for a public bus stop. When it rains, my porch is crowded with strangers who are waiting for the bus. Some of them leave newspapers on the floor, and I even find cigarette butts that have been crushed by their heels. My porch is my private property. I hate to be mean, but I am getting tired of cleaning up after the public. I can't help it if my house is right on the corner a few steps from the bus stop. What should I do?

BAD BACK

DEAR BAD: (1) You could ask either the "city" or the transportation company to provide a shelter for that bus stop. (2) You could enclose your porch and put a lock on the gate. (3) You could stick your head out the door and remind folks that they are trespassing on private property. Number Two would be my choice.

End Is in Sight For State Bonus To War 2 Veterans

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The end appears to be in sight for New York State's $340-million bonus program for World War II veterans.

Gov. Rockefeller's office reported Wednesday that the governor had signed a bill to cut off nearly all claims for the bonus after March 31, 1965.

After that time, the state will pay claims only to veterans who can prove they had been unable to apply because of physical or mental disability.

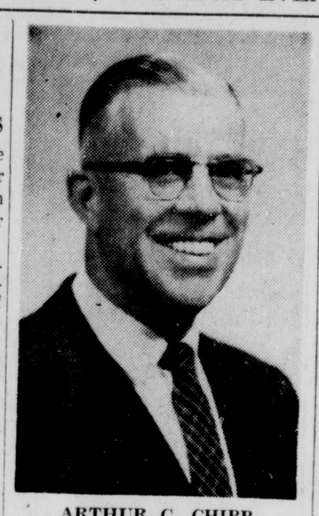
The state floated bonds to finance payment of bonuses ranging from $50 to $250. To pay off the bonds, the state raised its cigarette tax by a penny a package and also set aside part of the income tax.

The last of the bonds were paid off in 1958, but the special tax on cigarettes has been retained. The cigarette revenue and the designated portion of the income tax have been routed into the state's general fund.

Since the first bonus checks were mailed in January 1948, the state has paid a total of $339,826,938 to 1,547,969 New York veterans of World War II, the Veterans Affairs Division reported.

The amount of each payment depends on length of service.

Although the majority of veterans hastened to obtain their bonuses in the first days of the program, some have been unusually slow in doing so. Claims still come in at the rate of a dozen or so a month.



ARTHUR C. CHIPP

Seeks Coroner's Post Again, Name Going to Parley

Announcement was made today that Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson would be a candidate for reelection as one of the three coroners of Ulster County.

GOP Committeeman 20 Years

Chipp a former Kingston resident where he attended School 8, Kingston High School, Moran Business School and the University of the State of New York at New Paltz, has been a Republican committeeman from the 8th district of Town of Wawarsing for 20 years. Prior to that he was active in Republican circles in the Town of Rochester.

Son of the late Dr. Elvin D. and Emma Jane Lyon Chipp of Kingston, he taught school in the Kerhonkson area for five years before becoming associated with the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home in Kerhonkson in 1940. He is married to Mabel E. Humiston, daughter of the late Howard B., and Margaret Heinzman Humiston, and they have two children, Margaret Jean, a stenographer with the New York State Department of Public Works in Albany and Howard Deyo Chipp, a student at Bryant College, Providence, R. I. He has two brothers, Rodney B. Chipp, social science teacher at East Greenbush Central School, and Warren Deyo Chipp of Kingston.

Chipp has served as Ulster County Fire Coordinator. He is a graduate of the Rinouard School of Embalming in New York City and is a member of the Catskill Mountain Funeral Directors Association and the National Funeral Directors Association.

First Elected in 1943

Elected coroner in 1943, Chipp served three terms. Again in 1958 he was elected coroner and is now serving out the second term of that series in office.

Active in civic matters in his town Coroner Chipp is a member of the Kerhonkson Lions Club, the Federated Church of Kerhonkson; Wawarsing Lodge 582, F. & A.M. of Ellenville; Shandaken Lodge 491, I.O.O.F. of Olive Bridge; Kerhonkson Fire Company; Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association; Ellenville Lodge, 1971, B.P.O.E.; Isaac Walton League of America, Ellenville Chapter; Ulster County Historical Society; and serves as guidance counselor for the Boy Scouts of America. He also is treasurer of the Salvation Army, Kerhonkson area.

Orbiting Slated Next Tuesday for Unmanned Craft

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The long-awaited first test flight in the two-man Gemini program, an attempt to orbit an unmanned spacecraft, is scheduled for Tuesday.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration announcement Wednesday said major goals of the test will be to check the orbital ability of the Titan 2 rocket, spacecraft structural integrity and compatibility of the rocket-capsule combination.

If the flight and a second unmanned mission scheduled for next summer are successful, two astronauts are to ride a Gemini craft on a three-orbit ride in November or December.

Technical difficulties with the Titan 2 and the spacecraft have delayed the program nearly a year.

Surveying Office Opened by Maines

A new professional office opened this week by Thomas Maines of 317 Washington Avenue, this city will offer property surveying service.

A native of Kingston, Maines graduated from Kingstson High School in 1953, served in the U. S. Navy and attended the New York State Ranger School. He is married to the former Marion Resso of Kingston. They have two daughters, Cheryl Ann, 4, and Kathleen, 1.

Maines, who has worked with various surveyors in the area, said his field includes locating and studying properties, subdivision and topographic work and house layouts.

'Friendship Visit'

MOSCOW (AP) — Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky and a Soviet military delegation flew to East Berlin today.

The visit was described by Tass, the Soviet news agency, as a "friendship" visit. There was no other indication of its purpose.

Successful 'Dropouts'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miami-Dade Junior College has a "dropout" problem.

More than 1,500 students have enrolled in the college's data processing program, started in 1960. Only one has completed the two-year course.

It's not a question of flunking. The students are too successful.

"They take five or six of the courses and then are grabbed off by industry," said President Peter Masiko Jr. today.

Rondout Valley School Slates Parents Program

The Guidance Department of the Rondout Valley Central School will present an orientation program for parents of eighth grade students in the high school auditorium Thursday, April 9, at 8 p. m. Parents of eighth grade students at St. Peter's School, Rosendale may attend.

An overview of the high school program will be presented. There will be discussion on curriculum, course selection, school activities, and graduation requirements. As a special feature, slides of actual classes and activity groups will be shown.

Participating in this program will be the administration and guidance department of the Rondout Valley High School. A general discussion will follow the program, at which time parents will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Refreshments will be served with the assistance of the eighth grade homemaking classes.

Thankful Note Is Sent by Girl, 9, On Paper Napkin

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The weary pilot found the note half-hidden in his plane after airlifting 30 persons here from Kodiak. It was written on a paper napkin.

"This is for nice kind persons at the Navy base. We thank you so much for your big help to native people.

"You clothed us when we didn't have clothes, you feed (sic) us when we were hungry, you gave water to drink and there is more nice things you Navy people help us with.

"It's so nice there is a Navy base or any base to help us, so this bye-bye from all Kaguyak people."

Parts of the letter were released Wednesday by Lt. Cmdr. R. L. Rundle of the Alameda Naval Air Station, Calif., who was the pilot. He said it had been left by a 9-year-old girl whose name he didn't know. He plans to frame it.

Ridge Holstein Tops Lifetime Total

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has reported that Nuway Spofford Rose, owned by Ridgely Farms, Stone Ridge, Mrs. Frances H. Leggett owner, has exceeded the 200,000 pound lifetime production total.

"Rose" has an actual lifetime output of 205,870 pounds of milk and 7,077 pounds of butterfat. Born in 1945, she made this outstanding lifetime record in the 5,766 days between her second birthday and her death, late in 1963.

Her lifetime production record and longevity enabled her to take a place among the "iron grandma" cows of the Holstein dairy breed. She was bred in the herd of D W. Morris and Sons, West Westfield, and transferred to the Ridgely Farms herd early in 1946.

O'Reilly Ends Training

Dennis W. O'Reilly, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Reilly of 242 Elmendorf Street, completed basic training March 13 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The nine-week training includes naval orientation, history and organization, seamanship, ordnance and gunnery, military drill, first aid and survival.

Dear Abby . . .

It's NOT Elementary!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our children go to elementary school in a state where salaries are low and there is a shortage of teachers. A woman I shall call Mrs. X is a supply teacher. She is also a crossing guard, and must excuse herself in order to direct traffic. Mrs. X married at 14 and had her first child at 15. She did not even finish JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL! Yet we hear that the principal is making her a full-time teacher next year. When we complained, the principal said he "thought" she took a correspondence course and finished high school. Is this fair? Many high school grads would like to forego the expense and work of college, and go right into teaching. Mrs. X must have cast a spell over this principal. What can be done?

ANGRY PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Qualifications for teaching vary vastly in the individual states. But apparently Mrs. X. qualifies to teach in yours. If she hasn't also "cast a spell" over the superintendent and the school board, they can explain it to you.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: A very cute boy shouted across the campus to me, "C. Y. K." I didn't know what he meant, so the next time I saw him I asked him and he told me to ask you. So I am asking.

DEBBIE

DEAR DEBBIE: It means, "Consider yourself kissed."

DEAR ABBY: What makes a 57-year-old man suddenly decide to go on a diet, and to take an interest in clothes and grooming?

DEAR CURIOUS: A woman.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My front porch is being used for a public bus stop. When it rains, my porch is crowded with strangers who are waiting for the bus. Some of them leave newspapers on the floor, and I even find cigarette butts that have been crushed by their heels. My porch is my private property. I hate to be mean, but I am getting tired of cleaning up after the public. I can't help it if my house is right on the corner a few steps from the bus stop. What should I do?

BAD BACK

DEAR BAD: (1) You could ask either the "city" or the transportation company to provide a shelter for that bus stop. (2) You could enclose your porch and put a lock on the gate. (3) You could stick your head out the door and remind folks that they are trespassing on private property. Number Two would be my choice.

Rondout Valley School Slates Parents Program

The Guidance Department of the Rondout Valley Central School will present an orientation program for parents of eighth grade students in the high school auditorium Thursday, April 9, at 8 p. m. Parents of eighth grade students at St. Peter's School, Rosendale may attend.

An overview of the high school program will be presented. There will be discussion on curriculum, course selection, school activities, and graduation requirements. As a special feature, slides of actual classes and activity groups will be shown.

Participating in this program will be the administration and guidance department of the Rondout Valley High School. A general discussion will follow the program, at which time parents will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Refreshments will be served with the assistance of the eighth grade homemaking classes.

Thankful Note Is Sent by Girl, 9, On Paper Napkin

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The weary pilot found the note half-hidden in his plane after airlifting 30 persons here from Kodiak. It was written on a paper napkin.

"This is for nice kind persons at the Navy base. We thank you so much for your big help to native people.

"You clothed us when we didn't have clothes, you feed (sic) us when we were hungry, you gave water to drink and there is more nice things you Navy people help us with.

"It's so nice there is a Navy base or any base to help us, so this bye-bye from all Kaguyak people."

Parts of the letter were released Wednesday by Lt. Cmdr. R. L. Rundle of the Alameda Naval Air Station, Calif., who was the pilot. He said it had been left by a 9-year-old girl whose name he didn't know. He plans to frame it.

End Is in Sight For State Bonus To War 2 Veterans

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The end appears to be in sight for New York State's $340-million bonus program for World War II veterans.

Gov. Rockefeller's office reported Wednesday that the governor had signed a bill to cut off nearly all claims for the bonus after March 31, 1965.

After that time, the state will pay claims only to veterans who can prove they had been unable to apply because of physical or mental disability.

The state floated bonds to finance payment of bonuses ranging from $50 to $250. To pay off the bonds, the state raised its cigarette tax by a penny a package and also set aside part of the income tax.

The last of the bonds were paid off in 1958, but the special tax on cigarettes has been retained. The cigarette revenue and the designated portion of the income tax have been routed into the state's general fund.

Since the first bonus checks were mailed in January 1948, the state has paid a total of $339,826,938 to 1,547,969 New York veterans of World War II, the Veterans Affairs Division reported.

The amount of each payment depends on length of service.

Although the majority of veterans hastened to obtain their bonuses in the first days of the program, some have been unusually slow in doing so. Claims still come in at the rate of a dozen or so a month.

ARTHUR C. CHIPP

Seeks Coroner's Post Again, Name Going to Parley

Announcement was made today that Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson would be a candidate for reelection as one of the three coroners of Ulster County.

GOP Committeeman 20 Years

Chipp a former Kingston resident where he attended School 8, Kingston High School, Moran Business School and the University of the State of New York at New Paltz, has been a Republican committeeman from the 8th district of Town of Wawarsing for 20 years. Prior to that he was active in Republican circles in the Town of Rochester.

Son of the late Dr. Elvin D. and Emma Jane Lyon Chipp of Kingston, he taught school in the Kerhonkson area for five years before becoming associated with the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home in Kerhonkson in 1940. He is married to Mabel E. Humiston, daughter of the late Howard B., and Margaret Heinzman Humiston, and they have two children, Margaret Jean, a stenographer with the New York State Department of Public Works in Albany and Howard Deyo Chipp, a student at Bryant College, Providence, R. I. He has two brothers, Rodney B. Chipp, social science teacher at East Greenbush Central School, and Warren Deyo Chipp of Kingston.

Chipp has served as Ulster County Fire Coordinator. He is a graduate of the Rinouard School of Embalming in New York City and is a member of the Catskill Mountain Funeral Directors Association and the National Funeral Directors Association.

First Elected in 1943

Elected coroner in 1943, Chipp served three terms. Again in 1958 he was elected coroner and is now serving out the second term of that series in office.

Active in civic matters in his town Coroner Chipp is a member of the Kerhonkson Lions Club, the Federated Church of Kerhonkson; Wawarsing Lodge 582, F. & A.M. of Ellenville; Shandaken Lodge 491, I.O.O.F. of Olive Bridge; Kerhonkson Fire Company; Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association; Ellenville Lodge, 1971, B.P.O.E.; Isaac Walton League of America, Ellenville Chapter; Ulster County Historical Society; and serves as guidance counselor for the Boy Scouts of America. He also is treasurer of the Salvation Army, Kerhonkson area.

Orbiting Slated Next Tuesday for Unmanned Craft

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The long-awaited first test flight in the two-man Gemini program, an attempt to orbit an unmanned spacecraft, is scheduled for Tuesday.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration announcement Wednesday said major goals of the test will be to check the orbital ability of the Titan 2 rocket, spacecraft structural integrity and compatibility of the rocket-capsule combination.

If the flight and a second unmanned mission scheduled for next summer are successful, two astronauts are to ride a Gemini craft on a three-orbit ride in November or December.

Technical difficulties with the Titan 2 and the spacecraft have delayed the program nearly a year.

Surveying Office Opened by Maines

A new professional office opened this week by Thomas Maines of 317 Washington Avenue, this city will offer property surveying service.

A native of Kingston, Maines graduated from Kingstson High School in 1953, served in the U. S. Navy and attended the New York State Ranger School. He is married to the former Marion Resso of Kingston. They have two daughters, Cheryl Ann, 4, and Kathleen, 1.

Maines, who has worked with various surveyors in the area, said his field includes locating and studying properties, subdivision and topographic work and house layouts.

'Friendship Visit'

MOSCOW (AP) — Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky and a Soviet military delegation flew to East Berlin today.

The visit was described by Tass, the Soviet news agency, as a "friendship" visit. There was no other indication of its purpose.

Successful 'Dropouts'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miami-Dade Junior College has a "dropout" problem.

More than 1,500 students have enrolled in the college's data processing program, started in 1960. Only one has completed the two-year course.

It's not a question of flunking. The students are too successful.

"They take five or six of the courses and then are grabbed off by industry," said President Peter Masiko Jr. today.

A SEARCHING QUESTION

Brief reflection on the fundamentally searching question, "Am I my brother's keeper" suggests the extent to which this query, and the manifold answers made to it, pervade and influence human society.

Consider an appalling recent occurrence in New York City. A woman was stabbed at night by a man who attacked her in the street three separate times—being frightened off twice—before she died. The victim's cries aroused 38 persons in the area, some of whom actually witnessed the stabbing as they peered from their apartment windows. Yet only one of the 38 finally called police—and then it was too late.

What of the others who did not feel themselves to be their brother's keeper, even to the extent of alerting the police? Most of them, when questioned, said they "didn't want to get involved."

This is an extreme case, granted—although it can be noted, as an aside, that a tendency to shy away from reporting crimes is not uncommon. The episode does serve to point up the reluctance of many people to involve themselves in the agony of others less fortunate.

It is not our function, or our desire, to point an accusatory finger at any citizen. But there is reason to suppose that many of us, perhaps most of us, would do well to ponder the implications of that ancient question, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

SPIRIT IS UNSHAKEN

The earth we consider so firm, into which we bore our deep mines and sink the fundations for our towering buildings, is but the merest outer skin of the huge globe.

We are told that the massive adjustment of the crust which shook Alaska released more energy than all the nuclear bombs ever exploded. Actually, an event that could cause tidal (seismic) waves thousands of miles away and lift the city of Houston, Tex., five inches in the air is not measurable in terms that have any real meaning to us.

In the face of such power acting over such a vast area, the fact that the death and injury toll was as low as it was is all the more amazing. As for the economis loss, it will be many weeks before that can be fully assessed.

Fortunately, it is not man's nature to dwell on his own puniness compared to the cosmos. We take note of our insignificance; we mourn our dead; then we set about to rebuild our shattered cities and lives.

In this effort, the gallant people of Alaska are fortified with the knowledge that the resources of and strength of the entire nation, as well as the hopes of the rest of the world, are behind them.

It would take more than an earthquake to break these human bonds.

PRIVATE DEVELOPMENT

Under Secretary of State George Ball served a large helping of cold turkey to the representatives of underveloped nations in his recent address. He suggested that instead of always looking outward for gift capital they should realize that development lies mostly within a nation's own control.

This was not said in prepartion for the abandonment of foreign aid. Though it is becoming more difficult to get appropriations from Congress, low cost development capital should be forthcoming for many years yet. However, recipient nations might well renew their use of other sources of money.

One of these would be the too often shunned supply of private capital. In less than a decade, movement of capital to underyeloped nations has fallen from 43 per cent of the total flow to 29 per cent of all U. S. capital exported. Some of this diminution arises from discrimination against accepting private investment.

Countries reluctant to accept private monies should be reminded of history. In the past, much that has been done for have-not nations can be attributed to the use of risk capital. The United States, for one, founded the greatest industrial plant ever known on the basis of private capital brought in from overseas.

Though it may be old-fashioned to say so, incentive to profit is still the strongest force motivating economic progress. As Ball suggests, reintroduction of this sentiment into the economies of some have-not nations would not hurt a bit.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

GOLDWATER FOR "VEEP"?

There is an odd switch in the under-the-surface politicking of the Republicans: "moderates" who were pummelling Barry Goldwater just yesterday are now touting him — for Vice President. Some of them say the ticket will be Nixon-Goldwater; others that it will be Scranton-Goldwater.

On the face of it, this sort of punditing makes sense, for it is obvious that Goldwater will go to San Francisco with a hefty number of delegates who, in case they can't put their man over, will have to be pacified in order to hold the GOP together in November. But a little investigation among Goldwater supporters raises some questions about the soundness of the plan. Many of them would consider settling for second place an unbearable defeat.

The trouble with the "balanced ticket" type of thinking, they say, is that 1964 is not an ordinary year. Certainly the Goldwater supporters cannot be counted on to act as a group in an ordinary way. In practically every state the Goldwaterites are divided into two major factions that have reached a purely temporary truce. Some of them are Republicans who happen to be for Barry. Others are conservatives who couldn't care less about the Republican Party if it should go for a liberal candidate. The psychology of 1964 takes one back to 1912, when large numbers of Republicans were for Teddy Roosevelt first and for the party only on condition that it dump William Howard Taft in favor of Bull Moose-ism.

This is not to say that Barry Goldwater, who is himself a Republican first and last, would follow T. R.'s example and take off into any Third Party wilderness. Indeed, as a good party man, he might conceivably be prevailed upon to run for the Vice Presidency provided he were satisfied with the platform and with the Republican choice for President. But Goldwater, though he is enormously popular as a man, wields most of his power because he is a symbol. The moment he ceases to identify himself with what he symbolizes, his support will tend to wither at the edges. The question is whether he could still remain a symbol as a "veep."

In most Presidential years political parties can afford to make their appeals as catch-alls, with a little of this for the liberals, a little of that for the conservatives, and something else again in various proportions for the regions. In such years personal popularity will be decisive. Nobody knew what Eisenhower thought about a lot of things in 1952 — but he was popular, so no matter. The same was true of Kennedy in 1960.

The drive from the grassroots in 1964 as it affects Goldwater, however, is for a polarization of the parties. This is something that is outside the ken of the old-fashioned political pro. The pro prefers the type of voter that can be counted on to be in his pocket no matter what candidate he may have to settle for in the end. He may be for Goldwater, or he may be for Rockefeller or for Lodge, but if he has to make a last-minute trade or accommodation, he likes to think he can carry his followers with him.

This year, however, the Republican pros can count on nothing. In my home state of Connecticut the Republican party stalwarts are currently caught up in a squabble for control between the Searle Pinney men and the Eddie May men. But the Goldwater Clubs in the state have no interest in the fight unless it can be shown that it has some bearing on their own interest, which is to spread Goldwater's philosophy. In New York the Conservative Party long ago served notice that it would not support a Republican liberal; in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Colorado, where favorite sons have varying claims to delegate control, there are fervent believers in the Goldwater philosophy who would run a mile before voting to put Governor Rhodes or Governor Scranton or Senator Allott in the White House.

The pros may have their way this year at the conventions. But in November the amateurs will settle the issue. They will do it by voting or by not voting, as the choice seems indicated.

The DOCTOR SAYS

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many persons have what appears to be appendicitis on the left side. This is not really appendicitis. It is diverticulitis.

A diverticulum is an outpouching about the size of a large pea. It may occur anywhere in the digestive tract, but is most common in the large bowel. Diverticula are more prevalent in persons who are over 40, and they increase in number with age. Thus many persons in their early 60s may have literally hundreds of them.

This is called diverticulosis, and is commonly seen on an X-ray examination of the colon. Fortunately, unless a diverticulum becomes inflamed, you don't know it's there.

Once it is inflamed, however, you have diverticulitis. As the proportions of persons reaching 60 and over is increasing so is diverticulitis. Anything that irritates the colon or anything that prevents the emptying of a diverticulum may cause diverticulitis and the symptoms are similar to those of appendicitis in every respect — except that the pain frequently occurs on the left side.

There may be nausea and vomiting and there is always soreness in the region of the trouble. The pain is aggravated by jouncing and by moving the bowels. If a person has this disease, the treatment first tried consists of bed rest, a bland diet and antibiotics. With this treatment an acute attack usually clears up in a few days.

Routine use of enemas, strong purgatives and such food as corn, nuts, and raw unpeeled vegetables and fruit must be avoided because they irritate the bowel and may cause a recurrence. After a series of recurrences, a victim will develop chronic diverticulitis.

This is more difficult to treat. When it occurs, an operation may be necessary to prevent serious complications. Just as with an inflamed appendix, an inflamed diverticulum may rupture and cause peritonitis.

There is also some danger of hemorrhage from the inflamed area. An operation to remove this portion of the bowel often solves the problem. Yet, because of the large number of diverticula usually present, no attempt can be made to remove them all. Therefore, after the operation it is necessary to remain on a bland diet to prevent inflamation from developing in the diverticula that remain. A mild laxative or stool softener may be required to prevent the formation of hard stools.

Diverticulosis and diverticulitis are not cancerous, but they occur in an age group and in an anatomical location where cancer is common. For that reason your doctor must always be alert for signs of cancer in a person with diverticulitis.

"That's an Unfriendly Act!"

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — "The principals in this thing (President Lyndon B. Johnson and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy) are behaving like complete professionals.

"It's the camp followers who are causing the trouble."

Thus spoke one official who now has strong ties to both men.

The matter of the relations between the two has become the subject of some of the most bizaare speculation to arise in this capital in many years.

The rumors simply will not die. They not only have Bob Kennedy continuing to promote himself for the 1964 vice presidential nomination but fostering a pro-Kennedy, anti-Johnson cell in the White House as well.

To seasoned, top echelon administration men who insist they have a good political gauge on both men, these reports are sheer nonsense.

In fact, they regard as akin almost to insanity the notion that a man of Kennedy's acknowledged political acumen — or anyone else—would try to pressure Johnson heavily on the vice presidency or any major question.

"You just don't issue ultimatums to the President of the United States," was a summary comment.

SIMILARLY, THESE SOURCES INDICATE that the top bracket White House holdovers from the John F. Kennedy regime are giving the new President their total loyalty. Says one such man:

"Some of us offered him a continuing commitment. We gave him our word. We would not be worth much as men if we went back on it.

Another holdover found the idea of a "Kennedy cell" preposterous:

"We're not here serving just some rival politician. We are working for the President."

IT IS FELT THAT JOHNSON would be less than human if he did not suffer some twinges of doubt as a result of the incredible welter of rumor and suspicion that engulfs Washington. No one forgets the prenomination bitterness of 1960.

But the President is viewed by key Kennedy holdovers as a tough realist who will make the vice presidential choice this August with the same cool judgment John Kennedy exercised in picking Johnson.

The belief is that neither the President nor the attorney general will allow rumor-mongering camp followers to poison the waters seriously.

If Johnson thinks Kennedy the best choice, a leading Democrat says, he will name him — even though the two may never indulge in a public love feast.

"The list the President will choose from will be small," this source adds. "Inevitably, however, Bobby will be on it."

NOT, THIS MAN SUGGESTS, because Kennedy will be pushing for the job, but because he, like all the surviving Kennedys is the beneficiary of a truly astonishing popular ground swell of interest and open affection. Where a Kennedy walks today, there go crowds.

"This is something that may be uncontrollable," the Democrat says: "It could present the President with a unique situation when the time for his choice comes."

Example of the ground swell's force: United Auto Workers' President Walter Reuther barely was able to "put the cap" on the union's explosive urge to endorse Bob Kennedy for vice president.

If the great tide rises higher, obviously rumor will go on tracing its source to tremors generated in the attorney general's office. The sober correctives offered by hard-eyed Kennedy and Johnson professionals may never quite catch up.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

April 2, 1944 — More than 200 tons of waste paper were reported collected in the county, not including the city total.

The newly organized Ulster Hose Company No. 5 met to advance its plans.

Police were investigating the theft of cash from the White Pig, a refreshment stand near the Broadway crossing.

Scranton's Prospects And Time of Decision

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Throughout the country, in Republican political circles, there is a general expectation that Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania will make in the next few days an announcement which will be construed as encouraging his supporters to become active in obtaining for him the Republican Presidential nomination at the convention in July.

The Pennsylvania Governor has been under pressure from his friends to make an unequivocal statement — telling clearly his intentions. This is because of widespread comment among professional politicians that Gov. Scranton cannot afford to remain silent any longer if he really wants the nomination.

Naturally, the admirers of Gov. Scranton think he would make a good candidate, and the mention of the availability of Mr. Scranton has indeed evoked a good deal of comment in political circles and in the press. But the fact remans that Mr. Scranton is relatively unknown. His views on public policies, especially current issues, have not been disclosed in any detail, nor is there any general familiarity with his qualifications to be President.

One professional poiltician on the Republican side sized up, for this correspondent, the situation as being largely related to seven big states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and California. He says the Republicans must win in four of these and that the Republican candidate is most likely going to be the man who can carry at least four of the seven. Ohio and Illinois are believed to be leaning strongly in the Republican direction. New York is a state considered by many Republicans to be in the doubtful class. So the question finally resolves itself into who has the best chance to carry Pennsylvania, California, Michigan and New Jersey. This is where Gov. Scranton comes under consideration, because he is known in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The California primaries on June 2 will, of course, have an important bearing on the whole Republican contest. If Sen. Goldwater of Arizona, for example, carries the California primaries, he will continue among the front runners. Many poiltician are saying privately, on the other hand, that even if Gov. Rockefeller were to win in California, he would not be able to get a majority in the convention. There seems to be a sentiment among some of the professionals who are not identified with any of the various candidates that the New York Governor will not be able to win the nomination largely because of the feeling inside the party that the resentment among women voters over his divorce and remarriage would constitute too big an obstacle in the November election.

The two men who may eventually emerge as the candidates are former Vice-President Nixon and Gov. Scranton. This is one reason why it is being openly stated by many politicians that, if Gov. Scranton doesn't do something soon, the big prize will fall into Mr. Nixon's lap without much effort.

But one of the most interesting aspects of the Republican race is the talk that is going around about the impact of the Democratic Vice-Presidential nomination on the Republican chances of winning the election. It is frequently stated, for instance, by some of the professional politicians that, if Attorney General Kennedy is nominated for the Vice-Presidency on the Democratic ticket, President Johnson will not be able to carry the South, and he may lose strength in many of the Northern states. Although the civil rights bill has been widely advertised as popular in the North, there are signs that a good many of the voters there have been antagonized by it. As far as the South is concerned, the suggestion that the Attorney General might be rewarded with the Vice-Presidency for his recent efforts to enforce civil rights is one that gives many Southerners pause.

The practical politicians say that President Johnson is going to have to make the big decision, and, being a realist, he may conclude that, with the help of the Democratic Senators and Representatives and the state organizations, he can carry the South anyhow and will need Bobby Kennedy to help win some of the populous states of the North. Republicans say, if this happens, the race will be closer than it might be if Sen. Humphrey, for example, were the Democratic nominee for Vice-President.

The supporters of Mr. Nixon are convinced that, in the final analysis, he will go to the convention with more strength than appears on the surface. The important argument on the Nixon side is that he was for eight years Vice-President of the United States and that he lost in 1960 by a narrow margin.

To counter this, proponents of other candidates declare that the country is not interested in the past, but in new faces. The big question is, however, how familiar will they be with the various candidates by convention time. If Gov. Scranton announces his candidacy soon and makes a few speeches, the voters will at least have several weeks in which to become familiar with the Pennsylvania Governor and decide whether the new face is satisfactory.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

In the Thursday evening, March 26 column there was mention of captains of the Hudson River Dayline, which several readers have already told me was interesting. Mrs. Henry B. Briggs, wife of Captain Briggs had told me the last Dayline boat had made a trip to Kingston in October, 1948, which question had been asked sometime ago, by some men who work in the brick yards and remember the Dayliners well. Mrs. Briggs also told me about the trips she took and sat at the Captain's table which was mentioned in a previous column. Her sister was married to Captain Magee, of the De Witt Clinton, Dayline boat.

I was just comparing the customs of the sea and river with Captain Andrew Hickey, (U.S. Navy retired) author of book on History of Kingston. On the big ocean liners the passenger list is checked for every trip, so that the important persons aboard can be invited to sit at the captain's table. He also said on meeting other boats at sea, it is the custom to dip the colors to each other. The captain's responsibility and place is at the bridge, but of course he takes turns with other officers. One can see lights at night some five miles away from the bridge, but there is always someone some 120 feet above that, in the crow's nest, who can see lights in all directions some 18 to 20 miles at night.

Presently the mail is a little ahead of me, so I hope my readers have patience. An item I received from C. H. Greene of Fleischmanns, N. Y. on the Delhi-Rondout stage line 1862-1870 as written up in the Catskill Mt. News of August 15, 1963 is interesting, as it describes a prominent family stopping at the Mansion House in Rondout. Rev. James Bruce, father of the former Lieutenant-Governor M. Linn Bruce and of Rev. David Bruce stayed over night at the Mansion House.

The author of the items describes the trip of the prominent Bruce family, in one of the stages coaches of Cornelius Winne, which consisted of father, mother, and three children. They left the Mansion House at 6 o'clock in the morning, and had dinner en route, at Peter Crispell's hotel at Shandaken. The cost for the entire family was $1.35. They arrived at Andes at 6 o'clock that evening, by the four horse Concord coach. Mrs. Bruce was greatly fatigued by the rock and roll of the coach. They say that the last stage coach for Delhi left Kingston May 28, 1870. Its driver was Stewart Chase, son of George E. Chase, who drove the first coach in 1839. In June of 1870, the stage left Delhi at 7 a. m. and connected with the train at Phoenicia. By September 1871 the connection was made at Dean's Corners (Arkville) the stage left Delhi at 8 a. m. the fare being $4.00 from Delhi to New York by stage and railroad.

It seems this item was written for the 100th anniversary edition of the Town of Middletown, N.Y. They also added that Wheeler W. Clark continued to operate the stage from Delhi to Arkville until July 1, 1877 and kept a four horse Concord coach on the road up to that time. In 1874 a handsome pair of roan leaders, were much admired, and so the route of the early stage-coaches went into the 20th century with very little change. The road was rebuilt with gravel, and later paved."

I wonder if this Bruce family were related to Wallace Bruce who compiled a wonderful little book called The Hudson — three centuries of history, romance and invention. It was a centennial edition published in 1907. No doubt many of my readers have this little book with pictures and colored maps.

A SEARCHING QUESTION

Brief reflection on the fundamentally searching question, "Am I my brother's keeper" suggests the extent to which this query, and the manifold answers made to it, pervade and influence human society.

Consider an appalling recent occurrence in New York City. A woman was stabbed at night by a man who attacked her in the street three separate times—being frightened off twice—before she died. The victim's cries aroused 38 persons in the area, some of whom actually witnessed the stabbing as they peered from their apartment windows. Yet only one of the 38 finally called police—and then it was too late.

What of the others who did not feel themselves to be their brother's keeper, even to the extent of alerting the police? Most of them, when questioned, said they "didn't want to get involved."

This is an extreme case, granted—although it can be noted, as an aside, that a tendency to shy away from reporting crimes is not uncommon. The episode does serve to point up the reluctance of many people to involve themselves in the agony of others less fortunate.

It is not our function, or our desire, to point an accusatory finger at any citizen. But there is reason to suppose that many of us, perhaps most of us, would do well to ponder the implications of that ancient question, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

SPIRIT IS UNSHAKEN

The earth we consider so firm, into which we bore our deep mines and sink the fundations for our towering buildings, is but the merest outer skin of the huge globe.

We are told that the massive adjustment of the crust which shook Alaska released more energy than all the nuclear bombs ever exploded. Actually, an event that could cause tidal (seismic) waves thousands of miles away and lift the city of Houston, Tex., five inches in the air is not measurable in terms that have any real meaning to us.

In the face of such power acting over such a vast area, the fact that the death and injury toll was as low as it was is all the more amazing. As for the economis loss, it will be many weeks before that can be fully assessed.

Fortunately, it is not man's nature to dwell on his own puniness compared to the cosmos. We take note of our insignificance; we mourn our dead; then we set about to rebuild our shattered cities and lives.

In this effort, the gallant people of Alaska are fortified with the knowledge that the resources of and strength of the entire nation, as well as the hopes of the rest of the world, are behind them.

It would take more than an earthquake to break these human bonds.

PRIVATE DEVELOPMENT

Under Secretary of State George Ball served a large helping of cold turkey to the representatives of underveloped nations in his recent address. He suggested that instead of always looking outward for gift capital they should realize that development lies mostly within a nation's own control.

This was not said in prepartion for the abandonment of foreign aid. Though it is becoming more difficult to get appropriations from Congress, low cost development capital should be forthcoming for many years yet. However, recipient nations might well renew their use of other sources of money.

One of these would be the too often shunned supply of private capital. In less than a decade, movement of capital to underyeloped nations has fallen from 43 per cent of the total flow to 29 per cent of all U. S. capital exported. Some of this diminution arises from discrimination against accepting private investment.

Countries reluctant to accept private monies should be reminded of history. In the past, much that has been done for have-not nations can be attributed to the use of risk capital. The United States, for one, founded the greatest industrial plant ever known on the basis of private capital brought in from overseas.

Though it may be old-fashioned to say so, incentive to profit is still the strongest force motivating economic progress. As Ball suggests, reintroduction of this sentiment into the economies of some have-not nations would not hurt a bit.

GOLDWATER FOR "VEEP"?

There is an odd switch in the under-the-surface politicking of the Republicans: "moderates" who were pummelling Barry Goldwater just yesterday are now touting him — for Vice President. Some of them say the ticket will be Nixon-Goldwater; others that it will be Scranton-Goldwater.

On the face of it, this sort of punditing makes sense, for it is obvious that Goldwater will go to San Francisco with a hefty number of delegates who, in case they can't put their man over, will have to be pacified in order to hold the GOP together in November. But a little investigation among Goldwater supporters raises some questions about the soundness of the plan. Many of them would consider settling for second place an unbearable defeat.

The trouble with the "balanced ticket" type of thinking, they say, is that 1964 is not an ordinary year. Certainly the Goldwater supporters cannot be counted on to act as a group in an ordinary way. In practically every state the Goldwaterites are divided into two major factions that have reached a purely temporary truce. Some of them are Republicans who happen to be for Barry. Others are conservatives who couldn't care less about the Republican Party if it should go for a liberal candidate. The psychology of 1964 takes one back to 1912, when large numbers of Republicans were for Teddy Roosevelt first and for the party only on condition that it dump William Howard Taft in favor of Bull Moose-ism.

This is not to say that Barry Goldwater, who is himself a Republican first and last, would follow T. R.'s example and take off into any Third Party wilderness. Indeed, as a good party man, he might conceivably be prevailed upon to run for the Vice Presidency provided he were satisfied with the platform and with the Republican choice for President. But Goldwater, though he is enormously popular as a man, wields most of his power because he is a symbol. The moment he ceases to identify himself with what he symbolizes, his support will tend to wither at the edges. The question is whether he could still remain a symbol as a "veep."

In most Presidential years political parties can afford to make their appeals as catch-alls, with a little of this for the liberals, a little of that for the conservatives, and something else again in various proportions for the regions. In such years personal popularity will be decisive. Nobody knew what Eisenhower thought about a lot of things in 1952 — but he was popular, so no matter. The same was true of Kennedy in 1960.

The drive from the grassroots in 1964 as it affects Goldwater, however, is for a polarization of the parties. This is something that is outside the ken of the old-fashioned political pro. The pro prefers the type of voter that can be counted on to be in his pocket no matter what candidate he may have to settle for in the end. He may be for Goldwater, or he may be for Rockefeller or for Lodge, but if he has to make a last-minute trade or accommodation, he likes to think he can carry his followers with him.

This year, however, the Republican pros can count on nothing. In my home state of Connecticut the Republican party stalwarts are currently caught up in a squabble for control between the Searle Pinney men and the Eddie May men. But the Goldwater Clubs in the state have no interest in the fight unless it can be shown that it has some bearing on their own interest, which is to spread Goldwater's philosophy. In New York the Conservative Party long ago served notice that it would not support a Republican liberal; in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Colorado, where favorite sons have varying claims to delegate control, there are fervent believers in the Goldwater philosophy who would run a mile before voting to put Governor Rhodes or Governor Scranton or Senator Allott in the White House.

The pros may have their way this year at the conventions. But in November the amateurs will settle the issue. They will do it by voting or by not voting, as the choice seems indicated.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many persons have what appears to be appendicitis on the left side. This is not really appendicitis. It is diverticulitis.

A diverticulum is an outpouching about the size of a large pea. It may occur anywhere in the digestive tract, but is most common in the large bowel. Diverticula are more prevalent in persons who are over 40, and they increase in number with age. Thus many persons in their early 60s may have literally hundreds of them.

This is called diverticulosis, and is commonly seen on an X-ray examination of the colon. Fortunately, unless a diverticulum becomes inflamed, you don't know it's there.

Once it is inflamed, however, you have diverticulitis. As the proportions of persons reaching 60 and over is increasing so is diverticulitis. Anything that irritates the colon or anything that prevents the emptying of a diverticulum may cause diverticulitis and the symptoms are similar to those of appendicitis in every respect — except that the pain frequently occurs on the left side.

There may be nausea and vomiting and there is always soreness in the region of the trouble. The pain is aggravated by jouncing and by moving the bowels. If a person has this disease, the treatment first tried consists of bed rest, a bland diet and antibiotics. With this treatment an acute attack usually clears up in a few days.

Routine use of enemas, strong purgatives and such food as corn, nuts, and raw unpeeled vegetables and fruit must be avoided because they irritate the bowel and may cause a recurrence. After a series of recurrences, a victim will develop chronic diverticulitis.

This is more difficult to treat. When it occurs, an operation may be necessary to prevent serious complications. Just as with an inflamed appendix, an inflamed diverticulum may rupture and cause peritonitis.

There is also some danger of hemorrhage from the inflamed area. An operation to remove this portion of the bowel often solves the problem. Yet, because of the large number of diverticula usually present, no attempt can be made to remove them all. Therefore, after the operation it is necessary to remain on a bland diet to prevent inflamation from developing in the diverticula that remain. A mild laxative or stool softener may be required to prevent the formation of hard stools.

Diverticulosis and diverticulitis are not cancerous, but they occur in an age group and in an anatomical location where cancer is common. For that reason your doctor must always be alert for signs of cancer in a person with diverticulitis.

"That's an Unfriendly Act!"

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — "The principals in this thing (President Lyndon B. Johnson and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy) are behaving like complete professionals.

"It's the camp followers who are causing the trouble."

Thus spoke one official who now has strong ties to both men.

The matter of the relations between the two has become the subject of some of the most bizaare speculation to arise in this capital in many years.

The rumors simply will not die. They not only have Bob Kennedy continuing to promote himself for the 1964 vice presidential nomination but fostering a pro-Kennedy, anti-Johnson cell in the White House as well.

To seasoned, top echelon administration men who insist they have a good political gauge on both men, these reports are sheer nonsense.

In fact, they regard as akin almost to insanity the notion that a man of Kennedy's acknowledged political acumen — or anyone else—would try to pressure Johnson heavily on the vice presidency or any major question.

"You just don't issue ultimatums to the President of the United States," was a summary comment.

SIMILARLY, THESE SOURCES INDICATE that the top bracket White House holdovers from the John F. Kennedy regime are giving the new President their total loyalty. Says one such man:

"Some of us offered him a continuing commitment. We gave him our word. We would not be worth much as men if we went back on it.

Another holdover found the idea of a "Kennedy cell" preposterous:

"We're not here serving just some rival politician. We are working for the President."

IT IS FELT THAT JOHNSON would be less than human if he did not suffer some twinges of doubt as a result of the incredible welter of rumor and suspicion that engulfs Washington. No one forgets the prenomination bitterness of 1960.

But the President is viewed by key Kennedy holdovers as a tough realist who will make the vice presidential choice this August with the same cool judgment John Kennedy exercised in picking Johnson.

The belief is that neither the President nor the attorney general will allow rumor-mongering camp followers to poison the waters seriously.

If Johnson thinks Kennedy the best choice, a leading Democrat says, he will name him — even though the two may never indulge in a public love feast.

"The list the President will choose from will be small," this source adds. "Inevitably, however, Bobby will be on it."

NOT, THIS MAN SUGGESTS, because Kennedy will be pushing for the job, but because he, like all the surviving Kennedys is the beneficiary of a truly astonishing popular ground swell of interest and open affection. Where a Kennedy walks today, there go crowds.

"This is something that may be uncontrollable," the Democrat says: "It could present the President with a unique situation when the time for his choice comes."

Example of the ground swell's force: United Auto Workers' President Walter Reuther barely was able to "put the cap" on the union's explosive urge to endorse Bob Kennedy for vice president.

If the great tide rises higher, obviously rumor will go on tracing its source to tremors generated in the attorney general's office. The sober correctives offered by hard-eyed Kennedy and Johnson professionals may never quite catch up.

Scranton's Prospects And Time of Decision

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Throughout the country, in Republican political circles, there is a general expectation that Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania will make in the next few days an announcement which will be construed as encouraging his supporters to become active in obtaining for him the Republican Presidential nomination at the convention in July.

The Pennsylvania Governor has been under pressure from his friends to make an unequivocal statement — telling clearly his intentions. This is because of widespread comment among professional politicians that Gov. Scranton cannot afford to remain silent any longer if he really wants the nomination.

Naturally, the admirers of Gov. Scranton think he would make a good candidate, and the mention of the availability of Mr. Scranton has indeed evoked a good deal of comment in political circles and in the press. But the fact remans that Mr. Scranton is relatively unknown. His views on public policies, especially current issues, have not been disclosed in any detail, nor is there any general familiarity with his qualifications to be President.

One professional poiltician on the Republican side sized up, for this correspondent, the situation as being largely related to seven big states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and California. He says the Republicans must win in four of these and that the Republican candidate is most likely going to be the man who can carry at least four of the seven. Ohio and Illinois are believed to be leaning strongly in the Republican direction. New York is a state considered by many Republicans to be in the doubtful class. So the question finally resolves itself into who has the best chance to carry Pennsylvania, California, Michigan and New Jersey. This is where Gov. Scranton comes under consideration, because he is known in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The California primaries on June 2 will, of course, have an important bearing on the whole Republican contest. If Sen. Goldwater of Arizona, for example, carries the California primaries, he will continue among the front runners. Many politicians are saying privately, on the other hand, that even if Gov. Rockefeller were to win in California, he would not be able to get a majority in the convention. There seems to be a sentiment among some of the professionals who are not identified with any of the various candidates that the New York Governor will not be able to win the nomination largely because of the feeling inside the party that the resentment among women voters over his divorce and remarriage would constitute too big an obstacle in the November election.

The two men who may eventually emerge as the candidates are former Vice-President Nixon and Gov. Scranton. This is one reason why it is being openly stated by many politicians that, if Gov. Scranton doesn't do something soon, the big prize will fall into Mr. Nixon's lap without much effort.

But one of the most interesting aspects of the Republican race is the talk that is going around about the impact of the Democratic Vice-Presidential nomination on the Republican chances of winning the election. It is frequently stated, for instance, by some of the professional politicians that, if Attorney General Kennedy is nominated for the Vice-Presidency on the Democratic ticket, President Johnson will not be able to carry the South, and he may lose strength in many of the Northern states. Although the civil rights bill has been widely advertised as popular in the North, there are signs that a good many of the voters there have been antagonized by it. As far as the South is concerned, the suggestion that the Attorney General might be rewarded with the Vice-Presidency for his recent efforts to enforce civil rights is one that gives many Southerners pause.

The practical politicians say that President Johnson is going to have to make the big decision, and, being a realist, he may conclude that, with the help of the Democratic Senators and Representatives and the state organizations, he can carry the South anyhow and will need Bobby Kennedy to help win some of the populous states of the North. Republicans say, if this happens, the race will be closer than it might be if Sen. Humphrey, for example, were the Democratic nominee for Vice-President.

The supporters of Mr. Nixon are convinced that, in the final analysis, he will go to the convention with more strength than appears on the surface. The important argument on the Nixon side is that he was for eight years Vice-President of the United States and that he lost in 1960 by a narrow margin.

To counter this, proponents of other candidates declare that the country is not interested in the past, but in new faces. The big question is, however, how familiar will they be with the various candidates by convention time. If Gov. Scranton announces his candidacy soon and makes a few speeches, the voters will at least have several weeks in which to become familiar with the Pennsylvania Governor and decide whether the new face is satisfactory.

Needs Good Legislation Passed

Tying Up Johnson Programs Aim for Compromise on CR

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like putting a firecracker under President Johnson's chair.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Johnson's successor as Democratic majority leader of the Senate, calmly told reporters:

The Senate, because of the Southern Democrats' filibustering opposition, may not be able to finish the civil rights fight until next fall.

The fight on the civil rights bill began a couple of weeks ago, droned along, and then got seriously started this week.

Easy-Going Fellow

Mansfield, unlike Johnson, is a relaxed and easy-going man whose attitude on filibusters, including this one, seems to be: "Oh, let the boys talk."

But Johnson has a lot of programs hanging in Congress, from foreign aid to war on poverty.

Some of them could get jammed, hashed and massacred if a long civil rights fight delayed action on them till the last minute.

Needs Good Legislation

But he will need some positive accomplishments to campaign on, like a lot of good legislation passed.

Without that, he will be just a man who made big promises but couldn't produce.

He won't be the only sufferer if Congress is still in session next fall. All 435 House seats are at stake.

So the members of Congress will need time next fall to campaign for re-election.

One way to speed up action on civil rights, if that's possible, is to keep the Senate in round-the-clock session for weeks until the filibusterers wear themselves out.

But in the process the pro-civil rights senators, and even the indifferent ones, will wind up worn out, too, and that could be dangerous for some in the upper-age bracket.

Mansfield wants no part of such a survival contest. He wants everything, as usual, done in a kind of gentlemanly way.

A Guess How He Feels

Johnson hasn't expressed himself on Mansfield's latest statement but it can be guessed how he feels for a couple of reasons:

1. He was a hard-driver himself. He didn't let the fight go on for endless months when he was steering two civil rights bills through the Senate in 1957 and 1960, the only two to get through in this century.

2. Now he has an even bigger stake in the outcome than when he was majority leader. The civil rights program is his administration's program. He endorsed it, said he wants it, and needs it to point to.

Pressure Time

Right here is where the Southern strategy may be most effective in putting pressure on Johnson to make compromises on the civil rights bill, since he has more than civil rights to worry about.

This, of course, was the Southern strategy from the beginning but Mansfield's statement should give their chances a boost.

There's another side to this: The longer they tie up Johnson's other programs, the more excuse they give him to compromise on civil rights.

But if he does compromise, on any kind of excuse, he will be on the spot anyway since Negroes and white supporters of civil rights will be watching to see who yields an inch.

Donohue Faces Trooper Hearing On CSEA Remark

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Police Trooper John H. Donohue must undergo a departmental hearing on charges that he criticized his superiors publicly, a judge has ruled.

The charges against Donohue, stationed at Troop K, Hawthorne, grew out of remarks he made at a Civil Service Employes' Association meeting in New York City last October.

Donohue was accused of failing to obey an oral order from a superior officer during a State Police investigation of his allegations at the meeting.

Justice John H. Pennock of Albany County Supreme Court Wednesday denied a motion for dismissal of the departmental charges against the trooper.

Donohue previously had won, with the support of the Civil Service Employes' Association, a court action that forced major revisions in a State Police promotional examination.

Is Unlawful Now Not to Give Work Because of Sex

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — From now on it will be unlawful in New York State to refuse to hire a woman simply because she is a woman.

Gov. Rockefeller's office announced his approval of a bill that makes it a state policy to prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex.

It was among a group of about 100 bills that Rockefeller signed last Sunday.

Since then, Rockefeller's office has been announcing in piecemeal fashion his action on the measures.

The employment bill was sponsored by two Republicans, Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard of East Rochester and Sen. Thomas Laverne of Rochester.

It was prompted by a ruling of the Rochester Real Estate Board barring employment of married women as real estate agents. The rule did not apply to unmarried women or widows.

The New York State Chapter of the Association of University Women asked Goddard and Laverne to do something about it the prohibition. They responded with their bill.

Rockefeller offered no comment in approving it.

Another bill signed by Rockefeller increases the salary of the State Power Authority's chairman, James A. FitzPatrick of Plattsburgh, from $10,000 to $15,000 a year.

The other four trustees of the authority will continue to draw $10,000 a year.

83rd Div. Seeking 30,000 Ex-Members

The 83rd Infantry Division Association, Inc., of World War II, planning its 18th annual conclave this summer, is seeking 30,000 former members.

This year's meeting is scheduled Aug. 20-21-22 at the Hotel Sheraton Biltmore in Providence, R. I.

The famed Thunderbolt Division of World War II, is seeking the 30,000 men on the division roster who have not been contacted since the end of the war.

Former members of the division are requested to contact Harry Lockwood, national secretary, 43 Oakland Avenue, Jersey City 6, N. J.

Msgr. Leduc Dies, Former Chaplain Of State Legion

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Paul A. Leduc, pastor of St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church for nearly 23 years, died Wednesday at his parish's rectory. He was 74.

Father Leduc had been ailing.

He was ordained in September 1915 and assigned to St. Joseph's Church, Cohoes. He served as a chaplain in the U.S. Navy during World War I and returned to St. Joseph's after military service. In 1923 he was named pastor at St. Jean Baptiste Church, Troy, and remained there until he transferred to Glens Falls in July 1941.

He was past chaplain for the New York State Department of the American Legion and past state grand master of the Legion's 40 & 8 division.

Father Leduc, a Cohoes native, was graduated from Assumption College and the Montreal Seminary of Philosophy and Theology.

Locked in Quiet Albany Struggle

Carlino, Mahoney Rivals For 'Legislature Boss'

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney are engaged in a quiet struggle to determine who is the real "boss" of the Legislature.

The Republican chieftains' intense rivalry, long a subject of gossip along Capitol corridors, achieved a fine edge behind the scenes of the recent legislative session.

Look for Encore

Observers look for an encore performance at the April 15 special session Gov. Rockefeller has called to act on his liquor-reform program.

Until this year, despite an occasional thrust from Carlino, Mahoney reigned as the acknowledged "strong man" of the Legislature.

Mahoney earned this sobriquet, which he obviously enjoyed, not only by his skill in piloting leaky legislation through stormy seas but also by his fiercely independent picture. He was the man who would stand up to any governor, be he a Democrat, a Republican, a Dewey, a Harriman or a Rockefeller.

In recent months, however, increasing political troubles on his home front have forced the Buffalo lawmaker to be a bit more cautious. He needs Rockefeller's support in his feud with the Erie County GOP as much as the governor needs his help in the Legislature.

So Carlino jumped into the breach and began to play the role of independent operator. The first big issue was state aid for education.

Mahoney had joined in Rockefeller's pledge to hold the line on taxes. Carlino dissented but he allowed himself to be persuaded at a GOP leaders' meeting that it was not possible to increase school aid.

Sparked Revolt

A couple of days later, however, Carlino kicked over the traces and sparked a rank-and-file revolt that spread to Mahoney's Senate majority, apparently taking Mahoney by surprise.

As a result, Mahoney and Rockefeller were forced to consent to a plan that diverted budget cuts into extra school aid.

Carlino's victory touched off a rash of newspaper stories hailing him as the new dominant figure in the Legislature. Some even transferred the "strong man" tag to Carlino. Mahoney was not overjoyed.

And school aid wasn't the only swordspoint issue. There was, among others, the incident involving Rockefeller's request for repeal of the railroad full-crew laws.

Many Other Isues

Carlino knew Mahoney was embarrassed by the request because Mahoney has many rail workers in his district and will be counting on their support in his forthcoming primary fight. Yet, the speaker brought the repeal bill to the floor of the Assembly and declared he would take a vote if Mahoney would agree to do likewise.

Mahoney ducked the barbs as best he could, and it was not until adjournment day that Carlino sent the measure back to committee.

The battle over Rockefeller's liquor program evened the score, however.

Neither Mahoney nor Carlino wanted to be responsible for killing the liquor bills, so each stalled in hope the other house would act first. Mahoney finally made his move, but GOP senators rejected the program at a closed conference.

Carlino then proclaimed he would have the necessary votes for passage on adjournment day. But the bills were snowed under.

On adjournment night, an attack by Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki on Carlino for "inept leadership" found Mahoney in such a chipper mood that he could barely muster a frown for the required rebuttal.

Carlino's record, said Mahoney with a twinkle in his eyes, "speaks for itself."

Locked in Quiet Albany Struggle

Carlino, Mahoney Rivals For 'Legislature Boss'

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney are engaged in a quiet struggle to determine who is the real "boss" of the Legislature.

The Republican chieftains' intense rivalry, long a subject of gossip along Capitol corridors, achieved a fine edge behind the scenes of the recent legislative session.

Look for Encore

Observers look for an encore performance at the April 15 special session Gov. Rockefeller has called to act on his liquor-reform program.

Until this year, despite an occasional thrust from Carlino, Mahoney reigned as the acknowledged "strong man" of the Legislature.

Mahoney earned this sobriquet, which he obviously enjoyed, not only by his skill in piloting leaky legislation through stormy seas but also by his fiercely independent picture. He was the man who would stand up to any governor, be he a Democrat, a Republican, a Dewey, a Harriman or a Rockefeller.

In recent months, however, increasing political troubles on his home front have forced the Buffalo lawmaker to be a bit more cautious. He needs Rockefeller's support in his feud with the Erie County GOP as much as the governor needs his help in the Legislature.

So Carlino jumped into the breach and began to play the role of independent operator. The first big issue was state aid for education.

Mahoney had joined in Rockefeller's pledge to hold the line on taxes. Carlino dissented but he allowed himself to be persuaded at a GOP leaders' meeting that it was not possible to increase school aid.

Sparked Revolt

A couple of days later, however, Carlino kicked over the traces and sparked a rank-and-file revolt that spread to Mahoney's Senate majority, apparently taking Mahoney by surprise.

As a result, Mahoney and Rockefeller were forced to consent to a plan that diverted budget cuts into extra school aid.

Carlino's victory touched off a rash of newspaper stories hailing him as the new dominant figure in the Legislature. Some even transferred the "strong man" tag to Carlino. Mahoney was not overjoyed.

And school aid wasn't the only swordspoint issue. There was, among others, the incident involving Rockefeller's request for repeal of the railroad full-crew laws.

Many Other Isues

Carlino knew Mahoney was embarrassed by the request because Mahoney has many rail workers in his district and will be counting on their support in his forthcoming primary fight. Yet, the speaker brought the repeal bill to the floor of the Assembly and declared he would take a vote if Mahoney would agree to do likewise.

Mahoney ducked the barbs as best he could, and it was not until adjournment day that Carlino sent the measure back to committee.

The battle over Rockefeller's liquor program evened the score, however.

Neither Mahoney nor Carlino wanted to be responsible for killing the liquor bills, so each stalled in hope the other house would act first. Mahoney finally made his move, but GOP senators rejected the program at a closed conference.

Carlino then proclaimed he would have the necessary votes for passage on adjournment day. But the bills were snowed under.

On adjournment night, an attack by Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki on Carlino for "inept leadership" found Mahoney in such a chipper mood that he could barely muster a frown for the required rebuttal.

Carlino's record, said Mahoney with a twinkle in his eyes, "speaks for itself."

Mansfield Sees Fall Date Before Action on Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield raised the possibility today that the Senate may not act before fall on the civil rights bill.

Long Filibuster

The Montana senator told reporters he fears a southern filibuster may tie up the Senate through the presidential nominating conventions this summer. Republicans meet in San Francisco in July and Democrats in Atlantic City, N.J., in August.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we go through both conventions on this bill," Mansfield said. He added "that if this happens the Senate probably will recess briefly for the party meetings."

"I always anticipate the worst and hope for the best," Mansfield said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., who joined Mansfield at that point, said he hopes the Senate won't be tied up that long.

Humphrey, floor manager for the House-passed civil rights bill, said it is conceivable that the filibuster cannot be broken for months. But he added:

Must Buckle Down

"I am optimistic. I think we can get this bill passed in reasonable time if we just buckle down and work."

The Senate argument was centered for the time being on bill's voting rights sections which backers called a modest step toward winning the ballot for more Negroes in the south.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., gave this description of the section in a prepared speech, explaining that he personally "would prefer a more direct and positive approach to the problem."

"I would prefer, in fact, that postmasters or other local federal officials be made registrars whenever it is found that state or local election machinery is supporting voting discrimination."

Not Ready For Step

But he conceded that "at the moment, it appears that a majority of the Congress is not prepared to take this step."

Hart was to be joined by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., in a bipartisan presentation of the voting rights section, Title I of the House-passed bill.

Tuesday, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., delivered the only major speech on the bill, centering his attack on the voting rights section. He held the floor 6 hours and 25 minutes, longest stint in the 18 days of debate so far.

Thurmond assailed the provision which would make a sixth-grade education the basis for a presumption of literacy, denouncing this as an unconstitutional invasion of the rights of the states.

Thurmond said more than 100,000 Negroes are registered to vote in his state and that he knew of no discrimination.

Weeks of Debate

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., indicated he expected more weeks of debate before any floor action develops on the bill.

He discussed at a luncheon of GOP senators the dozen amendments he is advocating to the fair employment practices section of the measure, but said more such sessions would be needed over the next two weeks before he is ready to introduce them.

He said he was not seeking to "emasculate or water down" the section, only to assure it was not made unduly harassing to businessmen.

Esopus Legion To Observe Child Welfare Month

Joining with more than 16,000 American Legion posts throughout the nation, Town of Esopus Post No. 1298, will observe Child Welfare Month during April, Post Commander Frank A. Striegl announced today.

The local post will participate in the month-long observance with a major American Legion program in order to focus the attention of the community needs of children and youth.

The post was presented with a national citation last year by the American Legion for its outstanding child welfare activities in the Department of New York. Their sponsorship of Little League baseball, Explorer troop, Boys State, annual Mother Cabrini School picnic and outing, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, needy clothing and food programs are among those carried out by the post throughout the year.

"Since 1925, nearly $186 million has been spent by the Legion and its affiliated organizations for child welfare and related youth work," Commander Striegl reported. "Most of these expenditures have been made by local posts such as ours here in the Town of Esopus."

Funds expended by the American Legion represent only a part of its child welfare program effort. Of vital importance has been the Legion's endeavors to the revision or establishment of sound state and federal legislation concerned with the protection and care of children.

"Our rapidly advancing technology and the effects of continuing international tensions are creating increasingly complex problems for today's children," Commander Striegl said. "The American Legion's interest and objectives in the area of child welfare are a reflection of these problems."

At the present time, the Legion, through its posts, departments and national organizations, is concerned with the illegal use of "pep pills" by teenagers; the development of community facilities for the diagnosis, education and treatment of mentally handicapped children, and the creation of community programs aimed at reducing school dropouts and improving youth employment opportunities.

Child welfare chairman over the post 10 years is Past County Commander Edgar M. Maurer of Kingston, N. Y. who is also serving in the same capacity for the Ulster County American Legion.

A new radio telescope — believed to be the largest of its kind — has been built by the U. S. government in Puerto Rico's rugged limestone hill country. It will be operated by Cornell University.

Persuasive Blonde

Decides on Altar Over Film Career

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cheryl Holdridge had to make the decision: Universal Studio contract, or life as Mrs. Lance Reventlow. She chose the latter.

"Four months ago I would have jumped at the contract," she sighs, "but that was before Lance proposed. If I signed with the studio, I might be in the middle of a picture when we got married and there'd be no honeymoon.

Momentous Decision

"Lance likes to travel. Supposing I had to work and couldn't go with him. That wouldn't be right. I had to choose between my career and my personal life. Lance doesn't want me to quit acting, but it wouldn't be right for me to be tied to a studio."

Such a momentous decision came at age 19 for Cheryl, a sunshiny, snub-nosed blonde who used to be a Mouseketeer and now is engaged to one of America's almost eligible males. Reventlow, son of heiress Barbara Hutton, isn't quite ready for the altar. His marriage to flame-haired Jill St. John doesn't end under California law until November.

But he is thoroughly committed to another journey down the aisle, according to Cheryl.

She reports: "When we first started dating, Lance said he was never going to marry again. If he did, it would be before a justice of the peace, never in a church. He would never have a big wedding and he didn't want children. He called them rug-runners and curtain-crawlers.

Church and Children

"Now he's getting married, it'll be a big wedding in the Westwood Community church with a large reception at the Continental Hotel. And he wants four children."

And who is the persuasive blonde? She is the daughter of a retired Army general, born in New Orleans and reared in nearby Sherman Oaks. She started in films as an extra and dancer, then was tapped for Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse Club. Those were three and a half of the best years of her life.

Bush Receives Endorsement of Kingston Town

State Sen. E. Ogden Bush of Walton received the unanimous endorsement for renomination at a recent caucus of Town of Kingston Republican Committee and delegates were named for the unofficial Ulster County convention Saturday in Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

Delegates named are J. O'Keefe, L. Seaver and M. Reedy.

Town Republicans also gave a vote of confidence to Joseph Torraca for district attorney, Fred DuBois for county treasurer and the entire GOP slate.

The announcement of the endorsement was made this week by Committeemen Reedy and Joseph W. Quick, and Supervisor Douglas Dye.

Esopus Legion To Observe Child Welfare Month

Joining with more than 16,000 American Legion posts throughout the nation, Town of Esopus Post No. 1298, will observe Child Welfare Month during April, Post Commander Frank A. Striegl announced today.

The local post will participate in the month-long observance with a major American Legion program in order to focus the attention of the community needs of children and youth.

The post was presented with a national citation last year by the American Legion for its outstanding child welfare activities in the Department of New York. Their sponsorship of Little League baseball, Explorer troop, Boys State, annual Mother Cabrini School picnic and outing, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, needy clothing and food programs are among those carried out by the post throughout the year.

"Since 1925, nearly $186 million has been spent by the Legion and its affiliated organizations for child welfare and related youth work," Commander Striegl reported. "Most of these expenditures have been made by local posts such as ours here in the Town of Esopus."

Funds expended by the American Legion represent only a part of its child welfare program effort. Of vital importance has been the Legion's endeavors to the revision or establishment of sound state and federal legislation concerned with the protection and care of children.

"Our rapidly advancing technology and the effects of continuing international tensions are creating increasingly complex problems for today's children," Commander Striegl said. "The American Legion's interest and objectives in the area of child welfare are a reflection of these problems."

At the present time, the Legion, through its posts, departments and national organizations, is concerned with the illegal use of "pep pills" by teenagers; the development of community facilities for the diagnosis, education and treatment of mentally handicapped children, and the creation of community programs aimed at reducing school dropouts and improving youth employment opportunities.

Child welfare chairman over the post 10 years is Past County Commander Edgar M. Maurer of Kingston, N. Y. who is also serving in the same capacity for the Ulster County American Legion.

A new radio telescope — believed to be the largest of its kind — has been built by the U. S. government in Puerto Rico's rugged limestone hill country. It will be operated by Cornell University.

AID CP CENTER—Mrs. Price B. Lodge and Mrs. James E. Patrick, service committee chairmen of the Welcome Wagon Club present a pair of crutches and a pair of canes to Miss Phyllis Bulgatz for use of the Cerebral Palsy Center. Donation of these items which may be borrowed from the clinic for use at home, was made possible by a silent auction held last fall. The club's charitable program includes the Ulster County Infirmary as well as the CP Center. A bric-a-brac sale is planned for the May meeting and members plan to produce a cookbook as other means of raising funds to further the club's charitable aims. (Freeman photo)

Persuasive Blonde

Decides on Altar Over Film Career

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cheryl Holdridge had to make the decision: Universal Studio contract, or life as Mrs. Lance Reventlow. She chose the latter.

"Four months ago I would have jumped at the contract," she sighs, "but that was before Lance proposed. If I signed with the studio, I might be in the middle of a picture when we got married and there'd be no honeymoon.

Momentous Decision

"Lance likes to travel. Supposing I had to work and couldn't go with him. That wouldn't be right. I had to choose between my career and my personal life. Lance doesn't want me to quit acting, but it wouldn't be right for me to be tied to a studio."

Such a momentous decision came at age 19 for Cheryl, a sunshiny, snub-nosed blonde who used to be a Mouseketeer and now is engaged to one of America's almost eligible males. Reventlow, son of heiress Barbara Hutton, isn't quite ready for the altar. His marriage to flame-haired Jill St. John doesn't end under California law until November.

But he is thoroughly committed to another journey down the aisle, according to Cheryl.

She reports: "When we first started dating, Lance said he was never going to marry again. If he did, it would be before a justice of the peace, never in a church. He would never have a big wedding and he didn't want children. He called them rug-runners and curtain-crawlers.

Church and Children

"Now he's getting married, it'll be a big wedding in the Westwood Community church with a large reception at the Continental Hotel. And he wants four children."

And who is the persuasive blonde? She is the daughter of a retired Army general, born in New Orleans and reared in nearby Sherman Oaks. She started in films as an extra and dancer, then was tapped for Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse Club. Those were three and a half of the best years of her life.

Bush Receives Endorsement of Kingston Town

State Sen. E. Ogden Bush of Walton received the unanimous endorsement for renomination at a recent caucus of Town of Kingston Republican Committee and delegates were named for the unofficial Ulster County convention Saturday in Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

Delegates named are J. O'Keefe, L. Seaver and M. Reedy.

Town Republicans also gave a vote of confidence to Joseph Torraca for district attorney, Fred DuBois for county treasurer and the entire GOP slate.

The announcement of the endorsement was made this week by Committeemen Reedy and Joseph W. Quick, and Supervisor Douglas Dye.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of Americans found their total bills down a bit in February. A greater number probably found them higher. And for most the March bills were likely to have been still climbing slightly. The trend isn't due to change much this month.

That's how the family budget tacked up, no matter how the government's consumer price index looks on the charts, with its first dip since December 1962.

Others More Pleasant

But other government statistics do paint a pleasanter picture. The average factory worker's take-home pay went up in February by around $1 a week. This was due to the rise in industrial activity which saw the average factory work week go to 40.3 hours from January's 39.8 hours.

In March activity continued brisk. Even more, the cut in the federal income tax withholding rate added dollars to take-home pay for almost everyone.

This month many persons who may have found extra jobs during the Easter shopping rush won't be cashing paychecks. But in general wages and salaries should be pouring even more into the economy than in March.

Thus, the expected slight rise in the cost of living may well be more than offset by increased personal incomes.

The little dip in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index in February is traced largely to refunds on gas utility bills on the West Coast and to lower rates in some other parts of the country. This followed a U.S. Supreme Court decision that the Federal Power Commission had the right to regulate gas transmission rates.

To this was added lower gasoline prices in scattered communities having price wars, and to lower used car prices.

Some May Wonder

Those living elsewhere or not buying used cars may wonder why the living costs are supposed to have dropped.

Actually most other items on the index were higher than in January, and all but the utility costs higher than a year ago. And these other items are those affecting almost everyone—food, clothing, housing, medical care, transportation, recreation.

For the nation as a whole, however, the index stood at 107.6 in February. This means that the goods and services that cost you $100 in the 1957-59 base year set you back by $107.60 this February, against $107.70 in January and $106.10 in February 1963.

Eight Jurors Are Chosen for Trial Of Ousted Jurist

NEW YORK (AP) — More prospective jurors were called for examination today at the trial of ousted Judge Melvin H. Osterman on charges of bribery and conspiracy in connection with the state liquor license scandal.

Eight jurors—five men and three women — were chosen at the opening trial session Wednesday before State Supreme Court Justice Joseph A. Sarafite.

Osterman, 60, who was removed as a judge of the State Court of Claims last October, watched the jury selection.

Marvin Greenstein, a Manhattan psychologist, will be foreman.

Testimony will be heard about alleged graft and other corruption in the State Liquor Authority (SLA) before a change in the chairmanship more than a year ago.

Alfred J. Scotti, chief assistant district attorney of Manhattan, told prospective jurors that two of Osterman's confidential aides in the Court of Claims have turned state's evidence and will testify against him.

The two are Melvyn Thaler, who was law clerk to Osterman as judge, and Miss Grace O'Shaughnessy, who was his secretary.

Demos Schedule Three Meetings, Victory Is Theme

NEW YORK (AP)—"Victory in '64" will be the theme of three Upstate Democratic meetings of local candidates, county chairmen and other party leaders.

The first meeting will be in Buffalo Saturday, the second in Syracuse Sunday and the third in Albany April 28.

The Upstate meetings will be conducted by John F. English, Democratic chairman of Nassau County, and Mrs. Joyce Phillips Austin, co-chairman of the party's state campaign committee.

Lane Dismissed By Mrs. Oswald

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite C. Oswald has announced that she dismissed New York lawyer Mark Lane, who sought before the Warren Commission to clear her late son, Lee Harvey Oswald, of the killing of President John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Oswald told a newsman Wednesday at her New York hotel that she wrote to Lane on Tuesday dispensing with his services.

She said Lane had done a fine investigating job but "his services are no longer required because I am able to conduct my own investigation."

Tree Fund on Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Money collected by Hebrew school children in Monroe, N.Y., for a garden of trees to be planted in Israel in memory of the late President John F. Kennedy has been started on its way.

The $200 was turned over Wednesday to Capt. Ze'ev Hillel, master of the liner Israel, at the Zim Lines pier on the Hudson River.

The 40 children all attended his Hebrew school at the temple.

Reds Boast Defense

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union claimed today it can knock out American rocket weapons, including nuclear submarines.

"Under present conditions successful battle is possible not only against planes and stationary rocket establishments but also against atomic rocket submarines, both in their bases and at sea," the Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star said.

Woman Doctor Asks $500,000 in Suit, Dropped by Hospital

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A woman doctor has filed suit demanding $500,000 from two other physicians and the administrator of a hospital because she has been dropped from the hospital's medical staff and denied use of hospital facilities.

Hits False Reports

Dr. Milly G. Halberstadt, a surgeon who has practiced in the Malone area since 1940, charges that Dr. M. Marshall Kissane and Dr. Carl P. Sherwin Jr. circulated false reports and innuendoes "for motives of malice and self-gain."

She contends William A. Clermont, administrator of Alice Hyde Memorial Hospital here, denied her the right to use X-ray and laboratory facilities after the board of directors restored the right to her in September 1962.

She charges further that Clermont "wrongfully refused" her permission to inspect a report she says Dr. Kissane made on her educational and professional background.

Dr. Halberstadt joined the hospital's medical staff in 1956 and was dropped in May 1962. She says her practice has fallen off and she has lost income.

Her suit charges that Dr. Kissane and Dr. Sherwin instigated false statements about her integrity, credentials, qualifications, professional conduct and ability.

The suit, filed in State Supreme Court, was placed on the court calendar yesterday for next week.

Also named in the action, but not sued for damages, is Ralph M. Cardinal, president of the board of directors of the Alice Hyde Memorial Hospital Association.

Dr. Halberstadt asked that Cardinal be required to declare that she is a physician and surgeon licensed and qualified under state laws, that no defect exists in her credentials and that she is entitled to admit patients and use the facilities of the hospital.

Gets State VA Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Joseph S. Weltman, 53, director of the Veterans Administration Center at Togus, Me., has been reassigned as director of the agency's hospital at Canandaigua, N.Y.

Weltman, a native of Schenectady, N.Y., joined the Veterans Administration after World War II and has been director at Togus since March 1960. His salary at Canandaigua will be $19,000 a year.

Viets Clash With Guerrillas Near Area Nixon Visits

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese forces clashed with Communist guerrillas in the Mekong River delta today within 20 miles of an area Richard M. Nixon was visiting.

Casualties were believed to have been heavy. The former U.S. vice president apparently did not get near the action.

Nixon had flown by helicopter to Tan An, 30 miles south of Saigon, to inspect some hamlets the government has set up in a crash program to push out the Red Viet Cong. U.S. sources said the firing began when the government mounted an operation earlier in the day.

Nixon conferred with Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, and scheduled another meeting with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, his vice - presidential running mate in 1960.

Nixon arrived Wednesday on a world tour.

Nixon, who has not shut the door on a draft for the Republican presidential nomination, said it was natural that he and Lodge should talk politics. But neither he nor Lodge would reveal what they said.

"We're old friends," Lodge said. "I briefed him about Viet Nam. I think we'd better let it stand at that."

Dies of Injuries

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Daniel H. Bonner, 21, of Natural Bridge died today in Watertown's Mercy Hospital of injuries suffered in a two-car collision here Wednesday, a hospital spokesman said.

Four others were injured in the mishap, none seriously, Watertown police reported.

CORE Cancels Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to boycott Washington public schools April 20 have been called off by the Congress of Racial Equality after school officials agreed to most of 14 proposed changes in the school system.

Rockefeller Says Lodge Is Running HardFromAbroad

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has become the chief target of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the battle for the Republican nomination for president.

Brushing aside Lodge's repeated statements that he is not a candidate and does not intend to become one, Rockefeller argued that Lodge "is running and running hard from the privileged sanctuary of diplomatic immunity."

The New York governor maintained in an interview Wednesday that Lodge, U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, was "a part of the Democratic administration and he is a candidate for the GOP nomination who is working from out there very hard."

The statements were Rockefeller's sharpest criticism to date of the ambassador.

By his remarks, Rockefeller not only challenged Lodge's denial of candidacy but also was in conflict with President Johnson, who has accepted the ambassador's statement that he is not a candidate.

Rockefeller said Wednesday that Lodge should resign as ambassador and return to the United States to participate in the contest for the GOP nomination.

Lodge has become one of the top prospects by virtue of his surprisingly strong write-in victory in the New Hampshire primary March 10.

Bookie Ring Smashed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Police claim they smashed a $250,000-a-year bookmaking operation Wednesday when they arrested six men in a followup to statewide gambling raids last month.

Investigators said Wednesday's raids took place in Syracuse and nearby Manlius and Solvay.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of Americans found their total bills down a bit in February. A greater number probably found them higher. And for most the March bills were likely to have been still climbing slightly. The trend isn't due to change much this month.

That's how the family budget tacked up, no matter how the government's consumer price index looks on the charts, with its first dip since December 1962.

Others More Pleasant

But other government statistics do paint a pleasanter picture. The average factory worker's take-home pay went up in February by around $1 a week. This was due to the rise in industrial activity which saw the average factory work week go to 40.3 hours from January's 39.8 hours.

In March activity continued brisk. Even more, the cut in the federal income tax withholding rate added dollars to take-home pay for almost everyone.

This month many persons who may have found extra jobs during the Easter shopping rush won't be cashing paychecks. But in general wages and salaries should be pouring even more into the economy than in March.

Thus, the expected slight rise in the cost of living may well be more than offset by increased personal incomes.

The little dip in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index in February is traced largely to refunds on gas utility bills on the West Coast and to lower rates in some other parts of the country. This followed a U.S. Supreme Court decision that the Federal Power Commission had the right to regulate gas transmission rates.

To this was added lower gasoline prices in scattered communities having price wars, and to lower used car prices.

Some May Wonder

Those living elsewhere or not buying used cars may wonder why the living costs are supposed to have dropped.

Actually most other items on the index were higher than in January, and all but the utility costs higher than a year ago. And these other items are those affecting almost everyone—food, clothing, housing, medical care, transportation, recreation.

For the nation as a whole, however, the index stood at 107.6 in February. This means that the goods and services that cost you $100 in the 1957-59 base year set you back by $107.60 this February, against $107.70 in January and $106.10 in February 1963.

Eight Jurors Are Chosen for Trial Of Ousted Jurist

NEW YORK (AP) — More prospective jurors were called for examination today at the trial of ousted Judge Melvin H. Osterman on charges of bribery and conspiracy in connection with the state liquor license scandal.

Eight jurors—five men and three women — were chosen at the opening trial session Wednesday before State Supreme Court Justice Joseph A. Sarafite.

Osterman, 60, who was removed as a judge of the State Court of Claims last October, watched the jury selection.

Marvin Greenstein, a Manhattan psychologist, will be foreman.

Testimony will be heard about alleged graft and other corruption in the State Liquor Authority (SLA) before a change in the chairmanship more than a year ago.

Alfred J. Scotti, chief assistant district attorney of Manhattan, told prospective jurors that two of Osterman's confidential aides in the Court of Claims have turned state's evidence and will testify against him.

The two are Melvyn Thaler, who was law clerk to Osterman as judge, and Miss Grace O'Shaughnessy, who was his secretary.

Demos Schedule Three Meetings, Victory Is Theme

NEW YORK (AP)—"Victory in '64" will be the theme of three Upstate Democratic meetings of local candidates, county chairmen and other party leaders.

The first meeting will be in Buffalo Saturday, the second in Syracuse Sunday and the third in Albany April 28.

The Upstate meetings will be conducted by John F. English, Democratic chairman of Nassau County, and Mrs. Joyce Phillips Austin, co-chairman of the party's state campaign committee.

Lane Dismissed By Mrs. Oswald

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite C. Oswald has announced that she dismissed New York lawyer Mark Lane, who sought before the Warren Commission to clear her late son, Lee Harvey Oswald, of the killing of President John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Oswald told a newsman Wednesday at her New York hotel that she wrote to Lane on Tuesday dispensing with his services.

She said Lane had done a fine investigating job but "his services are no longer required because I am able to conduct my own investigation."

Tree Fund on Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Money collected by Hebrew school children in Monroe, N.Y., for a garden of trees to be planted in Israel in memory of the late President John F. Kennedy has been started on its way.

The $200 was turned over Wednesday to Capt. Ze'ev Hillel, master of the liner Israel, at the Zim Lines pier on the Hudson River.

The 40 children all attended his Hebrew school at the temple.

Reds Boast Defense

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union claimed today it can knock out American rocket weapons, including nuclear submarines.

"Under present conditions successful battle is possible not only against planes and stationary rocket establishments but also against atomic rocket submarines, both in their bases and at sea," the Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star said.

Woman Doctor Asks $500,000 in Suit, Dropped by Hospital

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A woman doctor has filed suit demanding $500,000 from two other physicians and the administrator of a hospital because she has been dropped from the hospital's medical staff and denied use of hospital facilities.

Hits False Reports

Dr. Milly G. Halberstadt, a surgeon who has practiced in the Malone area since 1940, charges that Dr. M. Marshall Kissane and Dr. Carl P. Sherwin Jr. circulated false reports and innuendoes "for motives of malice and self-gain."

She contends William A. Clermont, administrator of Alice Hyde Memorial Hospital here, denied her the right to use X-ray and laboratory facilities after the board of directors restored the right to her in September 1962.

She charges further that Clermont "wrongfully refused" her permission to inspect a report she says Dr. Kissane made on her educational and professional background.

Dr. Halberstadt joined the hospital's medical staff in 1956 and was dropped in May 1962. She says her practice has fallen off and she has lost income.

Her suit charges that Dr. Kissane and Dr. Sherwin instigated false statements about her integrity, credentials, qualifications, professional conduct and ability.

The suit, filed in State Supreme Court, was placed on the court calendar yesterday for next week.

Also named in the action, but not sued for damages, is Ralph M. Cardinal, president of the board of directors of the Alice Hyde Memorial Hospital Association.

Dr. Halberstadt asked that Cardinal be required to declare that she is a physician and surgeon licensed and qualified under state laws, that no defect exists in her credentials and that she is entitled to admit patients and use the facilities of the hospital.

Gets State VA Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Joseph S. Weltman, 53, director of the Veterans Administration Center at Togus, Me., has been reassigned as director of the agency's hospital at Canandaigua, N.Y.

Weltman, a native of Schenectady, N.Y., joined the Veterans Administration after World War II and has been director at Togus since March 1960. His salary at Canandaigua will be $19,000 a year.

Viets Clash With Guerrillas Near Area Nixon Visits

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese forces clashed with Communist guerrillas in the Mekong River delta today within 20 miles of an area Richard M. Nixon was visiting.

Casualties were believed to have been heavy. The former U.S. vice president apparently did not get near the action.

Nixon had flown by helicopter to Tan An, 30 miles south of Saigon, to inspect some hamlets the government has set up in a crash program to push out the Red Viet Cong. U.S. sources said the firing began when the government mounted an operation earlier in the day.

Nixon conferred with Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, and scheduled another meeting with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, his vice - presidential running mate in 1960.

Nixon arrived Wednesday on a world tour.

Nixon, who has not shut the door on a draft for the Republican presidential nomination, said it was natural that he and Lodge should talk politics. But neither he nor Lodge would reveal what they said.

"We're old friends," Lodge said. "I briefed him about Viet Nam. I think we'd better let it stand at that."

Dies of Injuries

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Daniel H. Bonner, 21, of Natural Bridge died today in Watertown's Mercy Hospital of injuries suffered in a two-car collision here Wednesday, a hospital spokesman said.

Four others were injured in the mishap, none seriously, Watertown police reported.

CORE Cancels Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to boycott Washington public schools April 20 have been called off by the Congress of Racial Equality after school officials agreed to most of 14 proposed changes in the school system.

Rockefeller Says Lodge Is Running HardFromAbroad

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has become the chief target of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the battle for the Republican nomination for president.

Brushing aside Lodge's repeated statements that he is not a candidate and does not intend to become one, Rockefeller argued that Lodge "is running and running hard from the privileged sanctuary of diplomatic immunity."

The New York governor maintained in an interview Wednesday that Lodge, U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, was "a part of the Democratic administration and he is a candidate for the GOP nomination who is working from out there very hard."

The statements were Rockefeller's sharpest criticism to date of the ambassador.

By his remarks, Rockefeller not only challenged Lodge's denial of candidacy but also was in conflict with President Johnson, who has accepted the ambassador's statement that he is not a candidate.

Rockefeller said Wednesday that Lodge should resign as ambassador and return to the United States to participate in the contest for the GOP nomination.

Lodge has become one of the top prospects by virtue of his surprisingly strong write-in victory in the New Hampshire primary March 10.

Bookie Ring Smashed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Police claim they smashed a $250,000-a-year bookmaking operation Wednesday when they arrested six men in a followup to statewide gambling raids last month.

Investigators said Wednesday's raids took place in Syracuse and nearby Manlius and Solvay.

Exhibitors List Features

Miss N. Y. State Will Be at 17th Lions Show

Miss New York State of 1964, Barbara Ann Gloede, will appear at the 17th annual Kingston Lions Club Home and Auto Show at the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue.

20,000 Is Goal

Scholar told Lions Club members that a new attendance goal has been set at 20,000 persons for this year's show.

Meanwhile, exhibitors revealed display plans today for their booths at the Armory show.

These included:

The Colonial City Carpet Company will feature its large line of carpets and rugs. This will include their broadloom. carpets oriental rugs, hand made or hooked carpets made from all types of materials—wool, nylon and cotton.

Anderson's Garage of Accord will have on display an International Cadet Cub Tractor and some lawn equipment attachments. A special feature at the booth will be an exhibit of a new dynamic sound rodent sentry—a machine designed to drive away rats, pigeons, bats by the use of sound waves.

Fashion Show on 17th

On exhibit at the Bert Bishop Booth will be the latest in anchor fence. Other displays will be the latest in aluminum siding and roofing materials.

The 4-H Club Department booth which is being sponsored by the State of New York National Bank will have a number of 4-H boys and girls presenting demonstrations in foods, clothing, engineering and livestock. An added special feature will be a Fashion Review which will be conducted on Friday, April 17.

"Le Rustic Que" will be the theme of Joe Scholar & Sons exhibit. A colonial style kitchen—

from the rustic shingles to the floor tiles will be featured at their booth. Also on display will be the complete line of Frigidaire appliances — washer, dryer, refrigerator, dishwasher, etc.

Ulster County Savings and Loan will feature a "wheelbarrow full of money" at their exhibit, also on hand will be a photographer.

The exhibit of J. Ellis Briggs & Sons will occupy three booths with each one featuring their new service. One will display their rental service which includes everything from small do-it-yourself tools to larger equipment. Home Improvements materials and equipment will be the highlight of their second booth, while the Parragon Custom Built Home will be on display at the third booth.

This year's Lions Home and Auto Show is in its finai stages, and President Scholar, expressed his confidence that the efforts of the Exposition Committee and the exhibitors will result in the most successful Exposition to date.

Has Strong Grip on Haiti

Duvalier Takes on Title Of Lifetime President

The country doctor - turned-politician took the step as another in a series of measures which, since his election in 1957 for a six-year term, have given him an iron rule over this poverty-stricken Caribbean nation of 4 million people.

Information Minister Paul Blanchet said Duvalier was acting in response to public demonstrations urging him to rule for life and to the expressed wish of the officers to take a new oath to him.

"I am happy that you understand it is necessary to join the revolutionary crowd and come here this morning to render homage to the constitutional chief of the armed forces in a new oath of allegiance," Duvalier told the officers, whose army Duvalier has reduced to 5,000 men in favor of the 10,000 secret police of the "tonton macoute," or bogeymen.

Duvalier, 54, accepted the lifetime title and the officers' oath and told them he considered himself the kind of man the country can produce only once every 50 or 75 years.

Duvalier singled out Gen. Gerard Constant, the chief of staff, and reminded him that he was a lieutenant when he sided with Duvalier in the 1957 campaign "and now you are a general."

Duvalier has bested rebels inside and outside Haiti as well as the opposition of the United States since he took office.

Relations between Haiti and the United States were broken off last year after Duvalier extended his presidential term by means of a rigged election. Relations were restored late in 1963, and Duvalier's ' recent pleasant dealings with the United States indicated he wants a resumption of U.S. aid.

Since 1957 the United States has given more than $60 million in loans and grants to help the country, where per capita income is about $60 a year. Most American aid was cut off last August in retaliation for his extending his rule.

Birdie Improves

TUCSON, BAriz. (AP)—George (Birdie) Tebbetts, 54, manager of the Cleveland Indians, who suffered a heart attack Wednesday night, was reported in an improved and satisfactory condition early today.

The report was issued by St. Mary's Hospital where Tebbetts was taken. The hospital said Tebbetts' physician, Dr. Arthur Dudley, has called in Dr. Samuel J. Grauman, Tucson heart specialist, to make further tests today.

Tebbetts was 2nd graf 107

Woodstock Boy Due in Family Court on Thefts

A 14-year-old Woodstock boy was taken into custody Wednesday night by County Investigator Thomas Mayone and Deputy Sheriff George Reynolds in connection with thefts of money from a cash drawer at the Woodstock Library.

Investigator Mayone said officers of the Library complained to the sheriff's office on March 16, that money was missing from the cash drawer. Mayone and Reynolds had the place under surveilance since and last night apprehended the boy.

Mayone said the boy admitted the thefts of money about once a week since January. He allegedly took a total of $50 to $60, some of which he said he used to buy a jacket and fishing tackle.

According to the investigators, the boy stood on a table outside the library, then shinnied a drain pipe to the roof, crossed the roof to an unlocked window and entered the building. Each time he stole money, the boy admitted.

The accused juvenile will be petitioned into Family Court, Mayone said.

Clear Galamison, 3 of Disorderly Conduct Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge has dismissed disorderly conduct charges against the Rev. Milton Galamison and three others who were among 700 persons arrested during civil rights demonstrations last summer. A woman received a suspended sentence.

The five were the first of 220 defendants to go on trial. Most of the others pleaded guilty and received suspended sentences.

In Brooklyn Criminal Court on Wednesday, Judge Ludwig Glowe dismissed the four cases after the arresting officer testified that he did not see them engaged in disorderly conduct but acted on orders from a superiod received via a loudspeaker. None of the four testified.

Open Low Bids Totaling $50,164 For Napanoch Job

Low bids totaling $50,164 for work at Napanoch were among those amounting to $2,765,178.50 on 10 projects for construction, repairs and alterations to state-owned facilities opened in Albany Wednesday by the State Public Works Department.

A total of 96 bids were received on the 10 projects included in the letting.

The work at Eastern Correctional Institution at Napanoch included separate proposals covering construction, sanitary and electric work for replacement of sanitary facilities, state shop, laundry and bath building.

Philange Construction Corp., Brooklyn, $13,480 for construction work. Three bids were received.

Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating, Accord, $34,605 for sanitary work. Four bids were received.

Coming for Talks

Thieves Steal Car And Clock Radio

Theft of a car and a clock radio were reported to local police Wednesday.

A 1962 Ford was reported taken from the lot of Parsons of Kingston Inc., 300 Broadway between 10 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. The owner is listed as the Par Du Leasing Inc., of the same address.

The clock radio was reported taken from the living room of the home of Isabelle A. Gallagher, 17 Fort Street. Police said entrance was gained through the breaking of a front door glass.

Perry Picked Up On Warrant as 'Skin' Game Man

Michael S. Perry, 38 of 36 Prince street was picked up this morning on a bench warrant by Detective Harold DeGraff of the Kingston police department for appearance late before County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

It is charged that Perry was acting as game-keeper when 14 persons were reportedly surprised in the act of playing "skin" in an office on Field Court last March 2. The charge is an indictable misdemeanor.

City Detectives in command of Lt. Lemuel Howard and state police BCI officers raided the premises of the P & E Trucking Company on Field Court March 2. Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt at that time said each of the 14 persons, who allegedly were playing "skin" when police entered, were served with on-the-spot subpoenas to appear before the grand jury on March 11.

The apprehension of Perry today is the result of that grand jury investigation. He was immediately admitted to bail.

Five Out of Jail To Testify About Dispute Over CR

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Five demonstrators, including Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, were brought here today from a St. Augustine jail to testify in behalf of federal court intervention in the civil rights dispute of the nation's oldest city.

Mrs. Peabody, 72, mother of Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, and the others made the 40-mile trip in a police car driven by Sheriff L. O. Davis.

There were no guards, but Police Chief Virgil Stuart of St. Augustine followed in another car.

Other Prisoners

Other prisoners were the Rev. William S. Coffin Jr. and Dr. David Robinson, Yale University chaplains; Dr. Robert Hayling, St. Augustine integration leader; and Anne Ruth Evans, 15, Negro girl.

U.S. Dist. Judge Bryan Simpson was to take testimony on the petition of three attorneys that the nearly 300 demonstrators imprisoned in St. Augustine in the past week be placed under federal jurisdiction.

The judge indicated to the attorneys that he would not take jurisdiction from the St. Augustine courts.

'Call to Jail' Likely

In St. Augustine, leaders of the integration movement said they might issue a nationwide call for more demonstrators to fill the jails.

"It may be necessary to bring in part of our nonviolent army that we have recruited from all over the country," said the Rev. Bernard Lee of Atlanta, an aide to the Rev. Martin Luther King. He said King also might come to St. Augustine.

Failure, Says Mayor

Mayor Joseph Shelley told a news conference the demonstrations had failed.

Shelley said public facilities in St. Augustine were integrated. He said privately owned facilities were segregated "the same as Washington, New York, Boston and Chicago."

Attorneys for the demonstrators told Judge Simpson Wednesday the defendants could not get fair trials in St. Johns County or other Florida courts. Bails, ranging from $100 to $1,000 were termed excessive and the federal judge was asked at least to reduce them.

Record Verdict Cut to $630,000 For Injured Boy

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — The record $1.1 million awarded to 13-year-old Martin Ergas for injuries that left him permanently paralyzed from the waist down has been reduced to $630,000 in an out-of-court settlement.

The Barricini Candy Co. and its insurance company agreed to drop plans to appeal the verdict.

The $630,000 settlement was approved Wednesday by State Supreme Court Justice Joseph Suozzi who presided at the trial of the suit last September.

The $1.1-million verdict was the total amount asked in the suit filed by the boy's father, Jack Ergas, a cotton broker, of Cedarhurst, N.Y.

Martin was struck by a heavy sheet metal and wood sign blown off the roof of one of the Barricini stores in Manhattan on June 26, 1958. His skull was fractured and his spinal cord was torn.

Solution to Red Quarrel Years Away: Nicolau

TOKYO (AP) — A Romanian parliamentarian suggested today that despite mediation efforts by his country, the Chinese -Soviet quarrel is still years away from settlement.

Asked at a news conference whether Romanian Premier Ion Maurer and his associates had made any progress in recent conversations in Peking and Pyongyang, Dr. Stefan Nicolau replied:

"We support a policy of negotiation. The recent mission convinced us that this policy is right.. We can't say how many years it will take, but we are sure a solution will be reached some time to the Sino-Soviet differences. Even family troubles are difficult to solve. But we believe there will be a solution some day."

Nicolau is vice president of the Romanian National Assembly.

Winners Named For Art Show

Grand Jury May Hear Carchidi On Police Charge

A first degree rape charge against John K. Carchidi, 20 of 8 Pine Street, was dismissed in city court today, but assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon said he intends to present the case to a grand jury.

A city court adjournment was announced Wednesday with the understanding that a preliminary hearing would be held today or the charge would be dismissed. An important medical witness was reported in Florida.

Carchidi was arrested March 23. Police allege that a 19-year-old girl was involved.

Attorney William Curran appeared for the defendant.

Hearing of a third degree assault charge against Santiago DeJesus, 29, of 62 VanBuren Street, was put over to Friday. He was arrested Wednesday afternoon on a warrant executed by officers Ernest Bartroff and James Scott. The complainant is Ann Heurtas of the same address. Bail of $25 was not posted.

Pickets Charge Discrimination In Local Housing

An uptown apartment house was picketed today by a group of Negroes claiming it had refused to rent to one of their race.

Led by Alderman Leonard Van Dyke of the Sixth Ward downtown and Mrs. Van Dyke, the 10 pickets carried two signs.

One said CORE protest against discrimination in housing; the other CORE, refused to rent to Negroes.

The pickets walked in front of the Bryant apartments, corner of Main and Green Streets.

A police car was sent to the scene to see that there was no disorder.

The Van Dykes recently held a meeting at their home in the Sixth Ward to organize a local chapter of CORE, (Congress of Racial Equality.).

Police Sergeant, Among Trio to Be Cited by Legion

A sergeant in Kingston Police Department, William F. Hanley, will be among three outstanding Legionnaires to be honored by Kingston Post 150 at a testimonial dinner on Saturday, April 25 at the Legion Home, West O'Reilly Street.

Hanley, John Weber and Thomas Bohan have been chosen to receive life memberships for their deep devotion to the American Legion program and in grateful appreciation for services by them over a period of years.

Others Honored

Other Legionnaires similarly honored include Gen. Edwin Messinger, former Kingston mayor Eugene B. Carey, Roy Jacob, the Rev. Clarance Brown and Meyer Kaplan.

Tickets for the event are available from Past Commander George C. Heppner, dinner chairman, or at the Legion Home.

Hanley joined the Legion in 1945, shortly after his discharge from the U. S. Coast Guard, in which he enlisted on Sept. 3, 1942. He was stationed at Georgica Life Station, East Hampton, L. I. He attained the rate of second class ship's cook and served until October 30, 1945, when he received his honorable discharge.

He was an ardent worker in Legion affairs, being elected vice commander in 1955 and became commander on June 19, 1956. During his term, he initiated the return of the family outings in the form of a clambake, which had been discontinued for a few years. He also was rewarded by a winning Junior Legion baseball team, which earned its way to New York State finals before being defeated at Yonkers. Also that year the Legion softball team was league champion.

Active Promoter

For the annual fund raising program of Armistice Day, Hanley, with his athletic committee, had an exhibition basketball game between members of the National Association — the Syracuse Nationals and the Rochester Royals — at the Kate Walton Field House.

He is also a past Ulster County Legion vice commander. This year he is president of the "Hobo" Club, which is a charity association of the Legion, dedicated to visiting the sick, donating flowers distributing and collecting coin boxes. Also he is on the 1964 House Committee whose members have donated many hours of labor in redecorating the Legion rooms, fixing up the game room, and other projects.

During 1954 he was membership chairman and through his efforts, with his committee, they attained a record of 717 paid up members—the second highest ever. He was co-chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, which distributed clothes and food during the Christmas holidays, and a member of the County Legion Special Activities Committee.

He was invited to join the "La-Societe Des 40 Hommes E 8 Chevaux," of the Uister County Voiture 381 and is past Lampiste and Commissioner Voyager. He is a director of Ulster County Chapter National Foundation of March of Dimes, which distributes material to town chairman, and also helped raised funds for the Association for Retarded Children.

WILLIAM F. HANLEY

Joined Force in1946

Currently he is a sergeant in Kingston Police Department, following in the footsteps of his father, who was also a member of Kingston's finest for many years. He joined the local department on Dec. 16, 1946 and now has more than 17 years of service. He was elevated to his present post on Aug. 1, 1957. He is a member of the Ulster County Civil Service Employees Association, the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, and the Old Timers Baseball Association.

Hanley received his education in the Kingston schools, attending School No. 5, also Kingston High School. As a youth he was always interested in athletics, having played baseball in the City League and being a member of such famous teams as the UPA, Gruenwalds and Jones Dairy.

He was born in Kingston, the son of William F. Hanley and Elizabeth Teats Hanley, formerly of Red Hook. He has two sisters, Mrs. Mary Myers, residing in Port Ewen, and Mrs. Julius Tellier, of Shufeldt Street, this city; also two brothers, Edward and Robert, who reside in Port Ewen.

He resides at 165 Wrentham Street with his wife, the former Ruth Cline and their daughter, Terry Ruth.

Commander James Gilpatric announced that Dinner Chairman Heppner has advised that seating for the dinner is limited to 130 and reservations should be made at an early date. The ladies are invited to attend, he said.

Deaths

DETROIT (AP) — Bozidar Kunc, 61, of New York, a concert pianist, collapsed and died Wednesday after performing with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Kunc was stricken as his sister, soprano Zinka Milanov, a star of the Metropolitan Opera Co., finished her song.

Saved From Frigid Creek

Police were notified at 4:46 p. m. Wednesday that Webster Gash, 56, of 50 Hunter Street, was rescued from the frigid Rondout Creek near The Freeman parking lot beyond Canal Street. Wilfred Hahn Jr., 33, of 11 East Union Street, reported that he had "pulled someone out of the water," and officers John Kennedy and Edward Ortlieb were dispatched to investigate. Gash was taken by Fatum Ambulance to the Benedictine Hospital where his condition was reported fair today. Police had no other details other than that indicating that the man had apparently fallen into the creek.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and our father, Ralph Ellsworth, who passed away eight years ago today, April 2, 1956.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away;
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.

Miss New York State of 1964, Barbara Ann Gloede, will appear at the 17th annual Kingston Lions Club Home and Auto Show at the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue.

20,000 Is Goal

Scholar told Lions Club members that a new attendance goal has been set at 20,000 persons for this year's show.

Meanwhile, exhibitors revealed display plans today for their booths at the Armory show.

These included:

The Colonial City Carpet Company will feature its large line of carpets and rugs. This will include their broadloom, carpets oriental rugs, hand made or hooked carpets made from all types of materials—wool, nylon and cotton.

Anderson's Garage of Accord will have on display an International Cadet Cub Tractor and some lawn equipment attachments. A special feature at the booth will be an exhibit of a new dynamic sound rodent sentry—a machine designed to drive away rats, pigeons, bats by the use of sound waves.

Fashion Show on 17th

On exhibit at the Bert Bishop Booth will be the latest in anchor fence. Other displays will be the latest in aluminum siding and roofing materials.

The 4-H Club Department booth which is being sponsored by the State of New York National Bank will have a number of 4-H boys and girls presenting demonstrations in foods, clothing, engineering and livestock. An added special feature will be a Fashion Review which will be conducted on Friday, April 17.

"Le Rustic Que" will be the theme of Joe Scholar & Sons exhibit. A colonial style kitchen—

from the rustic shingles to the floor tiles will be featured at their booth. Also on display will be the complete line of Frigidaire appliances — washer, dryer, refrigerator, dishwasher, etc.

Ulster County Savings and Loan will feature a "wheelbarrow full of money" at their exhibit, also on hand will be a photographer.

The exhibit of J. Ellis Briggs & Sons will occupy three booths with each one featuring their new service. One will display their rental service which includes everything from small do-it-yourself tools to larger equipment. Home Improvements materials and equipment will be the highlight of their second booth, while the Parragon Custom Built Home will be on display at the third booth.

This year's Lions Home and Auto Show is in its final stages, and President Scholar, expressed his confidence that the efforts of the Exposition Committee and the exhibitors will result in the most successful Exposition to date.

Has Strong Grip on Haiti

Duvalier Takes on Title Of Lifetime President

The country doctor - turned-politician took the step as another in a series of measures which, since his election in 1957 for a six-year term, have given him an iron rule over this poverty-stricken Caribbean nation of 4 million people.

Information Minister Paul Blanchet said Duvalier was acting in response to public demonstrations urging him to rule for life and to the expressed wish of the officers to take a new oath to him.

"I am happy that you understand it is necessary to join the revolutionary crowd and come here this morning to render homage to the constitutional chief of the armed forces in a new oath of allegiance," Duvalier told the officers, whose army Duvalier has reduced to 5,000 men in favor of the 10,000 secret police of the "tonton macoute," or bogeymen.

Duvalier, 54, accepted the lifetime title and the officers' oath and told them he considered himself the kind of man the country can produce only once every 50 or 75 years.

Duvalier singled out Gen. Gerard Constant, the chief of staff, and reminded him that he was a lieutenant when he sided with Duvalier in the 1957 campaign "and now you are a general."

Duvalier has bested rebels inside and outside Haiti as well as the opposition of the United States since he took office.

Relations between Haiti and the United States were broken off last year after Duvalier extended his presidential term by means of a rigged election. Relations were restored late in 1963, and Duvalier's recent pleasant dealings with the United States indicated he wants a resumption of U.S. aid.

Since 1957 the United States has given more than $60 million in loans and grants to help the country, where per capita income is about $60 a year. Most American aid was cut off last August in retaliation for his extending his rule.

Birdie Improves

TUCSON, BAriz. (AP)—George (Birdie) Tebbetts, 54, manager of the Cleveland Indians, who suffered a heart attack Wednesday night, was reported in an improved and satisfactory condition early today.

The report was issued by St. Mary's Hospital where Tebbetts was taken. The hospital said Tebbetts' physician, Dr. Arthur Dudley, has called in Dr. Samuel J. Grauman, Tucson heart specialist, to make further tests today.

Tebbetts was 2nd graf 107

Woodstock Boy Due in Family Court on Thefts

A 14-year-old Woodstock boy was taken into custody Wednesday night by County Investigator Thomas Mayone and Deputy Sheriff George Reynolds in connection with thefts of money from a cash drawer at the Woodstock Library.

Investigator Mayone said officers of the Library complained to the sheriff's office on March 16, that money was missing from the cash drawer. Mayone and Reynolds had the place under surveilance since and last night apprehended the boy.

Mayone said the boy admitted the thefts of money about once a week since January. He allegedly took a total of $50 to $60, some of which he said he used to buy a jacket and fishing tackle.

According to the investigators, the boy stood on a table outside the library, then shinnied a drain pipe to the roof, crossed the roof to an unlocked window and entered the building. Each time he stole money, the boy admitted.

The accused juvenile will be petitioned into Family Court, Mayone said.

Clear Galamison, 3 of Disorderly Conduct Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge has dismissed disorderly conduct charges against the Rev. Milton Galamison and three others who were among 700 persons arrested during civil rights demonstrations last summer. A woman received a suspended sentence.

The five were the first of 220 defendants to go on trial. Most of the others pleaded guilty and received suspended sentences.

In Brooklyn Criminal Court on Wednesday, Judge Ludwig Glowe dismissed the four cases after the arresting officer testified that he did not see them engaged in disorderly conduct but acted on orders from a superiod received via a loudspeaker. None of the four testified.

Open Low Bids Totaling $50,164 For Napanoch Job

Low bids totaling $50,164 for work at Napanoch were among those amounting to $2,765,178.50 on 10 projects for construction, repairs and alterations to state-owned facilities opened in Albany Wednesday by the State Public Works Department.

A total of 96 bids were received on the 10 projects included in the letting.

The work at Eastern Correctional Institution at Napanoch included separate proposals covering construction, sanitary and electric work for replacement of sanitary facilities, state shop, laundry and bath building.

Philange Construction Corp., Brooklyn, $13,480 for construction work. Three bids were received.

Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating, Accord, $34,605 for sanitary work. Four bids were received.

Coming for Talks

Thieves Steal Car And Clock Radio

Theft of a car and a clock radio were reported to local police Wednesday.

A 1962 Ford was reported taken from the lot of Parsons of Kingston Inc., 300 Broadway between 10 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. The owner is listed as the Par Du Leasing Inc., of the same address.

The clock radio was reported taken from the living room of the home of Isabelle A. Gallagher, 17 Fort Street. Police said entrance was gained through the breaking of a front door glass.

Perry Picked Up On Warrant as 'Skin' Game Man

Michael S. Perry, 38 of 36 Prince street was picked up this morning on a bench warrant by Detective Harold DeGraff of the Kingston police department for appearance late before County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

It is charged that Perry was acting as game-keeper when 14 persons were reportedly surprised in the act of playing "skin" in an office on Field Court last March 2. The charge is an indictable misdemeanor.

City Detectives in command of Lt. Lemuel Howard and state police BCI officers raided the premises of the P & E Trucking Company on Field Court March 2. Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt at that time said each of the 14 persons, who allegedly were playing "skin" when police entered, were served with on-the-spot subpoenas to appear before the grand jury on March 11.

The apprehension of Perry today is the result of that grand jury investigation. He was immediately admitted to bail.

Five Out of Jail To Testify About Dispute Over CR

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Five demonstrators, including Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, were brought here today from a St. Augustine jail to testify in behalf of federal court intervention in the civil rights dispute of the nation's oldest city.

Mrs. Peabody, 72, mother of Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, and the others made the 40-mile trip in a police car driven by Sheriff L. O. Davis.

There were no guards, but Police Chief Virgil Stuart of St. Augustine followed in another car.

Other Prisoners

Other prisoners were the Rev. William S. Coffin Jr. and Dr. David Robinson, Yale University chaplains; Dr. Robert Hayling, St. Augustine integration leader; and Anne Ruth Evans, 15, Negro girl.

U.S. Dist. Judge Bryan Simpson was to take testimony on the petition of three attorneys that the nearly 300 demonstrators imprisoned in St. Augustine in the past week be placed under federal jurisdiction.

The judge indicated to the attorneys that he would not take jurisdiction from the St. Augustine courts.

'Call to Jail' Likely

In St. Augustine, leaders of the integration movement said they might issue a nationwide call for more demonstrators to fill the jails.

"It may be necessary to bring in part of our nonviolent army that we have recruited from all over the country," said the Rev. Bernard Lee of Atlanta, an aide to the Rev. Martin Luther King. He said King also might come to St. Augustine.

Failure, Says Mayor

Mayor Joseph Shelley told a news conference the demonstrations had failed.

Shelley said public facilities in St. Augustine were integrated. He said privately owned facilities were segregated "the same as Washington, New York, Boston and Chicago."

Attorneys for the demonstrators told Judge Simpson Wednesday the defendants could not get fair trials in St. Johns County or other Florida courts. Bails, ranging from $100 to $1,000 were termed excessive and the federal judge was asked at least to reduce them.

Record Verdict Cut to $630,000 For Injured Boy

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — The record $1.1 million awarded to 13-year-old Martin Ergas for injuries that left him permanently paralyzed from the waist down has been reduced to $630,000 in an out-of-court settlement.

The Barricini Candy Co. and its insurance company agreed to drop plans to appeal the verdict.

The $630,000 settlement was approved Wednesday by State Supreme Court Justice Joseph Suozzi who presided at the trial of the suit last September.

The $1.1-million verdict was the total amount asked in the suit filed by the boy's father, Jack Ergas, a cotton broker, of Cedarhurst, N.Y.

Solution to Red Quarrel Years Away: Nicolau

TOKYO (AP) — A Romanian parliamentarian suggested today that despite mediation efforts by his country, the Chinese -Soviet quarrel is still years away from settlement.

Asked at a news conference whether Romanian Premier Ion Maurer and his associates had made any progress in recent conversations in Peking and Pyongyang, Dr. Stefan Nicolau replied:

"We support a policy of negotiation. The recent mission convinced us that this policy is right. We can't say how many years it will take, but we are sure a solution will be reached some time to the Sino-Soviet differences. Even family troubles are difficult to solve. But we believe there will be a solution some day."

Nicolau is vice president of the Romanian National Assembly.

Grand Jury May Hear Carchidi On Police Charge

A first degree rape charge against John K. Carchidi, 20 of 8 Pine Street, was dismissed in city court today, but assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon said he intends to present the case to a grand jury.

A city court adjournment was announced Wednesday with the understanding that a preliminary hearing would be held today or the charge would be dismissed. An important medical witness was reported in Florida.

Carchidi was arrested March 23. Police allege that a 19-year-old girl was involved.

Attorney William Curran appeared for the defendant.

Hearing of a third degree assault charge against Santiago DeJesus, 29, of 62 VanBuren Street, was put over to Friday. He was arrested Wednesday afternoon on a warrant executed by officers Ernest Bartroff and James Scott. The complainant is Ann Heurtas of the same address. Bail of $25 was not posted.

Pickets Charge Discrimination In Local Housing

Led by Alderman Leonard Van Dyke of the Sixth Ward downtown and Mrs. Van Dyke, the 10 pickets carried two signs.

One said CORE protest against discrimination in housing; the other CORE, refused to rent to Negroes.

The pickets walked in front of the Bryant apartments, corner of Main and Green Streets.

A police car was sent to the scene to see that there was no disorder.

The Van Dykes recently held a meeting at their home in the Sixth Ward to organize a local chapter of CORE, (Congress of Racial Equality.).

Police Sergeant, Among Trio to Be Cited by Legion

A sergeant in Kingston Police Department, William F. Hanley, will be among three outstanding Legionnaires to be honored by Kingston Post 150 at a testimonial dinner on Saturday, April 25 at the Legion Home, West O'Reilly Street.

Hanley, John Weber and Thomas Bohan have been chosen to receive life memberships for their deep devotion to the American Legion program and in grateful appreciation for services by them over a period of years.

Others Honored

Other Legionnaires similarly honored include Gen. Edwin Messinger, former Kingston mayor Eugene B. Carey, Roy Jacob, the Rev. Clarance Brown and Meyer Kaplan.

Hanley joined the Legion in 1945, shortly after his discharge from the U. S. Coast Guard, in which he enlisted on Sept. 3, 1942. He was stationed at Georgica Life Station, East Hampton, L. I. He attained the rate of second class ship's cook and served until October 30, 1945, when he received his honorable discharge.

He was an ardent worker in Legion affairs, being elected vice commander in 1955 and became commander on June 19, 1956. During his term, he initiated the return of the family outings in the form of a clambake, which had been discontinued for a few years. He also was rewarded by a winning Junior Legion baseball team, which earned its way to New York State finals before being defeated at Yonkers. Also that year the Legion softball team was league champion.

Active Promoter

For the annual fund raising program of Armistice Day, Hanley, with his athletic committee, had an exhibition basketball game between members of the National Association — the Syracuse Nationals and the Rochester Royals — at the Kate Walton Field House.

He is also a past Ulster County Legion vice commander. This year he is president of the "Hobo" Club, which is a charity association of the Legion, dedicated to visiting the sick, donating flowers distributing and collecting coin boxes. Also he is on the 1964 House Committee whose members have donated many hours of labor in redecorating the Legion rooms, fixing up the game room, and other projects.

During 1954 he was membership chairman and through his efforts, with his committee, they attained a record of 717 paid up members—the second highest ever. He was co-chairman of the Child Welfare Committee, which distributed clothes and food during the Christmas holidays, and a member of the County Legion Special Activities Committee.

He was invited to join the "La-Societe Des 40 Hommes E 8 Chevaux," of the Ulster County Voiture 381 and is past Lampiste and Commissioner Voyager. He is a director of Ulster County Chapter National Foundation of March of Dimes, which distributes material to town chairman, and also helped raised funds for the Association for Retarded Children.

WILLIAM F. HANLEY

Joined Force in1946

Currently he is a sergeant in Kingston Police Department, following in the footsteps of his father, who was also a member of Kingston's finest for many years. He joined the local department on Dec. 16, 1946 and now has more than 17 years of service. He was elevated to his present post on Aug. 1, 1957. He is a member of the Ulster County Civil Service Employees Association, the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, and the Old Timers Baseball Association.

Hanley received his education in the Kingston schools, attending School No. 5, also Kingston High School. As a youth he was always interested in athletics, having played baseball in the City League and being a member of such famous teams as the UPA, Gruenwalds and Jones Dairy.

He was born in Kingston, the son of William F. Hanley and Elizabeth Teats Hanley, formerly of Red Hook. He has two sisters, Mrs. Mary Myers, residing in Port Ewen, and Mrs. Julius Tellier, of Shufeldt Street, this city; also two brothers, Edward and Robert, who reside in Port Ewen.

He resides at 165 Wrentham Street with his wife, the former Ruth Cline and their daughter, Terry Ruth.

Commander James Gilpatric announced that Dinner Chairman Heppner has advised that seating for the dinner is limited to 130 and reservations should be made at an early date. The ladies are invited to attend, he said.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and our father, Ralph Ellsworth, who passed away eight years ago today, April 2, 1956.

God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away;
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.

Our Flag

Only a bit of color
Waving upon the street;
Only a wind-whipped pennant
Where the band plays shrill and sweet.
Yet the soldier's heart beats faster,
And proud is the sailor's eye.
And the citizen's step is quickened,
When our flag is passing by.
Only a bit of color,
Did I hear a body say?
True be the hearts that greet it
Wherever it waves today.
Back of that bit of color
Lies a nation's history,
And ahead of our splendid banner—
Who knows what there yet may be?

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—American lives, blood, money and materiel are deeply involved in the struggle between South Viet Nam and the Communist Viet Cong that has been going on since the early 1950s.

"CBS Reports" Wednesday night undertook an examination of the "nasty little war," as narrator Charles Collingwood called it. It showed the difficult conditions — experienced guerrillas, the problem of identifying ally from enemy in a civil war and the lack of enthusiasm of the Vietnamese people for the long struggle.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, in a taped interview, said:

"If the Communists were to control Viet Nam almost surely, eventually, their control would extend through Southeast Asia and there would be a ripple effect as far west, probably, as Pakistan and as far east as the Philippines and certainly to the south through Indonesia."

Much of the program was devoted to side issues — the destruction of the villages and dislocation of the people, the disturbed political situation and bits from a furious, bitter interview with Mme. Nhu, former First Lady now in Paris exile.

ABC has announced that Dinah Shore will be on its network next season with four evening variety specials and three daytime shows especially designed for the feminine audience.

The singer is under a long-term NBC contract, so some complicated negotiations to release her have been under way.

An NBC special about the Indianapolis Speedway and the big Memorial Day auto race is scheduled for May 28.

RECOMMENDED TONIGHT: "Once Upon a Savage Night," NBC, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time) — Suspense tale of a mad killer, with chase scenes photographed in and around Chicago with special film previously used in space missile projects.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—American lives, blood, money and materiel are deeply involved in the struggle between South Viet Nam and the Communist Viet Cong that has been going on since the early 1950s.

"CBS Reports" Wednesday night undertook an examination of the "nasty little war," as narrator Charles Collingwood called it. It showed the difficult conditions — experienced guerrillas, the problem of identifying ally from enemy in a civil war and the lack of enthusiasm of the Vietnamese people for the long struggle.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, in a taped interview, said:

"If the Communists were to control Viet Nam almost surely, eventually, their control would extend through Southeast Asia and there would be a ripple effect as far west, probably, as Pakistan and as far east as the Philippines and certainly to the south through Indonesia."

Much of the program was devoted to side issues — the destruction of the villages and dislocation of the people, the disturbed political situation and bits from a furious, bitter interview with Mme. Nhu, former First Lady now in Paris exile.

ABC has announced that Dinah Shore will be on its network next season with four evening variety specials and three daytime shows especially designed for the feminine audience.

The singer is under a long-term NBC contract, so some complicated negotiations to release her have been under way.

An NBC special about the Indianapolis Speedway and the big Memorial Day auto race is scheduled for May 28.

RECOMMENDED TONIGHT: "Once Upon a Savage Night," NBC, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time) — Suspense tale of a mad killer, with chase scenes photographed in and around Chicago with special film previously used in space missile projects.

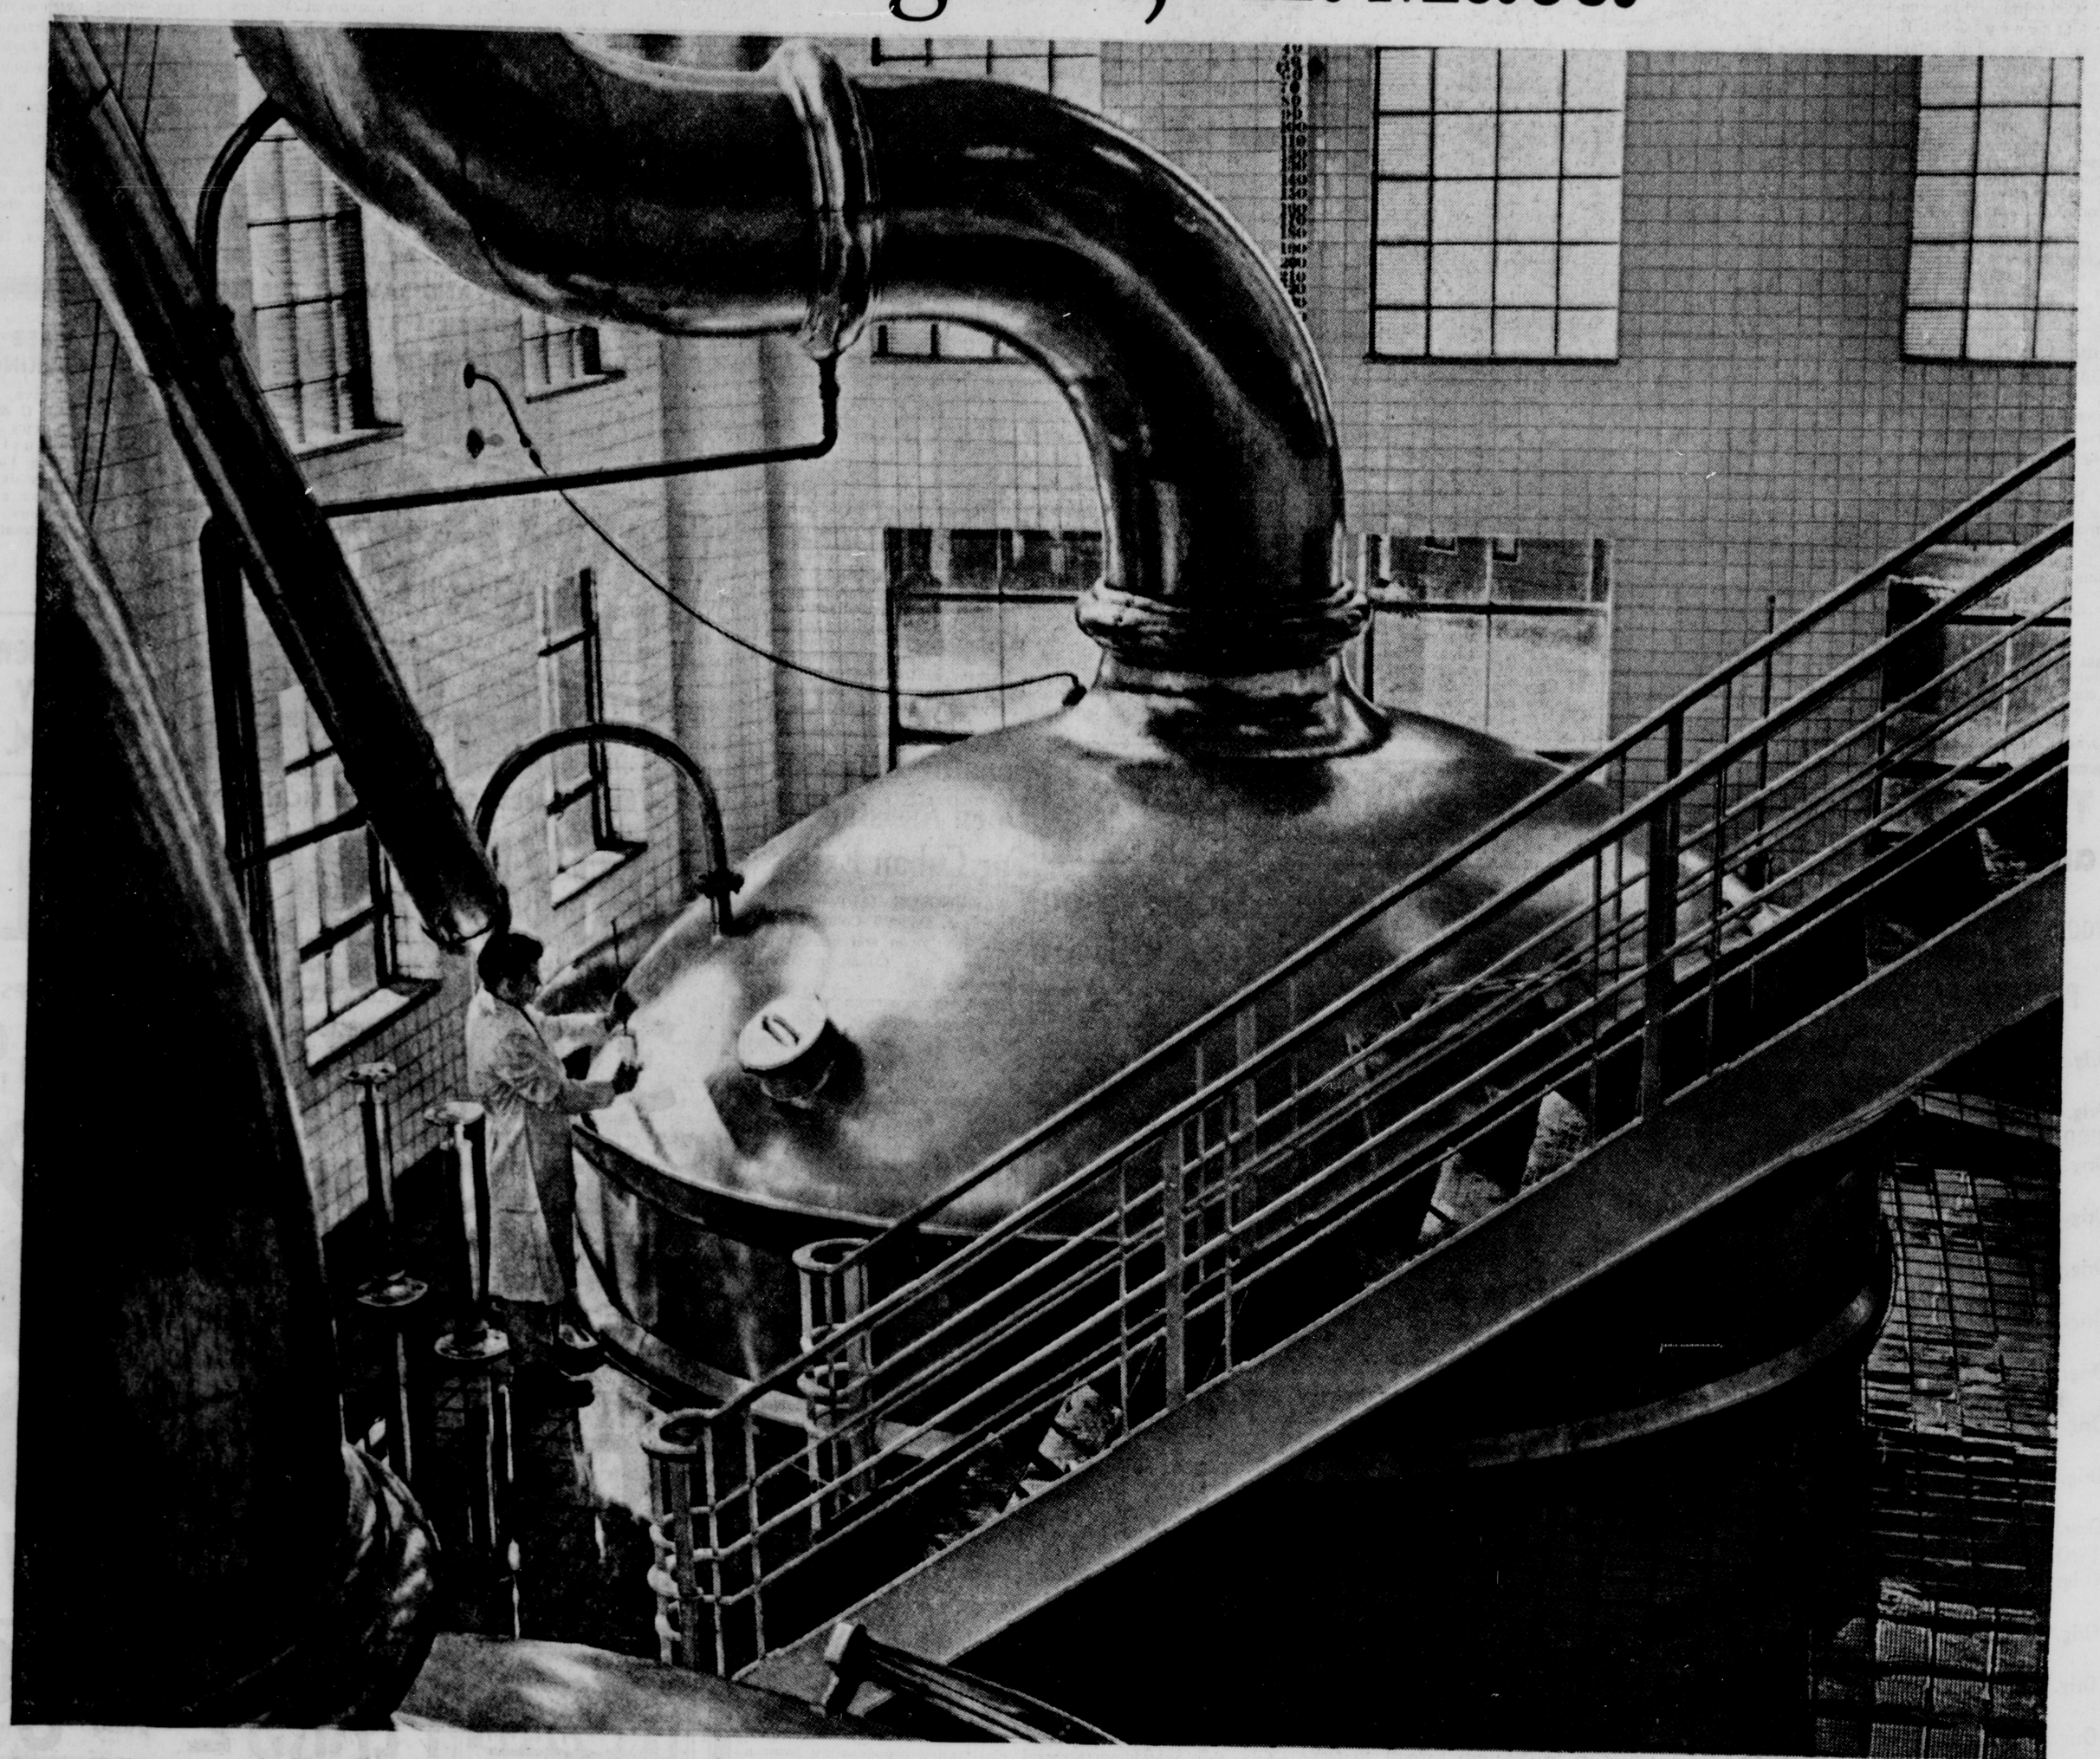
"I don't get it, Mr. Matt."



©THE WEST END BREWING COMPANY OF UTICA, NEW YORK

"I thought your beer was 50 years behind the times."

That's what some gentleman said to me the other day when I was showing him through the brewery.

Since our beer is 50 years behind the times, he expected to find a brewery that was 50 years behind the times too.

I got quite a kick out of that. Because ours happens to be one of the most beautiful and up-to-date breweries in the whole country.

This shows you a small part of the brew house.

It was my father's pride and joy.

He spent much of the last years of his life planning this new brew house, and personally overseeing its construction. (And I mean personally.) I have a hunch that this is what kept him going until the age of 99. He felt that his life's work wouldn't be done until that brew house was.

My father had some strong convictions about beer.

He had learned the trade in the celebrated brewery of the Duke of Baden in the Black Forest of Germany. And the methods he learned were the methods that had been handed down from the Benedictine monks of St. Blasien who had originally founded the brewery.

Up to the day he died, my father felt that many of the old ways were still the best ways to make beer (although they were certainly not the fastest).

He believed in the natural way of making beer. He felt that beer should be made only from the harvest.

In later years, when many breweries turned to using syrups and extracts as a convenience, my father would have none of it, because he would never put anything into his beer that he could not personally check the quality of. To this day, only whole grain is ever used in Utica Club beer. No commercial syrups or extracts.

But my father was not an impractical man. He realized that it was no longer necessary to have men trudging up the stairs with sacks of barley malt on their backs, the way they used to do it in the old days.

He could see no reason why things like this couldn't be handled efficiently in a modern brewery, as long as it didn't sacrifice the integrity of the beer.

That was his whole idea when he designed our new brew house.

What a field day he had.

He started from scratch, and laid out the brew house just the way he wanted to, incorporating the best methods he had learned over a lifetime, from the old world and the new.

It has the finest equipment that money can buy. It gleams with polished brass and copper and stainless steel and tile, and it is a joy to keep spotless. It has every scientific control to help us turn out a beer that tastes exactly the same from month to month.

But it is based on the old way of making beer.

Let me elaborate.

Natural beer vs. artificial bubbles.

It may surprise you to learn that many of the beers in the U.S. today are artificially carbonated. (What they do is inject carbon dioxide under pressure into the beer while it is in the storage tank.) This makes it possible for a brewer to reduce the aging time to 2 or 3 weeks and still turn out a beer with "life."

When you see Utica Club on the label, you can rest assured that your bottle of beer has a natural life of its own—not artificial bubbles.

To create this natural life, our beer must be aged for months instead of for weeks. Not in a bottle in a warehouse, you understand, but in glass-lined refrigerated tanks, under close supervision.

Natural aging is a very expensive proposition, requiring 3 or 4 times as much storage space, 3 or 4 times as many of the huge glass-lined tanks, and 3 or 4 times as much refrigeration capacity. (In other words, a very substantial investment in extra equipment to turn out the same quantity of beer.)

Even more important, the extra aging ties up thousands of barrels of beer (representing a big chunk of the brewer's working capital).

Does all this trouble really pay?

You have to be something of a saint to do it. Especially during the warm weather months, when the dealers are hollering for their beer. It takes a very stubborn man to tell them they can't have their beer because it hasn't been aged enough yet. But my father was a very stubborn man.

And my wife tells me I take after him.

What a difference it makes in the taste of a glass of beer when it's made like this.

It has mellowness and it has character. There is absolutely no bitterness. The head is thick and creamy, and it leaves a nice lace collar on the side of the glass going down. The aftertaste is clean and pleasant.

Perhaps now you can understand how we can make a beer that's "50 years behind the times," sell it at a reasonable price, and still afford to stay in business.

What a field day he had.

He started from scratch, and laid out the brew house just the way he wanted to, incorporating the best methods he had learned over a lifetime, from the old world and the new.

It has the finest equipment that money can buy. It gleams with polished brass and copper and stainless steel and tile, and it is a joy to keep spotless. It has every scientific control to help us turn out a beer that tastes exactly the same from month to month.

But it is based on the old way of making beer.

Let me elaborate.

Natural beer vs. artificial bubbles.

It may surprise you to learn that many of the beers in the U.S. today are artificially carbonated. (What they do is inject carbon dioxide under pressure into the beer while it is in the storage tank.) This makes it possible for a brewer to reduce the aging time to 2 or 3 weeks and still turn out a beer with "life."

When you see Utica Club on the label, you can rest assured that your bottle of beer has a natural life of its own—not artificial bubbles.

To create this natural life, our beer must be aged for months instead of for weeks. Not in a bottle in a warehouse, you understand, but in glass-lined refrigerated tanks, under close supervision.

Natural aging is a very expensive proposition, requiring 3 or 4 times as much storage space, 3 or 4 times as many of the huge glass-lined tanks, and 3 or 4 times as much refrigeration capacity. (In other words, a very substantial investment in extra equipment to turn out the same quantity of beer.)

Even more important, the extra aging ties up thousands of barrels of beer (representing a big chunk of the brewer's working capital).

Does all this trouble really pay?

You have to be something of a saint to do it. Especially during the warm weather months, when the dealers are hollering for their beer. It takes a very stubborn man to tell them they can't have their beer because it hasn't been aged enough yet. But my father was a very stubborn man.

And my wife tells me I take after him.

What a difference it makes in the taste of a glass of beer when it's made like this.

It has mellowness and it has character. There is absolutely no bitterness. The head is thick and creamy, and it leaves a nice lace collar on the side of the glass going down. The aftertaste is clean and pleasant.

Perhaps now you can understand how we can make a beer that's "50 years behind the times," sell it at a reasonable price, and still afford to stay in business.

Erie Endorses Doerr To Oppose Mahoney

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Erie County Democratic Executive Committee has endorsed Attorney John H. Doerr's candidacy for the State Senate seat held by Republican Walter J. Mahoney, the Senate majority leader.

The county's GOP leadership, feuding with Mahoney, refused last month to endorse him for re-election. Mahoney said he still would go after the Republican nomination in the June 2 primary.

His feud with local Republicans stems from state appointments to local judgeships.

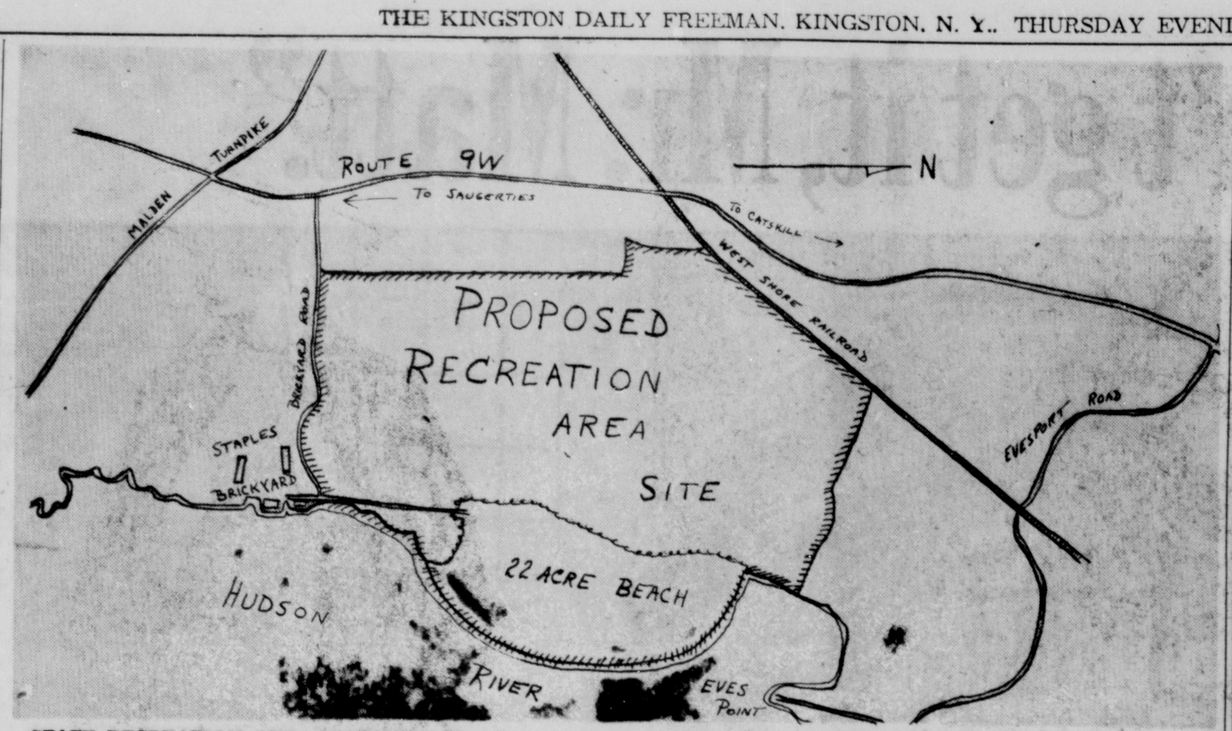
Thought Rifle Empty

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) —Police say a 16-year-old boy told them he accidentally shot a friend to death with a rifle, believing the weapon was not loaded.

John Harris reported Wednesday he pulled the trigger several times before the rifle discharged, killing Frederick Serianni, 15, of Niagara Falls, police said.

The shooting occurred Wednesday in Harris' home here.

Israel is turning ancient ruins into living towns. The 10th city in 40 centuries is rising at Arad, and a cooperative farm village adjoins the ruins of En-gedi on the Dead Sea.



STATE RECREATION AREA PROPOSED—The State Conservation Department will spend in excess of $2 million on a state recreation area if the site above is approved and arrangements for rights of ways and easements are negotiable. The proposed site — 121 acres with a 22-acre beach — is situated about two miles north of the Village of Saugerties in the Hamlet of Malden between Route 9W and the Hudson River. The site is the old Malden Brickyard owned by Terry Staples. It has been unofficially reported that Staples has offered the state a substantial donation of land for the project. A problem which is in negotiation is an additional access road from the northwest which must be built to go under the West Shore Railroad trestle. Map shows natural cove north of the beach area, which would be suitable for the establishment of a marina. The recreation area will provide facilities for swimming, camping, picnics and boating. Announcement that the Conservation Department was more than casually interested in the brickyard site was made Tuesday by State Sen. E. Ogden Bush, (R) Walton and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, (R) Woodstock. Sen. Bush is chairman of the Senate's Conservation Committee. Supervisor Peter M. Williams of Saugerties, who is chairman of Ulster County Board of Supervisors has for several years been advocating establishment of a state recreation area for Ulster County and particularly for Saugerties. Devils Tombstone, a rather limited facility, is the only state campsite in the county. Greene County has the spacious North Lake Campsite at Haines Falls and Columbia County has Taconic State Park, southwest of Hudson. Dutchess County has Baird State Park. The map above was prepared by Albert J. Cawein, Freeman staff writer, a former resident of Malden.

Names in the News

BELLINGRATH GARDENS, Ala. (AP)—"It's kind of complicated but if you'll move this little deal here, then push down on this little doo-hickey..."

Cecil Beaton of London nodded gravely, then snapped a picture of a lady tourist who posed among the azaleas in this lovely garden south of Mobile.

The tourist, unknowingly, had enlisted the help of the man who was official photographer at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

"If it comes out well, she'll probably think it was just a lucky break," said Beaton.

LONDON (AP) — Playwright Shelagh Delaney is a new mother, but she's not saying whether she's also a wife.

"Yes, it's true, I've just had a baby," the 25-year-old author of "A Taste of Honey" told callers at her apartment Wednesday.

"I've announced the birth. But that's as far as I'm going. I don't want to discuss it any more."

The baby, born March 4, is named Charlotte Joan Delaney.

TOKYO (AP)—Edwin O. Reischauer, U.S. ambassador to Japan, sat up in bed today for the first time since he was stabbed by a mentally retarded Japanese youth March 24.

A bulletin issued by the Tokyo hospital where Reischauer is being treated said "the ambassador's condition continues to improve."

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, who was stricken with Parkinson's disease last fall, has announced his resignation as presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States.

The 64-year-old bishop said Wednesday night he had been unable to overcome speech difficulties caused by the disease.

Voter Support of Bond Issue At OCS Urged by Dr. Sullivan

In spite of recent voter approval for elementary buildings in the Onteora Central Schools District, additional high school rooms are needed to continue a good educational program, Superintendent of Schools George R. Sullivan said today.

Dr. Sullivan presented several facts to support this thesis.

"There are 1500 elementary pupils in school now," he said. "The high school has a capacity of 900 students. The high school enrollment is increasing at the rate of 70 students per year. When the proposed high school addition is ready for occupancy in the fall of 1966, there were will be at least 1172 high school pupils.

"It is interesting to note," Dr. Sullivan added, "that this year's senior class has 112 graduates while the kindergarten for this year has 225. To wait until these students overcrowd existing facilities any further, as was done for elementary schools, is to repeat a folly which resulted in increased class size, half-day sessions, and substandard educational opportunities for the children in the district.

Student Achievement

"The history of expenditure for education in Onteora has produced achievement by students at both elementary and secondary levels well above the average for pupils in New York State," said Dr. Sullivan, adding that "taxpayers have provided the financial support to make this possible."

"Our high school is one of the few schools in this section of the state approved by the Middle States Accrediting Association," he added. "A statement to this effect goes on every transcript sent to colleges for admission purposes thus lending status to these applications which other students do not enjoy. A repetition of approval by this agency is questionable unless more high school rooms are provided."

Dr. Sullivan went on to say that Onteora is known as a "flat grant" district because of its high value of real property per pupil. It does not receive more state aid because of its spending pattern but only because it is growing in numbers of pupils. "Operational State Aid", he pointed out is based on $180 per pupil. Aid for debt service on buildings is based in the school district's aid ratio which will average 22 percent over the next few years. Thus the high school addition will cost an annual average in principal and interest of $95,000 minus state aid for a total of $74,100.

Translated into tax rates, said Dr. Sullivan, this means a cost to taxpayers per $1,000 assessed valuation as follows: Woodstock, $5.43; Lexington, $1.24; Shandaken, $2.35; Olive, $5.43; Hurley, $2.94; Marbletown, $2.59.

Need for Increase

"Society needs an increasing number of peole with a good basic education," said Dr. Sullivan. "This foundation in education must take place in elementary and secondary schools like ours throughout the country if we are able to remain a great nation. Adequate facilities are needed to do this job properly.

"The cost of supporting poorly educated people falls on the shoulders of society in general," he added. "The current national campaign to re-educate 'dropouts' is evidence of the 'remedial' approach to education and more costly than providing a good education in the first place.

Dr. Sullivan concluded his statement by saying: "Your support at the polls on April 8 is respectfully requested so that the children of this school district can leave high school ready to compete with pupils from other districts who are attending school full time in adequate facilities."

Rebuts Position Of the Taxpayers

The following letter dealing with the forthcoming bond issue in the Onteora Central Schools District has been submitted by Florence Hubbard:

"As a taxpayer on a fixed income and an individual vitally interested in education, I would like to take this opportunity to correct certain misstatements made by the Woodstock Taxpayers Association opposing the forthcoming bond issue.

"1. The school authorities have clearly stated that room in the elementary schools for Junior High school students will only be available for one, possibly two, years. After that we will be back to the necessity for double sessions.

"2. There is no 'zeal' on the part of the school authorities for 'the best.' All they are asking for are adequate facilities.

"3. A bond issue is not "a sedative in lieu of substantial immediate increase in real property taxes.' It is the only legal way in which a school system can raise money for long-term construction projects.

"4. The necessity for additional high school classrooms in 1966 has been clearly demonstrated and the time to act on it is now, since it will take two years to construct this addition. 'To make haste slowly' is merely another way of doing nothing. To plan ahead on firm figures is the proper way to avoid constant emergencies and the school authorities are to be commended for facing facts courageously and putting them before the voters —FLORENCE T. HUBBARD."

Fire Auxiliary Is Planning Trip To World's Fair

A trip to the World's Fair, plans for the Memorial Day parade, and another resuscitation practice, was on the agenda of the Ladies Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 meeting at the firehouse in Lake Hill Tuesday.

On Saturday, June 20, the Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a bus trip to the World's Fair. The bus will leave the Village Green in Woodstock at 7:30 a. m. Reservations are now being made with Mrs. Alfred Ostrander of Willow. The price of the trip will include a general admission ticket to the World's Fair.

Plans to participate in the Memorial Day parade in Woodstock were also made by the Auxiliary. Arthur Smith, president of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, had previously announced that the Lake Hill company was considering entry in the annual parade in Woodstock village, as a unit. This, according to Smith, would include the active members of No. 3 company, members of the Ladies Auxiliary, Boy Scout Troop 62 sponsored by the Company, and the Brownies, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary. This would give the four organizations that are a part of the Lake Hill company, representation in the parade.

Hold Session

One practice session with the new resuscitator recently placed in service by Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 has already been held by the Ladies Auxiliary. A second session to familiarize the ladies organization with the operation of the machine is now scheduled for Tuesday, April 28, under the direction of Captain Alfred Ostrander and Henry P. Eighmey.

A report on the recent bus trip to New York City, sponsored by the ladies, indicated a successful project.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harrison Lapo and Mrs. Bruce Taylor, with Mrs. Alfred Ostrander and Mrs. Merlin Wilbur on the committee for April.

Senator Demands Open Assistance For Cuban Exiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., today demanded "open and increasing assistance" to Cuban freedom fighters.

Dodd, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, predicted that in the not too distant future Cuba "will be the scene of another popular revolt against Communist bestiality" and declared:

"And on the day when the pent-up wrath of the Cuban people explodes, our action or inaction may make the difference between victory or defeat."

Without mentioning Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dodd took sharp issue with Fulbright's Senate speech last week urging a change in Cuban policy.

Fulbright suggested that Fidel Castro's Cuba should be looked upon as "a distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger." While Fulbright said Castro communism posed a "grave threat" to other Latin-American nations, he contended this could be dealt with by prompt and vigorous use of antiaggression machinery of the Organization of American States.

Dodd described as a "fallacy of the do-nothing policy" any argument that "the Castro regime, while admittedly a nuisance, does not pose any mortal threat to our security."

Would Silence Radio

GENEVA (AP)—The International Telecommunication Union is going to ask the government of Panama to help silence Radio Caroline, the commercial station broadcasting from a converted ferry off the English coast.

The union said the ship, which is anchored nine miles offshore in international waters, flies the Panamanian flag. The British government, which bans private and commercial broadcasting in Britain, asked the union to help close the Caroline.

The union is a specialized agency of the United Nations which allocates radio frequencies under a worldwide agreement. Its intervention led to the withdrawal of the Panamnian flag from radio station ships broadcasting off the coast of the Netherlands and off the coast of Denmark, but both are still operating.

Czechs Halt Jamming

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia has stopped jamming the Czechoslovak language broadcasts of the Voice of America, apparently as the result of talks between U.S. and Czechoslovak diplomats on ways of improving relations, diplomatic sources in Belgrade report.

The sources said Bulgaria and East Germany are the only Soviet bloc countries that continue to jam almost all Western broadcasts.

Voter Support of Bond Issue At OCS Urged by Dr. Sullivan

In spite of recent voter approval for elementary buildings in the Onteora Central Schools District, additional high school rooms are needed to continue a good educational program, Superintendent of Schools George R. Sullivan said today.

Dr. Sullivan presented several facts to support this thesis.

"There are 1500 elementary pupils in school now," he said. "The high school has a capacity of 900 students. The high school enrollment is increasing at the rate of 70 students per year. When the proposed high school addition is ready for occupancy in the fall of 1966, there were will be at least 1172 high school pupils.

"It is interesting to note," Dr. Sullivan added, "that this year's senior class has 112 graduates while the kindergarten for this year has 225. To wait until these students overcrowd existing facilities any further, as was done for elementary schools, is to repeat a folly which resulted in increased class size, half-day sessions, and substandard educational opportunities for the children in the district.

Student Achievement

"The history of expenditure for education in Onteora has produced achievement by students at both elementary and secondary levels well above the average for pupils in New York State," said Dr. Sullivan, adding that "taxpayers have provided the financial support to make this possible."

"Our high school is one of the few schools in this section of the state approved by the Middle States Accrediting Association," he added. "A statement to this effect goes on every transcript sent to colleges for admission purposes thus lending status to these applications which other students do not enjoy. A repetition of approval by this agency is questionable unless more high school rooms are provided."

Dr. Sullivan went on to say that Onteora is known as a "flat grant" district because of its high value of real property per pupil. It does not receive more state aid because of its spending pattern but only because it is growing in numbers of pupils. "Operational State Aid", he pointed out is based on $180 per pupil. Aid for debt service on buildings is based in the school district's aid ratio which will average 22 percent over the next few years. Thus the high school addition will cost an annual average in principal and interest of $95,000 minus state aid for a total of $74,100.

Translated into tax rates, said Dr. Sullivan, this means a cost to taxpayers per $1,000 assessed valuation as follows: Woodstock, $5.43; Lexington, $1.24; Shandaken, $2.35; Olive, $5.43; Hurley, $2.94; Marbletown, $2.59.

Need for Increase

"Society needs an increasing number of peole with a good basic education," said Dr. Sullivan. "This foundation in education must take place in elementary and secondary schools like ours throughout the country if we are able to remain a great nation. Adequate facilities are needed to do this job properly.

"The cost of supporting poorly educated people falls on the shoulders of society in general," he added. "The current national campaign to re-educate 'drop-outs' is evidence of the 'remedial' approach to education and more costly than providing a good education in the first place.

Dr. Sullivan concluded his statement by saying: "Your support at the polls on April 8 is respectfully requested so that the children of this school district can leave high school ready to compete with pupils from other districts who are attending school full time in adequate facilities."

Rebuts Position Of the Taxpayers

The following letter dealing with the forthcoming bond issue in the Onteora Central Schools District has been submitted by Florence Hubbard:

"As a taxpayer on a fixed income and an individual vitally interested in education, I would like to take this opportunity to correct certain misstatements made by the Woodstock Taxpayers Association opposing the forthcoming bond issue.

"1. The school authorities have clearly stated that room in the elementary schools for Junior High school students will only be available for one, possibly two, years. After that we will be back to the necessity for double sessions.

"2. There is no 'zeal' on the part of the school authorities for 'the best.' All they are asking for are adequate facilities.

"3. A bond issue is not "a sedative in lieu of substantial immediate increase in real property taxes.' It is the only legal way in which a school system can raise money for long-term construction projects.

"4. The necessity for additional high school classrooms in 1966 has been clearly demonstrated and the time to act on it is now, since it will take two years to construct this addition. 'To make haste slowly' is merely another way of doing nothing. To plan ahead on firm figures is the proper way to avoid constant emergencies and the school authorities are to be commended for facing facts courageously and putting them before the voters —FLORENCE T. HUBBARD."

Fire Auxiliary Is Planning Trip To World's Fair

A trip to the World's Fair, plans for the Memorial Day parade, and another resuscitation practice, was on the agenda of the Ladies Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 meeting at the firehouse in Lake Hill Tuesday.

On Saturday, June 20, the Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a bus trip to the World s Fair. The bus will leave the Village Green in Woodstock at 7:30 a. m. Reservations are now being made with Mrs. Alfred Ostrander of Willow. The price of the trip will include a general admission ticket to the World's Fair.

Plans to participate in the Memorial Day parade in Woodstock were also made by the Auxiliary. Arthur Smith, president of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, had previously announced that the Lake Hill company was considering entry in the annual parade in Woodstock village, as a unit. This, according to Smith, would include the active members of No. 3 company, members of the Ladies Auxiliary, Boy Scout Troop 62 sponsored by the Company, and the Brownies, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary. This would give the four organizations that are a part of the Lake Hill company, representation in the parade.

Hold Session

One practice session with the new resuscitator recently placed in service by Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 has already been held by the Ladies Auxiliary. A second session to familiarize the ladies organization with the operation of the machine is now scheduled for Tuesday, April 28, under the direction of Captain Alfred Ostrander and Henry P. Eighmey.

A report on the recent bus trip to New York City, sponsored by the ladies, indicated a successful project.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harrison Lapo and Mrs. Bruce Taylor, with Mrs. Alfred Ostrander and Mrs. Merlin Wilbur on the committee for April.

Senator Demands Open Assistance For Cuban Exiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., today demanded "open and increasing assistance" to Cuban freedom fighters.

Dodd, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, predicted that in the not too distant future Cuba "will be the scene of another popular revolt against Communist bestiality" and declared:

"And on the day when the pent-up wrath of the Cuban people explodes, our action or inaction may make the difference between victory or defeat."

Without mentioning Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dodd took sharp issue with Fulbright's Senate speech last week urging a change in Cuban policy.

Fulbright suggested that Fidel Castro's Cuba should be looked upon as "a distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger." While Fulbright said Castro communism posed a "grave threat" to other Latin-American nations, he contended this could be dealt with by prompt and vigorous use of antiaggression machinery of the Organization of American States.

Dodd described as a "fallacy of the do-nothing policy" any argument that "the Castro regime, while admittedly a nuisance, does not pose any mortal threat to our security."

Would Silence Radio

GENEVA (AP)—The International Telecommunication Union is going to ask the government of Panama to help silence Radio Caroline, the commercial station broadcasting from a converted ferry off the English coast.

The union said the ship, which is anchored nine miles offshore in international waters, flies the Panamanian flag. The British government, which bans private and commercial broadcasting in Britain, asked the union to help close the Caroline.

The union is a specialized agency of the United Nations which allocates radio frequencies under a worldwide agreement. Its intervention led to the withdrawal of the Panamnian flag from radio station ships broadcasting off the coast of the Netherlands and off the coast of Denmark, but both are still operating.

Czechs Halt Jamming

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia has stopped jamming the Czechoslovak language broadcasts of the Voice of America, apparently as the result of talks between U.S. and Czechoslovak diplomats on ways of improving relations, diplomatic sources in Belgrade report.

The sources said Bulgaria and East Germany are the only Soviet bloc countries that continue to jam almost all Western broadcasts.

Gallery Ten Plans Lebrun Memorial

The Gallery Ten, Inc. of Mount Vernon and Woodstock announces a Fifth Anniversary Exhibition of the works of Rico Lebrun from April 5 through May 2 at the Gallery Ten in Mount Vernon.

The preview is set for Sunday form 4 to 6 p. m. The exhibition also includes selected watercolors by Robert Andrew Parker.

Dutchess Slates 3 Special Sessions For April Court

Three special sessions of court are scheduled in April at Poughkeepsie, in an effort to cut down the backlog of cases pending in Dutchess County Supreme Court.

A court calendar clerk reported 1,006 jury trials are pending in Supreme Court, in addition to 52 non-jury cases.

Justice Joseph F. Gagliardi, Westchester County, will be presiding justice at the special term. Dutchess County Surrogate W. Vincent Grady and Putnam County Judge Fred A. Dickinson will preside at other sessions, all of which will be held at the county courthouse in Poughkeepsie.

It was reported that the April Supreme Court calendar lists 400 cases. A jury panel of 300 will be drawn instead of the usual 100 to 150.

Supervisor Thomas D. Mahar, (D-Town of Poughkeepsie), chairman of the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors, said the supervisors' room will be converted into a courtroom in an effort to speed up the disposition of cases. Mahar said installation of a jury box in the supervisors' room at the courthouse is nearing completion.

Boy Shot in Thigh Playing With Ammo

While playing with live ammunition at the home of relatives in North Chatham on Wednesday, James Himick, 5, of Yonkers, was accidentally shot in the right thigh. He was taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital, where the bullet was removed.

The boy's condition was reported good.

Claverack State Police said the boy hit a .22 caliber shell with a hammer, while playing with a cousin, Richard Quimby, 9, of North Chatham. The shell exploded and wounded the Yonkers boy, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Himick. They had been staying at the Quimby home during the Easter holiday.

Slain New Yorker Former Inmate At Green Haven

An ex-convict who was shot four times and then run over by a car in which his slayers escaped in New York City Tuesday night, was a former inmate at Green Haven Prison in Dutchess County.

Deputy Police Inspector Michael J. Clifford of New York City, described the victim, Daniel Paul Iglesia, of 217 Mulberry Street, New York, as "just a punk." Iglesia was convicted of two robbery charges in the Bronx and sentenced in 1954 to six to 12 years in Green Haven prison. He was paroled in 1961.

The State Parole Board said Iglesia, 33, had worked since his release from prison as a construction laborer and housewrecker.

Iglesia was slain in a gangland-style shooting at Avenue D and 12th Street, New York City. Witnesses said as a fourth shot rang out, a door of a speeding car swung open and Iglesia was thrown to the pavement. The car circled the block, returned and ran over Iglesia.

Summons Premiers

Women Voters To Hear About Apportionment

Do you know what apportionment is and what it means to you? How does this system affect you as a citizen of New York State and Ulster County? This will be the discussion topic for the April 8 meeting of the Saugerties Provisional League of Women Voters at 8 p. m. in Saugerties Methodist Sunday School Room, Post Street.

Mrs. John Oakley, apportionment chairman, reports the committee has finished studying the history of apportionment in the federal government and in New York State. This preliminary study will serve as background material for the League's more extensive study of the complex problems of apportionment and some of the different ways these problems might be solved. The Apportionment Committee will present a program to the League members on this most important question utilizing the many historical documents necessary to understand the history of apportionment, what it is and what it means to each of us.

Beginning in April, the Saugerties Provisional League of Women Voters will change its meeting place to the Methodist Church in Saugerties. Guests are cordially invited to this meeting.

Type Gremlins Place Snow Here In June of 1963

Type gremlins transposed February into June Tuesday night in an account of the burglary in the office of Maranda Inc., Livingston Street, Saugerties reported to police in February of 1963.

In the story it was reported that footprints in the snow led investigators from the street to the roof. It inadvertently reported the burglary as of June 12, 1963, thus inferring that snow was on the ground at that time.

No Miss Dunne, there was no snow in Saugerties on June 12.

The account reported that James Henry McKnight, 29, of Route 4, Saugerties, also known as Buster Carney, who was charged by police for involvement in the break-in, pleaded not guilty in County Court Monday. A $1,718.42 payroll was taken from the premises, village police reported.

Town Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Saban and son, Martin Jr., of Edgewood Drive, Windemere and their niece Miss Patricia Tiano of Brewster Street, Kingston spent the Easter holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGann and family at Silver Springs, Md. While there they visited the principal public buildings and historic sites in the national capital. Mr. and Mrs. McGann are former residents of Windemere.

Priest Brings Bright Lights Of Broadway to Upstate Area

By OTTO DOELLING

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Charles Borgognoni has gone legitimate in a big way. But he still speaks nostalgically of the days when he reverently made "heists" in New York City's theater district.

Through it all his work has remained glitteringly above board and he has continued to be on the side of the angels, literally and figuratively.

The Rev. Charles Borgognoni at 41 has thinning hair and is tending toward portliness. He never has had any formal dramatic training and cannot read a note of music. Yet he has a contagious spark that for 15 years has produced musical shows of a quality unusual among amateur troupes. Syracuse loves them and proves it at the box office.

Showman and Priest

Father Borgognoni (pronounced Bor-go-nyoni) is a rare blend of showman and Roman Catholic priest.

The priest is never far removed from the showman. This was illustrated during a recent rehearsal for his May production here of "Bye Bye Birdie," which will have six performances in a downtown movie theater.

One moment the teen-agers in his chorus stood with heads bowed and recited the opening prayer: "Our Father who art in Heaven. . ."

The next moment, they were belting out the show number: ". . .What's the story, Morning Glory. . ."

Father Charles adroitly bridges the gap between "Amen" and the opening bars of an earthy, popular tune, and he sees no conflict in his dual role.

In his view, God manifests his presence in many ways and in many places — even inside a theater and even if the actor on stage is portraying the devil. Such was the case in Father Charles' 1960 production of "Damn Yankees."

"When the house lights go out," he said, "I live in another world. What causes this: the combined efforts of many talents. . .if they, in a three-hour production, can captivate the mind and emotions — they who are but shadows of the Creator —what must it be like to be in the presence of the divine Creator, who has produced the drama of life."

Theater Explains Heaven

Thus does Father Charles use the theater to explain his idea of Heaven.

For 14 of the last 15 years, Father Charles' troupe has also been his flock — youthful members of Our Lady of Pompey parish on Syracuse's North Side. He was appointed Roman Catholic chaplain at Syracuse University last year, but he continues to direct the Pompeian Players.

Since 1949, Father Charles estimated, the church, the shows' angel, has been made more than $100,000 richer by the Players' productions.

When Father Charles first took over the troupe, the annual productions were, in his words, the "usual parish fare" — variety numbers.

But soon, Father Charles was making trips to Broadway theaters to glean staging ideas from musical shows. These he converted for use in the parish, reviews, which gradually evolved to virtually full-blown productions.

He said he carefully avoided making complete steals that would have violated the copyright law.

Almost Stopped the Show

Nevertheless, the curtain almost rang down on the Pompeian Players in 1955 when he decided to produce a sizable chunk of "Pajama Game."

Three hours before curtain time he received a telegram from the lawyer of the producers of the Broadway show.

"Cease and desist immediately or you will be criminally and civilly libeled," advised the lawyer, who somehow had gotten wind of the Syracuse production.

Father Charles said he "really was scared."

The priest made a frantic call to the producers' office. He argued that far from hurting the show, which had not yet formed a road company, the Pompeian Players actually were helping the theater in general by making a large segment of Central New York's population show-conscious. Between 10,000 and 15,000 persons view his shows annually.

He won the argument and the show went on. Furthermore, the Players did not have to pay royalties that year.

Had to Go Forward

"I could see how we were going," he said. "We either had to pay royalties or revert back to the song and dance routines. I thought we shouldn't go backwards."

Forward he went, and in succeeding years the Pompeian Players put on "Of Thee I Sing," "South Pacific," "Guys and Dolls," "Damn Yankees," "Oklahoma", "Bells Are Ringing" and "The Music Man."

The shows have grossed more than $40,000, on the average. Between $18,000 and $20,000 of the total for each show has been profit, he said.

Father Charles attributes his success to the "Help of God and the dedication of many devoted people."

Columbia Trial

Sentence Teeners 20 Years to Life In Holdup Death

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Two New York City teenagers have been sentenced to serve 20 years to life for stabbing a 69-year-old woman to death during a holdup.

Paul Martin and Nathan Giles, both 16, wept as they heard the sentence pronounced Wednesday by Judge William F. Christiana of Columbia County Court.

They were sent to the Department of Correction Reception Center, Elmira, where officials will determine the institution to which the pair will be sent.

The teen-agers pleaded guilty last month to reduced charges of second-degree murder in the screwdriver slaying of Mrs. Harriet Hoyt in her Manhattan apartment a year ago.

Their trial was moved from New York City because the defense contended a fair trial there had been impeded by a television broadcast of an interview with the boys during their arrest.

Udall Recommend 'See Alaska Year' To Speed Recovery

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall has recommended travel by outsiders to Alaska to help that state recover from its recent earthquake.

At a news conference here Wednesday, Udall said vacationers can contribute toward economic recovery there by "making this the year to see Alaska."

Udall was here for a regional outdoor recreation conference.

Legend says the when Turkish soldiers successfully stormed the walls of Constantinople in 1453, the Byzantine leaders were busy arguing whether angels were male or female.

Budget, Bill Ready When Solons Returns

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today hearings on the motor fund budget will begin and the $1 billion general fund appropriation bill will be introduced as soon as the Pennsylvania General Assembly reconvenes May 4.

Both the House and Senate are in recess to permit members to campaign in the April 28 primary election.

"We will have all the bugs worked out of the general fund bill by then," said Rep. Blaine C. Hocker, R-Dauphin.

"And we will be ready to take a look at the highways motor fund program at the same time."

Hocker said his committee had delayed introduction and action on the big appropriation bill, the major part of the $1.168 billion spending program to begin July 1, to clear up some technicalities and to see how tax income was faring.

May Continue Talks

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Wang Ping-nan, Red Chinese ambassador to Poland, is expected to leave for Peking after April 8, the date for his 22nd session of secret talks with a representative of the United States.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said, "There is no information at this time to indicate that the talks will not continue here" with a new Chinese ambassador.

Both sides have maintained strict secrecy on the prolonged talks, which Wang began in Geneva in 1955. The talks are generally credited with helping to ease the 1958 and 1962 crises over the Formosa Strait.

License plate for passenger cars throughout the 50 states were set at a standard size of six by 12 inches in 1958.

Judge Misses Thief

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Municipal Court Judge Harry Brauer, who has faced many a thief across the bar of justice, just missed facing another one in his chambers.

While he was on the bench, the judge's wallet containing $30 was taken from the pocket of his coat he had left in his chambers.

HONORED—Former U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett has been named 1964 recipient of the Sylvanus Thayer Award by the U.S. Military Academy's Association of Graduates. Lovett, a public servant for 30 years and Defense secretary under President Truman, was presented the award because his accomplishments exemplify devotion to the ideals expressed in the West Point motto, "Duty, Honor, Country."

Rehab Services In Insurance Plans Suggested

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Many victims of strokes are prevented from being rehabilitated because of provisions of their hospitalization insurance contracts, the New York State Heart Assembly says.

Delegates to the Assembly's annual convention approved a resolution Wednesday calling for "inclusion of physical medicine and rehabilitation services incorporated in all existing (hospital insurance) plans registered in New York State."

The assembly said many stroke victims who entered hospitals for physical medicine and rehabilitation had hospital insurance, from non-profit and commercial companies, that excluded coverage for such treatment.

As a result, said the assembly, many patients who could not privately afford such services were, in effect, barred from obtaining rehabilitation.

Capitol News in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

WHITE HOUSE - SHAKESPEARE: The White House observed the 400th anniversary of William Shakespeare's birth Wednesday with a special performance of scenes from "The Taming of The Shrew."

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and daughters Lynda Bird and Luci Baines were joined by 200 children of members of Congress in the East Ballroom for the wooing and wedding scenes of the Shakespeare play, performed by the Catholic University Players.

SILVER CERTIFICATES: A Federal Reserve official says the government will probably stop issuing $1 silver certificates next summer.

The $1 silver certificates are being replaced with the new $1 Federal Reserve note authorized by Congress last year.

Even after issuance of silver certificates stops, it will be some time before they disappear from circulation. A dollar bill lasts an average of 18 months, but some last longer.

The Treasury plans to continue issuing $5 silver notes.

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA: The U. S. Information Agency says Communist propaganda aimed at the West reached a record high of 4,288 hours a week in 1963.

This represents an 11 per cent increase over 1962, USIA said Wednesday.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City Planning Board of the City of Kingston, New York, will hold a public hearing on the Broadway East Renewal Project on the 8th day of April, 1964, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of that day, in the Common Council Chambers in the City Hall, 408 Broadway, Kingston, New York.

The City of Kingston as the Local Public Agency will be responsible for the undertaking of the project. The project area consists of all that land within the Boundary lines shown in the attached map designated as Map BE 1, Project Boundary.

The purpose of this hearing is to consider a proposal for the undertaking of a project under State and local law with Federal financial assistance under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949 as amended; to determine whether such proposal conforms to the comprehensive community plan for the development of the City of Kingston as a whole and whether such proposal is consistent with local objectives; whether such proposal conforms to the finding that the aforementioned area is a substandard or an insanitary area (as defined in subdivision four of section five hundred two of Article XV of the General Municipal Law), appropriate for urban renewal.

Priest Brings Bright Lights Of Broadway to Upstate Area

By OTTO DOELLING

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Charles Borgognoni has gone legitimate in a big way. But he still speaks nostalgically of the days when he reverently made "heists" in New York City's theater district.

Through it all his work has remained glitteringly above board and he has continued to be on the side of the angels, literally and figuratively.

The Rev. Charles Borgognoni at 41 has thinning hair and is tending toward portliness. He never has had any formal dramatic training and cannot read a note of music. Yet he has a contagious spark that for 15 years has produced musical shows of a quality unusual among amateur troupes. Syracuse loves them and proves it at the box office.

Showman and Priest

Father Borgognoni (pronounced Bor-go-nyoni) is a rare blend of showman and Roman Catholic priest.

The priest is never far removed from the showman. This was illustrated during a recent rehearsal for his May production here of "Bye Bye Birdie," which will have six performances in a downtown movie theater.

One moment the teen-agers in his chorus stood with heads bowed and recited the opening prayer: "Our Father who art in Heaven. . ."

The next moment, they were belting out the show number: ". . .What's the story, Morning Glory. . ."

Father Charles adroitly bridges the gap between "Amen" and the opening bars of an earthy, popular tune, and he sees no conflict in his dual role.

In his view, God manifests his presence in many ways and in many places — even inside a theater and even if the actor on stage is portraying the devil. Such was the case in Father Charles' 1960 production of "Damn Yankees."

"When the house lights go out," he said, "I live in another world. What causes this: the combined efforts of many talents. . .if they, in a three-hour production, can captivate the mind and emotions — they who are but shadows of the Creator —what must it be like to be in the presence of the divine Creator, who has produced the drama of life."

Theater Explains Heaven

Thus does Father Charles use the theater to explain his idea of Heaven.

For 14 of the last 15 years, Father Charles' troupe has also been his flock — youthful members of Our Lady of Pompey parish on Syracuse's North Side. He was appointed Roman Catholic chaplain at Syracuse University last year, but he continues to direct the Pompeian Players.

Since 1949, Father Charles estimated, the church, the shows' angel, has been made more than $100,000 richer by the Players' productions.

When Father Charles first took over the troupe, the annual productions were, in his words, the "usual parish fare" — variety numbers.

But soon, Father Charles was making trips to Broadway theaters to glean staging ideas from musical shows. These he converted for use in the parish, reviews, which gradually evolved to virtually full-blown productions.

He said he carefully avoided making complete steals that would have violated the copyright law.

Almost Stopped the Show

Nevertheless, the curtain almost rang down on the Pompeian Players in 1955 when he decided to produce a sizable chunk of "Pajama Game."

Three hours before curtain time he received a telegram from the lawyer of the producers of the Broadway show.

"Cease and desist immediately or you will be criminally and civilly libeled," advised the lawyer, who somehow had gotten wind of the Syracuse production.

Father Charles said he "really was scared."

The priest made a frantic call to the producers' office. He argued that far from hurting the show, which had not yet formed a road company, the Pompeian Players actually were helping the theater in general by making a large segment of Central New York's population show-conscious. Between 10,000 and 15,000 persons view his shows annually.

He won the argument and the show went on. Furthermore, the Players did not have to pay royalties that year.

Had to Go Forward

"I could see how we were going," he said. "We either had to pay royalties or revert back to the song and dance routines. I thought we shouldn't go backwards."

Forward he went, and in succeeding years the Pompeian Players put on "Of Thee I Sing," "South Pacific," "Guys and Dolls," "Damn Yankees," "Oklahoma", "Bells Are Ringing" and "The Music Man."

The shows have grossed more than $40,000, on the average. Between $18,000 and $20,000 of the total for each show has been profit, he said.

Father Charles attributes his success to the "Help of God and the dedication of many devoted people."

Columbia Trial

Sentence Teeners 20 Years to Life In Holdup Death

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Two New York City teenagers have been sentenced to serve 20 years to life for stabbing a 69-year-old woman to death during a holdup.

Paul Martin and Nathan Giles, both 16, wept as they heard the sentence pronounced Wednesday by Judge William F. Christiana of Columbia County Court.

They were sent to the Department of Correction Reception Center, Elmira, where officials will determine the institution to which the pair will be sent.

The teen-agers pleaded guilty last month to reduced charges of second-degree murder in the screwdriver slaying of Mrs. Harriet Hoyt in her Manhattan apartment a year ago.

Their trial was moved from New York City because the defense contended a fair trial there had been impeded by a television broadcast of an interview with the boys during their arrest.

Udall Recommend 'See Alaska Year' To Speed Recovery

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall has recommended travel by outsiders to Alaska to help that state recover from its recent earthquake.

At a news conference here Wednesday, Udall said vacationers can contribute toward economic recovery there by "making this the year to see Alaska."

Udall was here for a regional outdoor recreation conference.

Legend says the when Turkish soldiers successfully stormed the walls of Constantinople in 1453, the Byzantine leaders were busy arguing whether angels were male or female.

Budget, Bill Ready When Solons Returns

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today hearings on the motor fund budget will begin and the $1 billion general fund appropriation bill will be introduced as soon as the Pennsylvania General Assembly reconvenes May 4.

Both the House and Senate are in recess to permit members to campaign in the April 28 primary election.

"We will have all the bugs worked out of the general fund bill by then," said Rep. Blaine C. Hocker, R-Dauphin.

"And we will be ready to take a look at the highways motor fund program at the same time."

Hocker said his committee had delayed introduction and action on the big appropriation bill, the major part of the $1.168 billion spending program to begin July 1, to clear up some technicalities and to see how tax income was faring.

Judge Misses Thief

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Municipal Court Judge Harry Brauer, who has faced many a thief across the bar of justice, just missed facing another one in his chambers.

While he was on the bench, the judge's wallet containing $30 was taken from the pocket of his coat he had left in his chambers.

HONORED—Former U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett has been named 1964 recipient of the Sylvanus Thayer Award by the U.S. Military Academy's Association of Graduates. Lovett, a public servant for 30 years and Defense secretary under President Truman, was presented the award because his accomplishments exemplify devotion to the ideals expressed in the West Point motto, "Duty, Honor, Country."

May Continue Talks

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Wang Ping-nan, Red Chinese ambassador to Poland, is expected to leave for Peking after April 8, the date for his 22nd session of secret talks with a representative of the United States.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said, "There is no information at this time to indicate that the talks will not continue here" with a new Chinese ambassador.

Both sides have maintained strict secrecy on the prolonged talks, which Wang began in Geneva in 1955. The talks are generally credited with helping to ease the 1958 and 1962 crises over the Formosa Strait.

Rehab Services In Insurance Plans Suggested

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Many victims of strokes are prevented from being rehabilitated because of provisions of their hospitalization insurance contracts, the New York State Heart Assembly says.

Delegates to the Assembly's annual convention approved a resolution Wednesday calling for "inclusion of physical medicine and rehabilitation services incorporated in all existing (hospital insurance) plans registered in New York State."

The assembly said many stroke victims who entered hospitals for physical medicine and rehabilitation had hospital insurance, from non-profit and commercial companies, that excluded coverage for such treatment.

As a result, said the assembly, many patients who could not privately afford such services were, in effect, barred from obtaining rehabilitation.

Capitol News in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

WHITE HOUSE - SHAKESPEARE: The White House observed the 400th anniversary of William Shakespeare's birth Wednesday with a special performance of scenes from "The Taming of The Shrew."

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and daughters Lynda Bird and Luci Baines were joined by 200 children of members of Congress in the East Ballroom for the wooing and wedding scenes of the Shakespeare play, performed by the Catholic University Players.

SILVER CERTIFICATES: A Federal Reserve official says the government will probably stop issuing $1 silver certificates next summer.

The $1 silver certificates are being replaced with the new $1 Federal Reserve note authorized by Congress last year.

Even after issuance of silver certificates stops, it will be some time before they disappear from circulation. A dollar bill lasts an average of 18 months, but some last longer.

The Treasury plans to continue issuing $5 silver notes.

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA: The U. S. Information Agency says Communist propaganda aimed at the West reached a record high of 4,288 hours a week in 1963.

This represents an 11 per cent increase over 1962, USIA said Wednesday.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City Planning Board of the City of Kingston, New York, will hold a public hearing on the Broadway East Renewal Project on the 8th day of April, 1964, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of that day, in the Common Council Chambers in the City Hall, 408 Broadway, Kingston, New York.

The City of Kingston as the Local Public Agency will be responsible for the undertaking of the project. The project area consists of all that land within the Boundary lines shown in the attached map designated as Map BE 1, Project Boundary.

The purpose of this hearing is to consider a proposal for the undertaking of a project under State and local law with Federal financial assistance under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949 as amended; to determine whether such proposal conforms to the comprehensive community plan for the development of the City of Kingston as a whole and whether such proposal is consistent with local objectives; whether such proposal conforms to the finding that the aforementioned area is a substandard or an insanitary area (as defined in subdivision four of section five hundred two of Article XV of the General Municipal Law), appropriate for urban renewal.

Children's Books Award Winners Are Announced

Announcement this week of the 1964 Newbery-Caldecott Awards was made simultaneously with the information that works of award winners and runners-up are available for loan or purchase by member libraries at Mid-Hudson Libraries Headquarters, 105 Market Street, Poughkeepsie.

The awards are presented annually by the American Library Association for "the most distinguished contribution to American Literature for Children" and for the year's "most distinguished American picture book."

The 1964 Newbery Medal goes to Mrs. Emily Neville for her first book, "It's Like This, Cat," published by Harper and Row.

Maurice Sendak wrote and illustrated "Where the Wild Things Are," also published by Harper and Row, which has been awarded the Caldecott Medal.

The announcement was made by Miss Martha Dykes, children's consultant on the staff of Mid-Hudson Libraries. Miss Dykes is currently giving workshops on children's science books in Beacon, Catskill, Hyde Park, Saugerties, Chatham, and Kingston. Fifty local public libraries in Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Putnam and Ulster Counties are participating in the five-county system for improved library service. Benefits include central purchasing, book loans and reference aids for local patrons.

No Red Compromise

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union will not compromise on its unpaid assessments for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East or even discuss its refusal to pay them, Pravda said today.

Commentator Viktor Mayevsky wrote in the Communist party newspaper that the American-led effort to collect the assessments was "an overt line toward liquidation of the United Nations, toward undermining international cooperation."

The article recalled a Soviet statement to U.N. delegates on March 21 that continued efforts to collect the assessments might force Moscow "to reconsider our attitude toward the United Nations activity."

Under article 19 of the U.N. Charter, nations owing the equivalent of two years' debts to the organization can be deprived of voting rights.

The Soviet Union owes $52.6 million.

Foster Returns To Special Term Of Supreme Court

After more than twenty years absence from the Supreme Court bench in Ulster county, Justice Sydney F. Foster of Liberty will return to preside at the April regular special term of Supreme court on Friday.

Justice Foster held his last trial term of Supreme court in Ulster County in 1943 and later was assigned to the Appellate Division. He later became Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, Third Department, and then became a member of the state's highest court the New York State Court or Appeals.

Following his retirement from the Appellate Division because of the age limit, Justice Foster was reassigned to the Supreme Court and will be making his first appearance on the bench in Ulster County on Friday at special term.

Always a very popular member of the judiciary, Justice Foster will be welcomed back to Ulster County by members of the Ulster County Bar and his many friends.

In 1832 the Billing, Wooing and Cooing Society was established at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. for the purpose of introducing young people of marrigeable age.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef is the star at the nation's supermarkets this weekend, with both steaks and roasts getting a big play.

Beef leads the Agriculture Department's plentiful foods list for April. One national chain offers sirloin at 69 cents a pound, rib roasts at the same price and porterhouse steaks at 79 cents a pound in its New York area outlets.

Broiler-fryers and turkeys are featured again at poultry counters.

Prices of many fresh vegetables are beginning to slip as the season advances.

Most markets offer generally lower prices on cabbage, carrots, celery, onions and tomatoes. Other attractive buys include green beans, cauliflower, lettuce, potatoes and spinach.

Fruit features include apples, grapefruit, oranges and bananas.

Grocery shelf vegetables highlighted this weekend include dried beans, rice and canned corn.

Analysis Shows Singleton Lead

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Once you have gotten into the habit of using the four letters of the word "Arch" — Analyze the lead, Review the bidding, Count tricks, How to make the contract — you can learn to perform the four operations together and in the order that is easiest for you.

Now, suppose you are South and West leads that six of diamonds. The lead is somewhat of a surprise since clubs have been bid and raised by the opposition. You decide to play dummy's deuce and to postpone your thinking until you see East's play. East plays the queen and you still miss the king, eight and five.

West might have led low from the king, but that seems most unlikely. He almost surely opened a singleton or doubleton and a little more thought should convince you that the lead was a singleton.

Few players would open a doubleton when they had a natural long suit lead.

Now you have Analyzed the lead and Reviewed the bidding. You count 10 winners and three losers provided you can make three diamond tricks. There are nine winners and four losers if West can get in a diamond ruff.

Since you have decided that West's lead was a singleton you must take that first diamond and go after trumps.

If East has the ace of spades nothing is going to do you any good, but West has it and wind up losing one spade, one heart and one diamond.

Heart Assembly Reelects Leader

Dr. Paul N. Yu, professor of medicine at the University of Rochester School of Medicine, of the New York State Heart Assembly, at its annual business meeting at the Manger Hotel in Rochester. Judge John H. Galloway Jr., Scarsdale, again was chosen chairman of the Board of Directors.

Dr. Yu, a staff member at Strong Memorial Hospital is cardiac consultant to Genesee Hospital, Rochester, the Veterans Hospital in Bath and the Wayne-Newark Community Hospital. He is a Diplomate of the American Board of Medicine, a Fellow of the American College of Physicians and American College of Chest Physicians.

Reelected vice presidents by the delegates were Dr. Gordon K. Moe, Utica: Richard L. Pollock, Ithaca; Dr. Robert J. Michtom, Rockville Center and Mrs. Sidney L. Rubin, Elmira.

Frank J. Sindelar, Poughkeepsie, was renamed secretary-treasurer. All those elected will serve for one year.

The Assembly has 57 chapters in New York State, and through the Assembly all are affiliated with the American Heart Association. The programs of research, community services and professional and public education that the chapters support are made possible through voluntary contributions to the Heart Fund each February.

Children's Books Award Winners Are Announced

Announcement this week of the 1964 Newbery-Caldecott Awards was made simultaneously with the information that works of award winners and runners-up are available for loan or purchase by member libraries at Mid-Hudson Libraries Headquarters, 105 Market Street, Poughkeepsie.

The awards are presented annually by the American Library Association for "the most distinguished contribution to American Literature for Children" and for the year's "most distinguished American picture book."

The 1964 Newbery Medal goes to Mrs. Emlly Neville for her first book, "It's Like This, Cat," published by Harper and Row.

Maurice Sendak wrote and illustrated "Where the Wild Things Are," also published by Harper and Row, which has been awarded the Caldecott Medal.

The announcement was made by Miss Martha Dykes, children's consultant on the staff of Mid-Hudson Libraries. Miss Dykes is currently giving workshops on children's science books in Beacon, Catskill, Hyde Park, Saugerties, Chatham, and Kingston. Fifty local public libraries in Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Putnam and Ulster Counties are participating in the five-county system for improved library service. Benefits include central purchasing, book loans and reference aids for local patrons.

No Red Compromise

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union will not compromise on its unpaid assessments for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East or even discuss its refusal to pay them, Pravda said today.

Commentator Viktor Mayevsky wrote in the Communist party newspaper that the American-led effort to collect the assessments was "an overt line toward liquidation of the United Nations, toward undermining international cooperation."

The article recalled a Soviet statement to U.N. delegates on March 21 that continued efforts to collect the assessments might force Moscow "to reconsider our attitude toward the United Nations activity."

Under article 19 of the U.N. Charter, nations owing the equivalent of two years' debts to the organization can be deprived of voting rights.

The Soviet Union owes $52.6 million.

Foster Returns To Special Term Of Supreme Court

After more than twenty years absence from the Supreme Court bench in Ulster county, Justice Sydney F. Foster of Liberty will return to preside at the April regular special term of Supreme court on Friday.

Justice Foster held his last trial term of Supreme court in Ulster County in 1943 and later was assigned to the Appellate Division. He later became Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, Third Department, and then became a member of the state's highest court the New York State Court or Appeals.

Following his retirement from the Appellate Division because of the age limit, Justice Foster was reassigned to the Supreme Court and will be making his first appearance on the bench in Ulster County on Friday at special term.

Always a very popular member of the judiciary, Justice Foster will be welcomed back to Ulster County by members of the Ulster County Bar and his many friends.

In 1832 the Billing, Wooing and Cooing Society was established at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. for the purpose of introducing young people of marrigeble age.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef is the star at the nation's supermarkets this weekend, with both steaks and roasts getting a big play.

Beef leads the Agriculture Department's plentiful foods list for April. One national chain offers sirloin at 69 cents a pound, rib roasts at the same price and porterhouse steaks at 79 cents a pound in its New York area outlets.

Broiler-fryers and turkeys are featured again at poultry counters.

Prices of many fresh vegetables are beginning to slip as the season advances.

Most markets offer generally lower prices on cabbage, carrots, celery, onions and tomatoes. Other attractive buys include green beans, cauliflower, lettuce, potatoes and spinach.

Fruit features include apples, grapefruit, oranges and bananas.

Grocery shelf vegetables highlighted this weekend include dried beans, rice and canned corn.

Analys's Shows Singleton Lead

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Once you have gotten into the habit of using the four letters of the word "Arch" — Analyze the lead, Review the bidding, Count tricks, How to make the contract — you can learn to perform the four operations together and in the order that is easiest for you.

Now, suppose you are South and West leads that six of diamonds. The lead is somewhat of a surprise since clubs have been bid and raised by the opposition. You decide to play dummy's deuce and to postpone your thinking until you see East's play. East plays the queen and you still miss the king, eight and five.

West might have led low from the king, but that seems most unlikely. He almost surely opened a singleton or doubleton and a little more thought should convince you that the lead was a singleton.

Few players would open a doubleton when they had a natural long suit lead.

Now you have Analyzed the lead and Reviewed the bidding. You count 10 winners and three losers provided you can make three diamond tricks. There are nine winners and four losers if West can get in a diamond ruff.

Since you have decided that West's lead was a singleton you must take that first diamond and go after trumps.

If East has the ace of spades nothing is going to do you any good, but West has it and wind up losing one spade, one heart and one diamond.

Heart Assembly Reelects Leader

Dr. Paul N. Yu, professor of medicine at the University of Rochester School of Medicine, of the New York State Heart Assembly, at its annual business meeting at the Manger Hotel in Rochester. Judge John H. Galloway Jr., Scarsdale, again was chosen chairman of the Board of Directors.

Dr. Yu, a staff member at Strong Memorial Hospital is cardiac consultant to Genesee Hospital, Rochester, the Veterans Hospital in Bath and the Wayne-Newark Community Hospital. He is a Diplomate of the American Board of Medicine, a Fellow of the American College of Physicians and American College of Chest Physicians.

Reelected vice presidents by the delegates were Dr. Gordon K. Moe, Utica: Richard L. Pollock, Ithaca; Dr. Robert J. Michtom, Rockville Center and Mrs. Sidney L. Rubin, Elmira.

Frank J. Sindelar, Poughkeepsie, was renamed secretary-treasurer. All those elected will serve for one year.

The Assembly has 57 chapters in New York State, and through the Assembly all are affiliated with the American Heart Association. The programs of research, community services and professional and public education that the chapters support are made possible through voluntary contributions to the Heart Fund each February.

Change in Community Concerts Artist Is Announced; Bar-Illan, Pianist, Coming

DAVID BAR-ILLAN

David Bar-Illan, pianist, who has been winning a reputation as an artist with a "huge amount of technique and flair," will be presented for Kingston Community Concerts Association audience Monday night, April 13, in place of Tamas Vasary, originally engaged for the final concert this year. Announcement of the change of artists was made at a special director's meeting Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Word was received last week that Tamas Vasary had undergone major chest surgery in London, England, and would be unable to continue with his recitals or appearances with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra this spring. Considerable concern was expressed for the fine young artist.

Mr. Bar-Illan's program for Kingston will include works by Mendelssohn, Ben-Haim, Schubert, Prokofieff and Chopin. The New York Herald Tribune has described him as "a virtuoso, and an extraordinary one at that." He is in constant demand and the local board of directors felt fortunate to be able to have him in Kingston.

On inquiry it was found that Bar-Illan played in Plattsburgh last season and was immediately re-engaged for the coming series. This also happened in Winston-Salem, N. C., attesting to the popularity of his playing.

Born in Israel in 1930, David Bar-Illan started his initial training in Haifa, soon winning a scholarship for study in the United States. He interrupted this musical study to return to his native land where he joined the Israeli army during the War of Independence. Returning some years later he completed his training and was graduated from the Juilliard School of Music and the Mannes College of Music.

Last season Mr. Bar-Illan appeared on a 24 concert tour with the San Antonio Symphony. He also made debut appearances with the Philadelphia and Cleveland Orchestras and with the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood. He also appeared as guest artist with the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Baltimore orchestras and completed a nation-wide recital tour.

In Europe he has sold-out recital tours and has played with the Amsterdam Concertgebouw and Berlin Philharmonic under Karl Boehm. The Berlin orchestra chose him for guest artist when they appeared in New York at Carnegie Hall. His debut with the New York Philharmonic was in 1960. Following this performance the New York World Telegram summed up the appearance as "Virtuoso brilliance . . . eloquent displays of temperament, tone and technique. This boy can play!"

The concert will be held at the Community Theatre, Broadway, and admission will be by membership card.

During the meeting Tuesday night a letter was read from Kurt Weinhold, president of Columbia Artists Management, Inc. in memory of Gerald Devlin, vice president and eastern manager of Community Concerts, who died suddenly March 18. Mr. Devlin was well-known to Kingston association directors with whom he had worked closely to build the local organization.

A reminder was also made by the membership campaign chairmen that renewals for membership in next year's audience should be made promptly to Howard Stephens, treasurer, 301 Wall Street. The Kingston group will bring the New York Philharmonic Orchestra to town next season as well as Rosalind Elias, glamorous mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera; and Goldberg and Babin in an unusual recital of piano and violin literature.

TAKING HOME FLOWERS FROM WEDDING RECEPTION

Q: My husband and I were invited to a wedding reception. There were 10 guests at each table and in the center of each table was a very pretty centerpiece of fresh flowers. When the reception was over, several of the guests took the flowers home. I said this was not the right thing to do but others disagreed and said it was perfectly proper since the bride's family could hardly use all these flowers and they would only be thrown away. I would like your opinion.

A: You are absolutely right. Unless the bride's parents gave permission to the guests to take the flowers, they had no right to assume that the flowers would be thrown out and should not have taken them home. It is more than possible that the bride's parents had intended to send them to a home or hospital for the patients to enjoy.

Diamond Ring for Young Girl

Q: My 13-year-old granddaughter will be graduating from grade school in June. I would like to buy her a ring with a diamond in it for a present. I would like to know if you think it will be in good taste.

A: A diamond ring woud not be in good taste for a 13-year-old.

Visiting Friends in New Apartment

Q: A friend was recently married and my fiance and I were invited to visit them in their new apartment. My fiance thinks we should take a small present. He said it is customary. I don't think so. What do you say about this?

A: Taking a gift for the new house is not at all obligatory, but it is a friendly gesture and many do it.

RABBI CHAS. E. SHULMAN

Bronx Rabbi Is Listed as Guest Speaker For Regional Conference of Hadassah

Rabbi Charles E. Shulman of Riverdale Temple, the Bronx, will be the featured speaker for the spring conference of the Lower New York State Region of Hadassah to be held May 4-6 at the Pinegrove Hotel, Kerhonkson. The Kingston Chapter of Hadassah is hostess group for the session.

Dr. Shulman will address the Tuesday evening banquet on May 5.

The conference will open May 4 with a luncheon, with organization membership institutes afterwards. Speaker for the dinner session will be Mrs. Nathan Perlman, national advisor for the conference. Mrs. Perlman is now national Hadassah membership chairman and formerly was national Hadassah Medical Organization chairman.

Tuesday morning, May 5, will be devoted to a fund-raising session; a luncheon with an education program will follow. Scheduled for the afternoon is a program-planning institute, followed by a panel of guests discussing Zionist and American affairs. A cocktail party and regional board meeting will follow the banquet.

A leadership-training institute is set for Wednesday morning; a luncheon, with installation of new regional officers, will close the conference.

Local residents may attend any of the sessions; Mrs. Walter Suskind, Hillside Terrace, is handling reservations from local residents. Mrs. Robert S. Yallum and Mrs. Sidney Halpern are conference co-chairmen, with Mrs. Martin E. Kantor in charge of out-of-town reservations; Mrs. Herbert Gertner, registration chairman, and Mrs. Robert Davis, hospitality chairman. Mrs. Arthur Landesman is president of the local group.

At Riverdale Temple, Rabbi Shulman undertook a pioneer experiment to build a congregation along the lines of liberal Judaism. To do this, he gave up the pulpit he had held for 16 years at the influential North Shore Congregation Israel in Glencoe, Ill. A graduate of the Hebrew Union College and Ohio Northern University Law School, he holds graduate degrees from the University of Chicago and honorary degrees from the University of Chicago and honorary degrees from Ohio Northern and Hebrew Union. Dr. Shulman is former president of the Chicago Rabbinical Association, vice president of the National Association of Jewish Chaplains; a member of the chaplaincy commission of the National Jewish Welfare Board, of the executive committee of the New York Board of Rabbis and of the National Administrative Committee of the American Jewish Congress, as well as of the regional advisory committee of the Anti-Defamation League of Metropolitan New York. In World War II he served as a navy chaplain and was awarded the Navy Commendation Award for his services overseas.

Rabbi Shulman is a writer of note; his books include "Problems of Jews in the Contemporary World," "Europe's Conscience in Decline," and "What It Means to be a Jew." He had written extensively for many religious and secular journals, has spoken throughout the country and has received awards from Freedom's Foundation for his written contributions to American life. His sermons have been included in editions of "World's Best Sermons." A noted speaker, Rabbi Shulman has traveled frequently to many parts of the world and is well acquainted with the problems affecting his people in many countries.

The banquet at which Dr. Shulman will speak, as well as all other sessions, is open to the public, with Hadassah friends and members' husbands especially invited. Banquet reservations may be made with the local conference chairman.

Change in Community Concerts Artist Is Announced; Bar-Illan, Pianist, Coming

DAVID BAR-ILLAN

David Bar-Illan, pianist, who has been winning a reputation as an artist with a "huge amount of technique and flair," will be presented for Kingston Community Concerts Association audience Monday night, April 13, in place of Tamas Vasary, originally engaged for the final concert this year. Announcement of the change of artists was made at a special director's meeting Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Word was received last week that Tamas Vasary had undergone major chest surgery in London, England, and would be unable to continue with his recitals or appearances with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra this spring. Considerable concern was expressed for the fine young artist.

Mr. Bar-Illan's program for Kingston will include works by Mendelssohn, Ben-Haim, Schubert, Prokofieff and Chopin. The New York Herald Tribune has described him as "a virtuoso, and an extraordinary one at that." He is in constant demand and the local board of directors felt fortunate to be able to have him in Kingston.

On inquiry it was found that Bar-Illan played in Plattsburgh last season and was immediately re-engaged for the coming series. This also happened in Winston-Salem, N. C., attesting to the popularity of his playing.

Born in Israel in 1930, David Bar-Illan started his initial training in Haifa, soon winning a scholarship for study in the United States. He interrupted this musical study to return to his native land where he joined the Israeli army during the War of Independence. Returning some years later he completed his training and was graduated from the Juilliard School of Music and the Mannes College of Music.

Last season Mr. Bar-Illan appeared on a 24 concert tour with the San Antonio Symphony. He also made debut appearances with the Philadelphia and Cleveland Orchestras and with the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood. He also appeared as guest artist with the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Baltimore orchestras and completed a nation-wide recital tour.

In Europe he has sold-out recital tours and has played with the Amsterdam Concertgebouw and Berlin Philharmonic under Karl Boehm. The Berlin orchestra chose him for guest artist when they appeared in New York at Carnegie Hall. His debut with the New York Philharmonic was in 1960. Following this performance the New York World Telegram summed up the appearance as "Virtuoso brilliance . . . eloquent displays of temperament, tone and technique. This boy can play!"

The concert will be held at the Community Theatre, Broadway, and admission will be by membership card.

During the meeting Tuesday night a letter was read from Kurt Weinhold, president of Columbia Artists Management, Inc. in memory of Gerald Devlin, vice president and eastern manager of Community Concerts, who died suddenly March 18. Mr. Devlin was well-known to Kingston association directors with whom he had worked closely to build the local organization.

A reminder was also made by the membership campaign chairmen that renewals for membership in next year's audience should be made promptly to Howard Stephens, treasurer, 301 Wall Street. The Kingston group will bring the New York Philharmonic Orchestra to town next season as well as Rosalind Elias, glamorous mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera; and Goldberg and Babin in an unusual recital of piano and violin literature.

TAKING HOME FLOWERS FROM WEDDING RECEPTION

Q: My husband and I were invited to a wedding reception. There were 10 guests at each table and in the center of each table was a very pretty centerpiece of fresh flowers. When the reception was over, several of the guests took the flowers home. I said this was not the right thing to do but others disagreed and said it was perfectly proper since the bride's family could hardly use all these flowers and they would only be thrown away. I would like your opinion.

A: You are absolutely right. Unless the bride's parents gave permission to the guests to take the flowers, they had no right to assume that the flowers would be thrown out and should not have taken them home. It is more than possible that the bride's parents had intended to send them to a home or hospital for the patients to enjoy.

Diamond Ring for Young Girl

Q: My 13-year-old granddaughter will be graduating from grade school in June. I would like to buy her a ring with a diamond in it for a present. I would like to know if you think it will be in good taste.

A: A diamond ring woud not be in good taste for a 13-year-old.

Visiting Friends in New Apartment

Q: A friend was recently married and my fiance and I were invited to visit them in their new apartment. My fiance thinks we should take a small present. He said it is customary. I don't think so. What do you say about this?

A: Taking a gift for the new house is not at all obligatory, but it is a friendly gesture and many do it.

Monteux Finishes Concert From Chair After Podium Fall

ROME (AP) — Conductor Pierre Monteux collapsed and fell six feet from the podium Wednesday night while conducting Ravel's "Pavane for a Dead Princess" in Rome's Santa Cecilia Auditorium.

The conductor, who will be 89 on Saturday, slipped between guard rails that had been placed around the podium for his protection. He fell heavily, landing on his left shoulder and the left side of his face, as the audience cried out in horror.

Doctors in the audience carried him to a nearby seat. After 20 minutes he walked slowly back to the stage, expressed his regrets and asked if the audience wanted him to continue.

Many cried no, fearing for his health. Monteux started to walk away, then turned back.

Tonya Gail Cudney, George Rothmann Jr. Exchange Marriage Vows in High Falls

Miss Tonya Gail Cudney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton A. Cudney of High Falls, exchanged marriage vows with George William Rothmann Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rothmann Sr., of Olive Bridge on March 28 at a 2 p. m. ceremony in the High Falls Reformed Church.

It was a double ring ceremony with the Rev. Richard E. Lake officiating. The Rev. Mr. Lake is from the Bloomingdale Reformed Church. Mrs. Tracy Sutton was the organist and Mrs. Theodore Nelson was the soloist.

White gladioli and spider mums decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white Alencon lace and silk organza posed over bridal taffeta with a portrait neckline outlined with iridescent sequins, long tapered sleeves and a fitted bodice. Her bouffant skirt was trimmed with panels of lace and was chapel length. Her veil of silk mist was bouffant and was held by a tiara of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried white pompons.

The bride's sister, Sandra, served as maid of honor in a light blue sheer over taffeta gown. It was styled with scoop neckline, three quarter length sleeves, fitted bodice and bell skirt. A watteau panel was attached to the shoulderline in back. A stylized flower cap held a four-tiered flay-away veil. She carried tulips and spider mums.

The attendants wore the same styled gowns as that worn by the maid of honor except in pale pink. They also carried tulips and spider mums.

Serving as attendants were Miss Nancy Schoonmaker of High Falls and Mrs. Carol Kolodziejski of High Falls.

Dennis Marlatt was best man and ushering were Fred Reiner of Olive Bridge and Michael Gyves of the Bronx.

A reception for 150 guests was given in the SRS Home in Cottekill. Afterwards the couple left on a wedding trip to Bermuda. The bride wore a lavender suit with black accessories.

Mrs. Rothmann is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by the Board of Education in the guidance office of the J. Watson Bailey School. Her husband, an alumnus of Onteora Central School and Schenectady School of Modern Welding, is employed by Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Rothmann will reside in Olive Bridge.

Lyric Choristers Name Guest Artist For Spring Concert

Joseph Sopher, lyric tenor, will appear as guest soloist for the fifth annual spring concert of the Lyric Choristers on Wednesday, April 8, at 8:15 o'clock in the George Washington School auditorium.

Mr. Sopher brings to his Kingston audience a wide experience in the musical field of opera, oratorio, concert appearances both in recital form and with outstanding symphony orchestra.

A graduate of the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, Maryland, Mr. Sopher holds his degree in Music and a teachers certificate in voice. However, his outstanding solo work has kept him constantly before audiences, allowing him no time for teaching.

In August of 1961 he was heard locally in a solo recital at the Maverick Concert Hall in Woodstock. And at the annual breakfast of St. John's parish of West Hurley. Since that time, his appearances have taken him to many parts of the country as well as to Italy where he persued further study. While in Milano, Italy he made solo recordings for Angellicum Records.

His numerous oratorio and orchestral appearances have brought him before the public as soloist in such major works as the Messiah, Elijah, The Christmas Oratorio and St. John Passion, both by Bach.

His operatic roles include many of the popular standard works as well as many of the more modern operas, two of which he had the honor of singing in their initial performances. He has just completed a season of touring with the Goldovsky Opera Theatre group conducted by Boris Goldovsky.

His television appearances have included the Voice of Firestone, the Garry Moore Show, Arthur Godfrey Spectacular, Carol Burnett Spectacular and the Perry Como Show

His performances have brought critical acclaim for the quality of his voice and the manner in which he uses it. "A marvelous vocal interpretation, great success." "A brilliant example of singing took place in Joseph Sophers tenor arias." "Joseph Sopher was superior musically." These are but a few of the phrases used by the critics to praise this young artist.

He will be accompanied on the piano by Miss Ilse Sass, pianist who is no stranger to Kingston-Woodstock audiences.

Robert Guralnik, Pianist, Will Be Guest Artist With Hudson Valley Philharmonic

The April 13 concert of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic at Newburgh Free Academy will feature Robert Guralnik, pianist. Concert time is 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Guralnik is a resident of Cornwall, New York, and is the music supervisor of Storm King School. Born in 1934 he received his music education at the Manhattan School of Music in New York City. Upon graduation he entered the United States Army and was stationed from 1957 to 1961 at West Point where he was Pianist with the Army Band.

Although young in years his concert experience includes two recital tours of Europe, as well as recitals in Washington, D. C., Boston and New York. His European tours have taken him into such countries as Holland, Germany, Austria, England, France and Norway, to name a few. He has performed in such famous halls as the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, Holland, The Town Hall in New York, and the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C.

The following quote from Het Vrije Volk, Amsterdam, Holland and is typical of reviewer's enthusiasms of his performances: "His interpretation and musical sensitivity are unquestionable. He played the music with a beautiful touch and an honest affection. There is all reason to follow the career of this talented artist with great interest."

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, under the baton of Claude Monteux, musical director, will present the following numbers on the program: Bach, Brandenburg Concerto No. 2; Mendelssohn, Overture Midsummer Night's Dream; Brahms, Haydn Variations.

The orchestra will accompany Mr. Guralnik in the Khatchaturian Piano Concerto.

The Brandenberg Concerto will feature the following musicians from the orchestra: William Krinsky, trumpet; Alice Smiley, violin; Beatrice Keram, flute; Martin Sperber, Oboe.

Wells College Is Offering Tuition Scholarships; Five

The New York State Department of Education is offering five tuition scholarships at Wells College's Summer School of German.

These scholarships are part of the State-sponsored programs for in-service training of teachers and are limited to secondary school teachers of German in New York State.

The school will be in session on the Wells College campus in Aurora, New York, from July 3 to August 18, under the direction of Professor Else M. Fleissner.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM MUELLNER

Boice-Muellner Wedding Is Announced; Couple to Reside in Mt. Tremper, N. Y.

It was a double ring wedding ceremony for Miss Judith Ann Boice of Saugerties and William Muellner of Saugerties when they took their vows on March 29 at 3 p. m. in St. James Methodist Church. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Pershing C. Hunter. Robert Palmatier was the organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. LeRoy Boice of Saugerties and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Muellner of Saugerties also.

The church was decorated with altar baskets of daffodils, white Easter lilies and yellow mums with white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk taffeta and alencon lace gown with a portrait neckline, fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt. The bodice was trimmed with lace and sequins and the skirt featured insets of lace triangular panels. Her veil of wide English illusion was shirred to a crown of lace and white pearls. She carried a prayer book with miniature white roses and white hyacinth flowers.

Miss Doris Urell of Stony Hollow was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of romance blue taffeta brocade styled with scooped neckline, half sleeves, molded bodice and sheath skirt with matching overskirt. A self-fabric bow hat held a fly-away veil. She carried a circular arrangement of light pink carnations with roses.

Wearing gowns identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant except in powder blue, were the bridesmaids, Miss Doris Street, and Miss Joan E. Dyer of Sunset Park. They carried circular arrangements of dark pink carnations with pink rosebuds.

Brother of the bridegroom, Peter Muellner, served as best man. Ushers were Wolfgang Ebell of Woodstock and Olav Sjursen of Woodstock.

A reception was given at The Alpine for approximately 50 guests. Afterwards the couple left on a trip to New England. The bride wore a two piece aqua blue suit with matching accessories for traveling.

Mrs. Muellner was graduated from Kingston High School and is now employed by IBM in Kingston. Her husband, who was educated in Vienna, is employed by J and G Drywall Company. He served two years with the U. S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Muellner will reside in Mt. Tremper.

Monteux Finishes Concert From Chair After Podium Fall

ROME (AP) — Conductor Pierre Monteux collapsed and fell six feet from the podium Wednesday night while conducting Ravel's "Pavane for a Dead Princess" in Rome's Santa Cecilia Auditorium.

The conductor, who will be 89 on Saturday, slipped between guard rails that had been placed around the podium for his protection. He fell heavily, landing on his left shoulder and the left side of his face, as the audience cried out in horror.

Doctors in the audience carried him to a nearby seat. After 20 minutes he walked slowly back to the stage, expressed his regrets and asked if the audience wanted him to continue.

Many cried no, fearing for his health. Monteux started to walk away, then turned back.

Ray's Tackle Advances to Semis in HVBT Tournament

Scheffel Fouls Nail Down 84-80 Win Over Pat's

Bombardiers Next Opponent for Locals

Ronnie Scheffel scored only four points — all free throws — but they were mighty important in Ray's Tackle Shop's 84-80 victory over Pat's Restaurant in the Hudson Valley basketball tournament at Poughkeepsie last night.

The victory catapulted the YMCA champions into the semi-final round where they play the powerful Pine Plains Bombardiers next Monday night.

Nick Werkman, Seton Hall's All-America candidate, and Bill Telasky of George Washington U. are in the Pine Plains lineup.

Jumpin' Joe Uhl, who shared game scoring honors with 26 points, was judicious enough to save 16 for a hectic second half. Scheffel, scoreless throughout the game, converted his four free throws in the last minute of play and that was the difference between the clubs.

Close First Half

Ray's led 23-22 at the quarter then trailed 40-41 at intermission time. The locals were back in the lead, 62-59, going into the stretch. They held off the Bridge City thrusts until Scheffel moved into the picture with his quartet of free throws.

Uhl potted 9 baskets and eight singletons for his 26 points. Outscored 35-30 from the field, Ray's picked up their victory margin with a 24-10 margin from the charity stripe.

Chick Boice added 19 and Joe Klonowski hit 10 for Kingston.

Anglers in Cool Trout Opener

Area fishermen reported a "good" opening day for the trout season Wednesday, with many anglers bringing in their limit of 10, inspite of chilly weather.

Catches included pike weighing up to seven pounds at the dividing weir on the Ashokan Reservoir; a 23-inch rainbow trout at the Portal on Route 28; a 19-inch brown trout, and rainbows and browns measuring between 10 and 16 inches along The Chichester. Most stalwarts favored bucktails for lures and commented that high, clear waters compensated for brisk weather conditions. To the north, some anglers observed as much as a half-inch of ice in some stream locations, while those in this area appeared to be clear and fast-running. A number of youngsters reportedly landed the limit as well as the older, more experienced anglers.

Meanwhile, thousands of fishermen flocked to Catherine's Creek near Watkins Glen in the Finger Lakes area — a favorite opening day spot for trout anglers.

For the last 20 years, the first day has brought out colorfully-clad anglers who jammed together on the banks of the creek looking for rainbow trout.

The ice-free creek was stocked again this year with rainbows in the 15-inch range.

Smaller brook and brown trout were the object of fishermen in other sections of the state.

In all, more than 275,000 yearlings were dumped into streams. The stock is expected to leap to three million later this spring.

The start of the trout season in most of northern New York's ponds and lakes probably will be delayed until mid-April because of lingering ice.

The State Conservation Department says most major trout streams in the state have favorable water levels.

Wiedy's Retain Billiard Lead

Charlie Sangaline defeated Buster Ferraro, 100-60, but Pete Wolf won over Chris Rienzo, 100-65, to keep Wiedy's Furniture in first place in the Buster Ferraro Pocket Billiard Classic. At the end of last night's action, Wiedy's had 64.39 points, 20 balls ahead of the runnerup Fondino-Grimaldi Masonry made up of Sangaline and Rienzo.

Bill Costello won over Dave Holly, 100-91, despite a run of 39 by Holly. In other matches it was Tony Gentile over Bob East, 100-60; Jim Burns over Tom Howard, 100-42; Pep Cardinale over Jim Davide, 100-97; Cliff Quick over George Ticefelt, 100-67; Jim Berardi over Vince Carpino.

Still the Ingredient

Dodgers Still Have It, Without Frank Howard, Says Paul Richardson

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

While Frank Howard was the Bewildered Behemoth in Green Bay, the baseball question was: Could the Dodgers win without their Paul Bunyan?

Thoroughly acquainted with the World Champions and the National League after two years as general manager of the Houston Colt .45s, Paul Richards was a good man to answer the big query.

"With their kind of pitching, the Dodgers could win in any league without Howard or anybody else," replied Richards, for years one of the more respected managers.

"Naturally no club likes to lose a distance hitter with Howard's potential, but the Dodgers have a lot of fine players. None of them figures to hit as many home runs as a Howard playing full time, but among them they'll pick up most of the slack. And you can never tell what one of those new kids will do.

"I would say that a better question is: Could the Dodgers win without Sandy Koufax? They didn't in 1962, you may recall."

Fantastic Story

..Richards' reply further points up the success of Los Angeles pitching. It has been little short of fantastic in a league where superiority in any one department doesn't come easy.

The Dodgers won the Cy Young Award the past two campaigns—Don Drysdale in 1962 and Koufax in '63.

The staff's earned-run average last trip was 2.85, the lowest in the NL since the '44 St. Louis array posted 2.67 against wartime batters. The shutout total of 24 was the most since the same Cardinal staff racked up 26 against what passed for batters in '44, when the big guns were in the armed forces.

Last season was the seventh straight that the Dodgers' pitchers led both big leagues in strikeouts. They have had the league strikeout king each of the last five years—Drysdale in '59-60-62 and Koufax in '61-63. Koufax raised the NL individual seasonal strikeout mark to 306 last season. He strikes out batters at a better than one-an-inning ratio.

Sandy Near Record

Koufax fanned 10 or more in 51 different games during his career. The long time major league record, held jointly by the legendary Rube Waddell and Bob Feller, is 54. Sandy should breeze by that early this season. He pitched two no-hitters during the last two years.

Behind the LA starting pitchers, Koufax, Drysdale and Johnny Podres, is the phenomenal relief worker, Ron Perranoski, not to mention Bob Miller and Jerry Sherry.

Coming along to join this glamorous coterie are highly promising youngsters—Dick Calmus, Pete Richert, Joe Moeller, Phil Ortega, Nick Willhite, Norm Koch, Bill Singer and Paul Speckenbach. Baseball people will tell you these are names newspapers can set in type for the headlines of tomorrow.

Paul Richards is right.

With pitching like theirs, the Dodgers don't need as much muscle at the plate as the other guys.

Year and a Half Later Lavorante Dies of Injury

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled today for Alejandro Lavorante, former Argentine heavyweight boxing champion who died more than a year and a half after collapsing at the end of a fight in Los Angeles.

Lavorante, 27, died Wednesday in Mendoza, never having fully regained consciousness. He was knocked out Sept. 21, 1962, by heavyweight Johnny Riggins and then underwent three delicate brain operations.

"I just kept hoping and praying he would come through," Riggins said in San Francisco upon hearing of Lavorante's death. "He was a good fighter and could have gone up."

The 1962 bout was stopped in the sixth round after Riggins, who appeared to be trailing through the first four rounds, landed three solid rights in the fifth and sixth. Lavorante returned to his corner, then slumped off his stool unconscious.

An emergency brain operation was performed to remove a blood clot. A 3-by-5 inch section of his skull was removed in a second operation to relieve pressure but later was reinserted.

Lavorante remained in Los Angeles until May 4, 1963, when he was taken back to Argentina. He received therapeutic treatment at a clinic, then returned home.

Prior to the Riggins' knockout, Lavorante had been stopped by Archie Moore and knocked out by Cassius Clay, all within six months. Before the three fights, he had been rated fifth in the heavyweight class.

Ten Golfers Vie For NPH Varsity

Ten experienced golfers will compete for six places on the New Paltz High School golf team this season.

Vieing for varsity berths will be Henry Schulte, Bruce Grey, Thomas Freer, William Haveranek, David Deyo, Roger Le Fevre, Michael Bender, Sandy Robbins, Alfred Tenaglia and Jim Slane.

The selection of the team will be made on the basis of best average scores during the practice matches. Practice will begin as soon as the Lake Mohonk course is opened to play.

Harry Streifer, a member of the faculty, will again serve as golf coach.

Suggestion: A Rec Commission...

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Isn't it about time that the City of Kingston scraps the archaic system under which its Recreation Department operates?

Isn't it about time that we take it out of the horse and buggy era and move it up to 1964?

Let's compare the Poughkeepsie attitude with that in Kingston and see how we come out.

Poughkeepsie, with a population of about 39,000, spent $136,000 on its recreation program in 1963. This figure included maintenance. Kingston, population slightly over 30,000, will spend $24,964 on recreation. A separate parks department in Poughkeepsie hiked the overall appropriation to $271,150.30. The overall figure for Kingston including the park department, is $76,724.00.

There is a difference in population between the two cities but hardly enough to justify the wide disparity in recreation expenditures.

We have a suggestion for the distinguished panel of citizens who make up the City Charter Commission: It's time that we started using modern methods and approach with respect to our recreational facilities. We respectfully suggest that in your charter revision recommenations you inclue a proposal to create a five-person Recreation Commission to supervise the overall recreation program for the city. The non-paid members would be appointed by the mayor for five-year terms.

The Kingston recreation department, in addition to its routine responsibilities, is saddled with such interesting minutial as maintaining two local cemeteries, the Forsyth Park zoo and the Albany avenue traffic interchange.

We do not propose to pass judgement on the quality, scope or efficiency of the Kingston recreation setup at this time. We have a feeling that this area will inspire a wider community dialogue in the future.

A Fair Comparison

We do feel, however, that it is in the public interest to compare operations in Poughkeepsie and Kingston an try to determine if a 9,000 population differential justifies the extra amount spent by the Bridge City.

In addition to a 5-member Recreation Commission, Poughkeepsie has a two-man recreation department — Superintendent Bill Beal and assistant Dick Whitesell, both college graduates with phys ed degrees. There is a full time stenographer-clerk. Kingston has Andy Murphy, superintendent, assisted by Mickey Ryan but no clerical help.

The Poughkeepsie department operates all Little Leagues, Junior (13-14) and Senior (15-17) baseball leagues in the community, furnishing balls, umpires and other materials. It also supervises a softball league and the baseball Twilight League.

Two Swimming Pools

The Poughkeepsie setup includes five playgrounds, two swimming pools and seven parks. Its activities include operation of the public golf course (College Hill); junior and adult basketball, skating, junior bowling, archery and rowing, with organized clubs in the latter two sports. It also has weekly playground dances, movies and band concerts every other week.

Kingston lists eight parks, five playgrounds, the bathing beach, two ice skating rinks, the Recreation center and Dietz stadium, in which little if any Recreation Department activity is carried on. Half of the play area in the Rec center on lower Broadway was usurped for the urban renewal office. A dog obedience class takes over the facility one night a week. The local programs include a softball league, summer and winter basketball, Biddy basketball, girls basketball and park basketball.

Statistics Misleading

Although the total of Kingston activities seems to compare favorably with Poughkeepsie's, the local program does not begin to approach the Bridge City operation in supervision, depth and participation. That's where the crucial difference lies.

What then is the solution? There is no panacea for curing our current recreational ills. Trying to fix the blame at this late date is at best an implausible exercise in semantics. The blame belongs to all of us and can be shared by all the city administrations, past and present. It is traceable, too, to enormous apathy and indifference.

Let a brave man come forward and make a pitch for the funds necessary to bring the Kingston program up to realistic levels and you know what will happen. The political antennae of the apostle of economy will register at least 8.6 on the nearest seismograph. Only when public interest is sufficiently aroused can we expect any real action.

In the meantime, we again propose a Recreation Commission. It's not the cureall, but it would be the first step in the right direction.

Orioles Sell Right Hander

MIAMI, March 31 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today sold Buster Narum, a 23-year-old right-handed pitcher, to the Washington Senators for an undisclosed amount of cash and a player to be named later. Narum had a 6-12 won-lost record with Rochester of the International League last season. Washington also sent two pitchers, Jack Jenkins and George Angel, to its new Toronto club of the International League and Brant Alyea, an outfielder, to Lake Wales, Fla., for reassignment to York, Pa., of the Eastern League.

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 31 (AP) — Sam McDowell, the Cleveland Indians left-handed pitcher, was optioned to the Indians' Portland affiliate today. McDowell, 21 years old, is a former Pittsburgh high school star who was given a bonus estimated at $100,000 to sign with the Indians in 1960.

Fantastic Story

Richards' reply further points up the success of Los Angeles pitching. It has been little short of fantastic in a league where superiority in any one department doesn't come easy.

The Dodgers won the Cy Young Award the past two campaigns—Don Drysdale in 1962 and Koufax in '63.

The staff's earned-run average last trip was 2.85, the lowest in the NL since the '44 St. Louis array posted 2.67 against wartime batters. The shutout total of 24 was the most since the same Cardinal staff racked up 26 against what passed for batters in '44, when the big guns were in the armed forces.

Last season was the seventh straight that the Dodgers' pitchers led both big leagues in strikeouts. They have had the league strikeout king each of the last five years—Drysdale in '59-60-62 and Koufax in '61-63. Koufax raised the NL individual seasonal strikeout mark to 306 last season. He strikes out batters at a better than one-an-inning ratio.

Sandy Near Record

Koufax fanned 10 or more in 51 different games during his career. The long time major league record, held jointly by the legendary Rube Waddell and Bob Feller, is 54. Sandy should breeze by that early this season. He pitched two no-hitters during the last two years.

Behind the LA starting pitchers, Koufax, Drysdale and Johnny Podres, is the phenomenal relief worker, Ron Perranoski, not to mention Bob Miller and Jerry Sherry.

Coming along to join this glamorous coterie are highly promising youngsters—Dick Calmus, Pete Richert, Joe Moeller, Phil Ortega, Nick Willhite, Norm Koch, Bill Singer and Paul Speckenbach. Baseball people will tell you these are names newspapers can set in type for the headlines of tomorrow.

Paul Richards is right.

With pitching like theirs, the Dodgers don't need as much muscle at the plate as the other guys.

Wiedy's Retain Billiard Lead

Charlie Sangaline defeated Buster Ferraro, 100-60, but Pete Wolf won over Chris Rienzo, 100-65, to keep Wiedy's Furniture in first place in the Buster Ferraro Pocket Billiard Classic. At the end of last night's action, Wiedy's had 64.39 points, 20 balls ahead of the runnerup Fondino-Grimaldi Masonry made up of Sangaline and Rienzo.

Bill Costello won over Dave Holly, 100-91, despite a run of 39 by Holly. In other matches it was Tony Gentile over Bob East, 100-60; Jim Burns over Tom Howard, 100-42; Pep Cardinale over Jim Davide, 100-97; Cliff Quick over George Ticefelt, 100-67; Jim Berardi over Vince Carpino.

Suggestion: A Rec Commission...

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Isn't it about time that the City of Kingston scraps the archaic system under which its Recreation Department operates?

Isn't it about time that we take it out of the horse and buggy era and move it up to 1964?

Let's compare the Poughkeepsie attitude with that in Kingston and see how we come out.

Poughkeepsie, with a population of about 39,000, spent $136,000 on its recreation program in 1963. This figure included maintenance. Kingston, population slightly over 30,000, will spend $24,964 on recreation. A separate parks department in Poughkeepsie hiked the overall appropriation to $271,150.30. The overall figure for Kingston including the park department, is $76,724.00.

There is a difference in population between the two cities but hardly enough to justify the wide disparity in recreation expenditures.

We have a suggestion for the distinguished panel of citizens who make up the City Charter Commission: It's time that we started using modern methods and approach with respect to our recreational facilities. We respectfully suggest that in your charter revision recommenations you inclue a proposal to create a five-person Recreation Commission to supervise the overall recreation program for the city. The non-paid members would be appointed by the mayor for five-year terms.

The Kingston recreation department, in addition to its routine responsibilities, is saddled with such interesting minutial as maintaining two local cemeteries, the Forsyth Park zoo and the Albany avenue traffic interchange.

We do not propose to pass judgement on the quality, scope or efficiency of the Kingston recreation setup at this time. We have a feeling that this area will inspire a wider community dialogue in the future.

A Fair Comparison

We do feel, however, that it is in the public interest to compare operations in Poughkeepsie and Kingston an try to determine if a 9,000 population differential justifies the extra amount spent by the Bridge City.

In addition to a 5-member Recreation Commission, Poughkeepsie has a two-man recreation department — Superintendent Bill Beal and assistant Dick Whitesell, both college graduates with phys ed degrees. There is a full time stenographer-clerk. Kingston has Andy Murphy, superintendent, assisted by Mickey Ryan but no clerical help.

The Poughkeepsie department operates all Little Leagues, Junior (13-14) and Senior (15-17) baseball leagues in the community, furnishing balls, umpires and other materials. It also supervises a softball league and the baseball Twilight League.

Two Swimming Pools

The Poughkeepsie setup includes five playgrounds, two swimming pools and seven parks. Its activities include operation of the public golf course (College Hill); junior and adult basketball, skating, junior bowling, archery and rowing, with organized clubs in the latter two sports. It also has weekly playground dances, movies and band concerts every other week.

Kingston lists eight parks, five playgrounds, the bathing beach, two ice skating rinks, the Recreation center and Dietz stadium, in which little if any Recreation Department activity is carried on. Half of the play area in the Rec center on lower Broadway was usurped for the urban renewal office. A dog obedience class takes over the facility one night a week. The local programs include a softball league, summer and winter basketball, Biddy basketball, girls basketball and park basketball.

Statistics Misleading

Although the total of Kingston activities seems to compare favorably with Poughkeepsie's, the local program does not begin to approach the Bridge City operation in supervision, depth and participation. That's where the crucial difference lies.

What then is the solution? There is no panacea for curing our current recreational ills. Trying to fix the blame at this late date is at best an implausible exercise in semantics. The blame belongs to all of us and can be shared by all the city administrations, past and present. It is traceable, too, to enormous apathy and indifference.

Let a brave man come forward and make a pitch for the funds necessary to bring the Kingston program up to realistic levels and you know what will happen. The political antennae of the apostle of economy will register at least 8.6 on the nearest seismograph. Only when public interest is sufficiently aroused can we expect any real action.

In the meantime, we again propose a Recreation Commission. It's not the cureall, but it would be the first step in the right direction.

Resume Stock Car Races at Middletown

The stock car racing season opens Sunday at 2 p. m. at Victory Speedway Oval in Middletown. Another Sunday program is scheduled April 12 before promoter Ezra Van Dam switches to the regular Saturday night ...

Racing director Larry Granger has lined up a topnoch field for both Sunday races. Among the track favorites scheduled to return are Billy D, Bill Wimble, Ernie Gahan, Danny Mitchell, Walt Schubert, Bob Malzahn, Pete Corey, D. D. Kreuger, Sonny Strupp and Jay Zannetti.

Orioles Sell Right Hander

MIAMI, March 31 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today sold Buster Narum, a 23-year-old right-handed pitcher, to the Washington Senators for an undisclosed amount of cash and a player to be named later. Narum had a 6-12 won-lost record with Rochester of the International League last season. Washington also sent two pitchers, Jack Jenkins and George Angel, to its new Toronto club of the International League and Brant Alyea, an outfielder, to Lake Wales, Fla., for reassignment to York, Pa., of the Eastern League.

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 31 (AP) — Sam McDowell, the Cleveland Indians left-handed pitcher, was optioned to the Indians' Portland affiliate today. McDowell, 21 years old, is a former Pittsburgh high school star who was given a bonus estimated at $100,000 to sign with the Indians in 1960.

No Bowling Scores

Due to lack of space, bowling scores are not being published today. The full Wednesday slate and tonight's league [illegible] will be published in Friday's issue.

No Changes in ABC Standings

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Brentwood Bowl Club of San Francisco, surprise classic division champions in 1961, will start chasing another title at the American Bowling Congress Tournament here Thursday night.

Brentwood bested the largest field in classic division history, 83 teams, in taking the 1961 pro division bowling honors. Three members of that team — Joe Jacques, Jack Middleton and Captain Bob Wild—will be in the lineup again. Ed Bourdase and Vern Downing, a pair of California's outstanding pro stars, were also in the line-up in 1961.

There were no changes in the standings of any division in Wednesday's play. The best effort was turned in by the youngest team on the lanes, the Pepsi Kids, Kenmore, N.Y., with a 2,955 total. Team members range from 18 to 21 and two players, Ed Hohensee, 19, with 628 and Ken Kasprzak, 20, with 600 were the stars.

Kozlowski Hits 24 for Triangles

YMCA "B" League powerhouses continued to roll last night, as Hub Delicatessen trounced Schaller's Texaco, 75-36, and The 50 Club turned back a stubborn Triangle Inn squad, 69-61.

In the third game of the tripleheader, Corner Rest defeated Hudson Cement, 61-45.

An explosive second half (50-21) turned the Hub-Schaller's contest into a rout. John Burris led the winners with 18 points. Don Komosa potted 15 and Tony Causa hit 14. Pete Coffee paced Schaller's with 21.

The 50 Club built up a 37-30 halftime lead over Triangles and made it stand up against Triangles. Bill Chase was high scorer with 18 points. Bob Kozlowski meshed 24 for the losers.

Corner Rest outscored Hudson Cement, 34-20, in the second half, finishing with a 25-point fourth quarter. Jack Niles rimmed 15 for Corner Rest and Rick Barthel had 16 for Hudson Cement.

Marilyn Smith St. Pete Pick

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Marilyn Smith established herself as a favorite to win the St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf Tournament starting today when she turned in the low card in the pro-am preliminary.

However, she didn't get the $1,000 prize money because her team was disqualified when an amateur member was discovered to have posted a wrong card. Her round of 70, four under women's par on the 6,237-yard Sunset Country Club course, was lowest in the field of 37 pros.

They teed off today in quest of the $10,000 in prize money offered for the 72-hole tournament.

Against Utica SOI

Sport Club Resumes Soccer Slate Sunday

Kingston Sport Club, defending champions in the Central New York Soccer Association, resume the 1963-64 season Sunday against the Utica Sons of Italy at Oehler's Mountain Lodge field. Game time is 2:30 p. m.

Coach Bob Graves' booters will seek to extend a 47-game winning streak and will be defending champions for the third consecutive season.

Most of the veterans will return for the 1964 half of the schedule and the squad is in excellent condition, Manager Graves said. A last minute tuneup is scheduled Saturday for both first and second teams.

Bill Newmershinky has returned from Army duty to bolster an already powerful lineup that will rule prohibitive favorite to retain its Central New York laurels.

The Sport Club contests are open to the public and the games are played in a beautiful setting at Oehler's Mountain Lodge off Route 28-A in Morgan Hill.

Pizzarro Signs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Juan Pizarro, 27-year-old Chicago White Sox pitcher, ended his holdout Wednesday by signing a contract for an estimated $25,000.

The Puerto Rican southpaw, who had a 16-8 record last year, got an estimated 20 per cent pay raise over his 1963 salary.

Ithaca Tossers Score 8-0 Win

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) —Three Ithaca college pitchers combined to limit Fayetteville State to one hit Wednesday as the New Yorkers opened with a three-run homer in the first inning and romped to an 8-0 baseball victory.

The Ithaca pitchers, Earle, McHugh and Strickland (first names not available) struck out 18, with Earle striking out 13 of the 15 batters he faced in his five-inning stint.

Ithaca's first three batters all scored. After a walk and a hit batter, Fazio hit a homer. Ithaca added another three runs in the seventh inning, unearned this time, on two singles, a walk and two errors.

Outfielder Robert Park's double in the sixth inning was Fayetteville's only hit.

No Bowling Scores

Due to lack of space, bowling scores are not being published today. The full Wednesday slate and tonight's league [illegible] will be published in Friday's issue.

No Changes in ABC Standings

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Brentwood Bowl Club of San Francisco, surprise classic division champions in 1961, will start chasing another title at the American Bowling Congress Tournament here Thursday night.

Brentwood bested the largest field in classic division history, 83 teams, in taking the 1961 pro division bowling honors. Three members of that team — Joe Jacques, Jack Middleton and Captain Bob Wild—will be in the lineup again. Ed Bourdase and Vern Downing, a pair of California's outstanding pro stars, were also in the line-up in 1961.

There were no changes in the standings of any division in Wednesday's play. The best effort was turned in by the youngest team on the lanes, the Pepsi Kids, Kenmore, N.Y., with a 2,955 total. Team members range from 18 to 21 and two players, Ed Hohensee, 19, with 628 and Ken Kasprzak, 20, with 600 were the stars.

Kozlowski Hits 24 for Triangles

YMCA "B" League powerhouses continued to roll last night, as Hub Delicatessen trounced Schaller's Texaco, 75-36, and The 50 Club turned back a stubborn Triangle Inn squad, 69-61.

In the third game of the triple-header, Corner Rest defeated Hudson Cement, 61-45.

An explosive second half (50-21) turned the Hub-Schaller's contest into a rout. John Burris led the winners with 18 points. Don Komosa potted 15 and Tony Causa hit 14. Pete Coffee paced Schaller's with 21.

The 50 Club built up a 37-30 halftime lead over Triangles and made it stand up against Triangles. Bill Chase was high scorer with 18 points. Bob Kozlowski meshed 24 for the losers.

Corner Rest outscored Hudson Cement, 34-20, in the second half, finishing with a 25-point fourth quarter. Jack Niles rimmed 15 for Corner Rest and Rick Barthel had 16 for Hudson Cement.

Marilyn Smith St. Pete Pick

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Marilyn Smith established herself as a favorite to win the St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf Tournament starting today when she turned in the low card in the pro-am preliminary.

However, she didn't get the $1,000 prize money because her team was disqualified when an amateur member was discovered to have posted a wrong card. Her round of 70, four under women's par on the 6,237-yard Sunset Country Club course, was lowest in the field of 37 pros.

They teed off today in quest of the $10,000 in prize money offered for the 72-hole tournament.

Against Utica SOI

Sport Club Resumes Soccer Slate Sunday

Kingston Sport Club, defending champions in the Central New York Soccer Association, resume the 1963-64 season Sunday against the Utica Sons of Italy at Oehler's Mountain Lodge field. Game time is 2:30 p. m.

Coach Bob Graves' booters will seek to extend a 47-game winning streak and will be defending champions for the third consecutive season.

Most of the veterans will return for the 1964 half of the schedule and the squad is in excellent condition, Manager Graves said. A last minute tuneup is scheduled Saturday for both first and second teams.

Bill Newmershinky has returned from Army duty to bolster an already powerful lineup that will rule prohibitive favorite to retain its Central New York laurels.

The Sport Club contests are open to the public and the games are played in a beautiful setting at Oehler's Mountain Lodge off Route 28-A in Morgan Hill.

Pizzarro Signs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Juan Pizarro, 27-year-old Chicago White Sox pitcher, ended his holdout Wednesday by signing a contract for an estimated $25,000.

The Puerto Rican southpaw, who had a 16-8 record last year, got an estimated 20 per cent pay raise over his 1963 salary.

Ithaca Tossers Score 8-0 Win

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) —Three Ithaca college pitchers combined to limit Fayetteville State to one hit Wednesday as the New Yorkers opened with a three-run homer in the first inning and romped to an 8-0 baseball victory.

The Ithaca pitchers, Earle, McHugh and Strickland (first names not available) struck out 18, with Earle striking out 13 of the 15 batters he faced in his five-inning stint.

Ithaca's first three batters all scored. After a walk and a hit batter, Fazio hit a homer. Ithaca added another three runs in the seventh inning, unearned this time, on two singles, a walk and two errors.

Outfielder Robert Park's double in the sixth inning was Fayetteville's only hit.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

Heart Attack Hits Tebbetts

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cleveland Indians, apparently suffered a heart attack Wednesday night but hospital officials said indications were there was no immediate danger to his life.

Tebbetts was carried out on a stretcher from the HiwayHouse Hotel where the Indians are staying during the spring training season in Tucson.

He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

A physician at the hospital said early today that Tebbetts definitely suffered a coronary, but is in satisfactory condition.

The Indians were idle Wednesday, but held a workout.

Indians' General Manager Gabe Paul said Tebbetts complained about chest pains a short time before he was taken to the hospital.

Tebbetts, who makes his home in Anna Maria, Fla., is 54.

See New Tire Going 500 Miles

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced Tuesday it has developed a tire which apparently can go the full distance of the Indianapolis 500-mile race without a change.

In a press conference at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Goodyear officials said tests on the 2½-mile oval showed the new "speedway special" has an indicated tread life of 735 miles under grueling racing conditions.

Goodyear is offering its tires to Indianapolis drivers for the first time in more than 40 years. It said the new tires were on the first four finishers in the recent race at Phoenix, Ariz. Indianapolis cars have used only Firestone tires for a number of years.

The new tire, if it performs at expectations, could reduce the advantage of lightweight cars, which have to change tires only once during the 500-mile grind, compared with two or three tire changes on the heavier Indianapolis roadsters.

Meadowaire Posts Win at Roosevelt

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Meadowaire, driven by Stanley Dancer, posted his third straight victory of the season in the $4,000 Class A Pace at Roosevelt Raceway Wednesday night.

The 4-year-old pacer responded gamely in the closing strides to nip pace-setting Kenny Dares by a head. The time for the mile was 2:03. James K. Frisco finished third.

Meadowaire, owned by Irving Berkemeyer of New Milford, N.J., was the 8-5 favorite, returning $5.30.

Roosevelt Brown Signs Contract

The 11-year veteran is the fourth member of the Giants to come to terms in the past week.

Brown, 32, had one of his finest seasons last year as the Giants won their third straight eastern title. He came back strong after undergoing knee surgery at the end of the 1962 campaign.

Rosey, a 6-3 255-pounder, has been named to the All-Pro team seven times in his career.

Lightning Strikes Twice at Same Track

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — That old maxim about lightning never striking twice in the same place doesn't hold true as far as the twin double at Jefferson Downs race track is concerned.

Clarence Falcon, a sugar mill worker from Thibodaux, La., collected a $9,213 twin double at the suburban New Orleans half-mile track Wednesday night.

Last spring Falcon cashed in a twin double ticket worth $8,372.40.

Wake Forest Signs First Negro Athlete

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) —The Winston-Salem Journal said Wednesday Wake Forest College has signed its first Negro athlete to a grant-in-aid.

The paper said Kenneth (Butch) Henry, a quarterback at Greensboro's Dudley Negro High School, has been accepted for admission.

Gene Shue Quits Pro Basketball

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Shue, at one time the highest-scoring guard in the National Basketball Association, announced today his retirement from professional basketball.

Shue, only native Baltimorean ever to play in the NBA, wound up his 10-year career in his home town. The Baltimore Bullets acquired Shue early this season along with center Paul Hogue in a deal which sent center Billy McGill to the New York Knickerbockers.

Shue's retirement came as no great surprise. He was used sparingly by the Bullets during the last half of the season, and did not dress for a number of games.

"I feel that the time has come for me to leave the active playing end of professional basketball," Shue said.

Shue, who lives in suburban Timonium, said he will continue his association with a Baltimore insurance company.

Shue started his career at the University of Maryland.

Shue played five seasons at Detroit, one at Fort Wayne, one-half season at Philadelphia and 2½ seasons with New York before coming to Baltimore.

During his sty at Dtroit, Shue became the highest scoring guard in probasketball history. His highest average with the Pistons was 22.8 points a game.

Wings, Canadiens Favored to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Stanley Cup hockey semi-final playoffs resume tonight with the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings each favored to take a commanding 3-1 lead over the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Chicago Black Hawks, respectively. Montreal is at Toronto and Chicago at Detroit.

The Canadiens, who won the National Hockey League championship by one point over Chicago during the regular season, feel they have the Maple Leafs on the run especially since they won 3-2 on Toronto ice Tuesday.

"We have them on the run," is the way Montreal Coach Toe Blake put it. "We carried the play to them and caused the Leafs to start blind passing. We won a lot of games that way this season.

Chicago's woes seem more difficult at Detroit. The Black Hawks haven't won on Detroit ice in 12 games and absorbed a 3-6 shutout from goalie Terry Sawchuk of the Wings Tuesday.

Sawchuk spent Wednesday in a hospital bed in traction to ease the pain of a pinched nerve in his left shoulder and neck area. Doctors said he would be able to play tonight, however.

Thomas on Roster For Hawks Baseball

Ronnie Thomas of Kingston, a basketball star at Wagner College (Staten Island) will be on the Wagner baseball roster as the Seahawks open the 1964 season against St. John's.

Herb White is the baseball coach at Wagner. The Hawks will play a doubleheader against CCNY a week from Saturday.

The track team, coached by John "Bunny" Barbes, will face Brooklyn Poly and Trenton on Saturday on Grymes Hill. Coach Herb Sutter will pit his golfers against Manhattan's linksmen on Thursday in Manhattan in the season's opener for the Hawks.

Rocky and Levitt Are $3 Million Apart Now

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and State Comptroller Arthur Levitt are at odds again over the budget—but this time they are only about $3 million apart.

The Republican governor reported Wednesday that he had completed the 1963-64 fiscal year — which ended at midnight Tuesday — with the budget in balance and a $4-million surplus.

The Democratic comptroller, who regards himself as a "watchdog" on GOP management of fiscal affairs, contended the surplus actually was under $1 million. To be exact, it was $672,682, he said.

Levitt did not challenge the budget - balancing claim, however, as he did last year.

A year ago at this time, Rockefeller reported he had finished the 1962-63 fiscal year with a $2.7-million surplus. But Levitt insisted the budget was unbalanced and showed a deficit of $38.2 million.

The charge angered the governor and he has been denying it ever since. His statement Wednesday asserted it was the fifth straight year his administration had achieved a "pay-as-you-go, balanced budget."

The governor, who was on the West coast pressing his White House campaign, issued his statement through his capitol office. Levitt made his report in a letter to Rockefeller.

The disparity in their budget-surplus figures reflects a disagreement on bookkeeping. At issue was a $4-million repayment by the State Thruway Authority on an old loan.

Here are the comparative figures:

Rockefeller — Income $2,785,000,000 (B). Outgo $2,781,000,000 (B). Surplus $4,000,000 (M).

Levitt — Income $2,781,483,733. Outgo $2,780,811,051. Surplus $672,682.

Rockefeller included the $4 million from the Thruway among his income. But a Levitt spokesman said the comptroller contended the governor could not do this unless he also considered other money advanced by the state or repaid to the state during the year. Balancing out all such transactions leaves a net of $182,228 in this category, not $4 million, he said.

A similar disagreement lay behind last year's budget controversy.

Rockefeller submitted a $2.92-billion budget for the new fiscal year, and it was balanced as required by law. The Legislature made only minor changes in adopting it.

Whether he will finish the 1964-65 fiscal year with his budget still in balance depends largely on whether tax revenues hit the record high he predicted in his budget message.

Heart Attack Hits Tebbetts

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cleveland Indians, apparently suffered a heart attack Wednesday night but hospital officials said indications were there was no immediate danger to his life.

Tebbetts was carried out on a stretcher from the HiwayHouse Hotel where the Indians are staying during the spring training season in Tucson.

He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

A physician at the hospital said early today that Tebbetts definitely suffered a coronary, but is in satisfactory condition.

The Indians were idle Wednesday, but held a workout.

Indians' General Manager Gabe Paul said Tebbetts complained about chest pains a short time before he was taken to the hospital.

Tebbetts, who makes his home in Anna Maria, Fla., is 54.

See New Tire Going 500 Miles

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced Tuesday it has developed a tire which apparently can go the full distance of the Indianapolis 500-mile race without a change.

In a press conference at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Goodyear officials said tests on the 2½-mile oval showed the new "speedway special" has an indicated tread life of 735 miles under grueling racing conditions.

Goodyear is offering its tires to Indianapolis drivers for the first time in more than 40 years. It said the new tires were on the first four finishers in the recent race at Phoenix, Ariz. Indianapolis cars have used only Firestone tires for a number of years.

The new tire, if it performs at expectations, could reduce the advantage of lightweight cars, which have to change tires only once during the 500-mile grind, compared with two or three tire changes on the heavier Indianapolis roadsters.

Meadowaire Posts Win at Roosevelt

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Meadowaire, driven by Stanley Dancer, posted his third straight victory of the season in the $4,000 Class A Pace at Roosevelt Raceway Wednesday night.

The 4-year-old pacer responded gamely in the closing strides to nip pace-setting Kenny Dares by a head. The time for the mile was 2:03. James K. Frisco finished third.

Meadowaire, owned by Irving Berkemeyer of New Milford, N.J., was the 8-5 favorite, returning $5.30.

Roosevelt Brown Signs Contract

The 11-year veteran is the fourth member of the Giants to come to terms in the past week.

Brown, 32, had one of his finest seasons last year as the Giants won their third straight eastern title. He came back strong after undergoing knee surgery at the end of the 1962 campaign.

Rosey, a 6-3 255-pounder, has been named to the All-Pro team seven times in his career.

Lightning Strikes Twice at Same Track

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — That old maxim about lightning never striking twice in the same place doesn't hold true as far as the twin double at Jefferson Downs race track is concerned.

Clarence Falcon, a sugar mill worker from Thibodaux, La., collected a $9,213 twin double at the suburban New Orleans half-mile track Wednesday night.

Last spring Falcon cashed in a twin double ticket worth $8,372.40.

Wake Forest Signs First Negro Athlete

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) —The Winston-Salem Journal said Wednesday Wake Forest College has signed its first Negro athlete to a grant-in-aid.

The paper said Kenneth (Butch) Henry, a quarterback at Greensboro's Dudley Negro High School, has been accepted for admission.

Gene Shue Quits Pro Basketball

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Shue, at one time the highest-scoring guard in the National Basketball Association, announced today his retirement from professional basketball.

Shue, only native Baltimorean ever to play in the NBA, wound up his 10-year career in his home town. The Baltimore Bullets acquired Shue early this season along with center Paul Hogue in a deal which sent center Billy McGill to the New York Knickerbockers.

Shue's retirement came as no great surprise. He was used sparingly by the Bullets during the last half of the season, and did not dress for a number of games.

"I feel that the time has come for me to leave the active playing end of professional basketball," Shue said.

Shue, who lives in suburban Timonium, said he will continue his association with a Baltimore insurance company.

Shue started his career at the University of Maryland.

Wings, Canadiens Favored to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Stanley Cup hockey semi-final playoffs resume tonight with the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings each favored to take a commanding 3-1 lead over the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Chicago Black Hawks, respectively. Montreal is at Toronto and Chicago at Detroit.

The Canadiens, who won the National Hockey League championship by one point over Chicago during the regular season, feel they have the Maple Leafs on the run especially since they won 3-2 on Toronto ice Tuesday.

"We have them on the run," is the way Montreal Coach Toe Blake put it. "We carried the play to them and caused the Leafs to start blind passing. We won a lot of games that way this season.

Chicago's woes seem more difficult at Detroit. The Black Hawks haven't won on Detroit ice in 12 games and absorbed a 3-0 shutout from goalie Terry Sawchuk of the Wings Tuesday.

Sawchuk spent Wednesday in a hospital bed in traction to ease the pain of a pinched nerve in his left shoulder and neck area. Doctors said he would be able to play tonight, however.

Thomas on Roster For Hawks Baseball

Ronnie Thomas of Kingston, a basketball star at Wagner College (Staten Island) will be on the Wagner baseball roster as the Seahawks open the 1964 season against St. John's.

Herb White is the baseball coach at Wagner. The Hawks will play a doubleheader against CCNY a week from Saturday.

The track team, coached by John "Bunny" Barbes, will face Brooklyn Poly and Trenton on Saturday on Grymes Hill. Coach Herb Sutter will pit his golfers against Manhattan's linksmen on Thursday in Manhattan in the season's opener for the Hawks.

Rocky and Levitt Are $3 Million Apart Now

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and State Comptroller Arthur Levitt are at odds again over the budget—but this time they are only about $3 million apart.

The Republican governor reported Wednesday that he had completed the 1963-64 fiscal year — which ended at midnight Tuesday — with the budget in balance and a $4-million surplus.

The Democratic comptroller, who regards himself as a "watchdog" on GOP management of fiscal affairs, contended the surplus actually was under $1 million. To be exact, it was $672,682, he said.

Levitt did not challenge the budget - balancing claim, however, as he did last year.

A year ago at this time, Rockefeller reported he had finished the 1962-63 fiscal year with a $2.7-million surplus. But Levitt insisted the budget was unbalanced and showed a deficit of $38.2 million.

The charge angered the governor and he has been denying it ever since. His statement Wednesday asserted it was the fifth straight year his administration had achieved a "pay-as-you-go, balanced budget."

The governor, who was on the West coast pressing his White House campaign, issued his statement through his capitol office. Levitt made his report in a letter to Rockefeller.

The disparity in their budget-surplus figures reflects a disagreement on bookkeeping. At issue was a $4-million repayment by the State Thruway Authority on an old loan.

Rockefeller — Income $2,785,000,000 (B). Outgo $2,781,000,000 (B). Surplus $4,000,000 (M).

Levitt — Income $2,781,483,733. Outgo $2,780,811,051. Surplus $672,682.

Rockefeller included the $4 million from the Thruway among his income. But a Levitt spokesman said the comptroller contended the governor could not do this unless he also considered other money advanced by the state or repaid to the state during the year. Balancing out all such transactions leaves a net of $182,228 in this category, not $4 million, he said.

Rockefeller submitted a $2.92-billion budget for the new fiscal year, and it was balanced as required by law. The Legislature made only minor changes in adopting it.

Whether he will finish the 1964-65 fiscal year with his budget still in balance depends largely on whether tax revenues hit the record high he predicted in his budget message.

Major Breakthrough

Chamber Key Test For Space Living

SEATTLE (AP) — Thirty days of confinement in a sealed chamber for five men have led to a "major breakthrough" in research into whether American astronauts can live indefinitely in the hostile environment of space.

Workable and Sound

"We are on the threshold of being able to sustain men in outer space for as long as we need," said Dr. Eugene B. Konecci, director of biotechnology and human research for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's office of advanced research and technology, after the men emerged.

"The basic principles and techniques of life-support systems have been proved workable and sound. Now we refine and advance them," he said.

NASA, which contracted with the Boeing Co. for the test, called it "a major breakthrough."

Three Main Goals

When the men emerged from their cramped quarters Wednesday, first thoughts were for wives, families and food, in that order.

The air they breathed was constantly restored by a chemical. Water they drank and washed with was reclaimed from body wastes, sink drainings and condensations. Food was freeze-fried and restored by adding water.

When the crew stepped out, the three married men quickly scooped up their wives in tight embraces. The two others blinked and grinned.

Lt. Cmdr. Donald E. Robinson, 33, the crew's medical officer from Pensacola, Fla., said the first thing he wanted was "a steak three inches thick with a green salad."

Roger Barnicki, 28, of Edwards Air Force Base, headed the crew. Others, besides Robinson, were three Boeing men, Ralvan Welker, 36, of Woodinville, Wash., and Warren Swenson, 26, and Paul Trush, 26, both of Seattle.

Two Are Missing As Carrier Part Falls Into Ocean

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A flight deck elevator on the carrier Randolph broke loose and fell into the ocean Wednesday night, carrying five men and an airplane with it, the Navy reported today.

Three of the men were rescued by the destroyer Holder, which was performing plane guard duty for the Randolph. The two other men were listed as missing. The accident occurred 270 miles southeast of Cape Henry, Va.

Immediately after the elevator broke loose there was an explosion, followed by fire that engulfed the starboard side of the ship, a Navy spokesman said.

He said the flames were put out in 10 minutes. The Randolph did not give the cause of the explosion or the extent of damage to the ship, the spokesman added.

The names of the missing men, as well as those of the rescued men, were withheld temporarily.

Judge Is Against Long Bus Rides in School Race Move

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A judge, calling for preservation of the neighborhood school concept, has struck down the transfer of 127 Negroes from one public school to a previously all-white institution 3.7 miles away.

Justice William G. Easton of State Supreme Court said Wednesday it was "reprehensible" that "innocent children of any race should be used as pawns in these weird sociological chess games."

"The neighborhood school is a tenet of American educational faith," Easton said. "While segregation (not racial imbalance) in our schools by law or in fact is to be abhorred, it is detrimental to both Negro and white children to uproot them from their communities and haul them from one school to another to force integration in an artificial and unworkable manner."

The transfer from School 3, which has a predominently Negro enrollment, to School 30 was carried out last January. The Rochester Board of Education ordered the move, claiming it was to correct overcrowding at School 3.

Arthur B. Curran Jr., Rochester's corporation counsel, said the 127 pupils would not be transferred from School 30 until a court order implementing Easton's decision was handed down. He said he would ask Easton or the court's appellate division not to issue such an order pending appeal of the judgment.

Anchorage . . .

ak and Seward are being used as emergency centers. In the Kodiak Island village of Old Harbor, the school is standing but the village it was supposed to serve is gone.

Transportation facilities are getting emergency repairs.

Henry Roloff, state commissioner of economic development and planning, said the government - owned Alaska Railroad, the only one in the state, should be open north to Fairbanks and south to Whittier in three weeks.

Repairing it from Whittier south to Seward "will be a long haul" because of the number of bridges out, he said.

The highway to Seward is out and the town is being supplied by air. The Alaska Highway to Seattle and the Richardson Highway to Valdez are open, however.

Docks at Anchorage, Cordova and Homer are operable, but the one at Valdez was destroyed. Tides at the latter city have been running 14 feet lower than normal, indicating that the land in that area raised 14 feet in a massive uplift.

Hudson Mayor Is

"In my opinion," the mayor said, there is no reason to maintain a common council of 10 members, plus a president, as it appears to be cumbersome and unwieldy for a city of this size.

Wheeler then proposed that, in conjunction with establishment of a city manager type of government, the aldermen be reduced to five, plus a president; one alderman to be elected from each ward and the president to be elected on a city-wide basis.

"The city manager, being retained by the council, and performing substantially all the duties now performed by the mayor, there would no longer be a necessity for the office of mayor under the form of government I am proposing, and the office of mayor would be eliminated," Mayor Wheeler said.

Mayor Wheeler stated that under his proposal, his $2,000 salary would be eliminated, followed by the $800 salary of the president of the common council, and $4,000 representing salaries of the 10 aldermen.

With this $6,800 salary expenditure eliminated, the mayor said, the city would need only another $3,200 to meet the estimated $10,000 salary of a city manager.

It was reported that the reason for Mayor Wheeler's proposals at this time, stems from his concern over the fact that the council's seeming lack of action on many projects he considered essential, has not brought the progress he considers imperative.

Stating that he is not satisfied that Hudson "has even scratched the surface of its great potential," Mayor Wheeler said:

"I am convinced that the meanderings of this council can be traced to a minimum of courage and maximum of apathy, which is forcing the business men and residents of this community to tag not just the legislative branch but the entire city government as a do nothing administration. The question the citizenry wants answered is this: "Where does the blame lie? Is it the mayor? Is it the common council?" I can only answer for myself, I stand on my record."

Former Resident

and the rumbling continued. It was awful. The people were sticking together, helping each other. Gene was called back to his outfit, but some neighbors stayed with us. Mom, I was scared to death.

"We are still hearing tremors, but if anything more happens, we are ready to evacuate at a moments notice. Don't worry, we'll be okay. The radio has warned that we will be having tremors for another week. However the shocks will be less than half of the earlier ones."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to rally early this afternoon with motors, steels, airlines and cigarette issues prominent gainers. Trading was active.

Rubbers and mail order-retails were mixed.

Police Offer Help in Narcotics Cases, Give Alert on Glue Sniff

BY CHARLES M. McCARTHY
Freeman Staff Writer

Rising concern for the teenager and the availability of police agencies in stemming possible narcotics addiction among the young were cited in a talk by Lt. Lemuel Howard of the Kingston Police Department at the regular meeting of the Woodstock Rotary Club, this week in Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock. Some 25 club members attended.

Meanwhile, Town of Esopus officials, concerned with reports in so-called "kick thrills"—particularly inhalation of such toxics as airplane glue—issued a warning to parents of the township to make certain that they knew whether their children were participating in such activity. They cited a known case of last fall in which a town child was taken ill after "sniffing" airplane glue.

No Evidence in School

Lt. Howard's appearance came some two weeks after he participated in a panel discussion in Woodstock under sponsorship of the Woodstock Democratic Club, in which he supported allegations of "drug" activity in the township. The Freeman reported that Woodstock had been "under suspicion for some time" by the State Narcotics Control Bureau, and that there was a case involving alleged drug activity in Onteora Central School which proved to be grossly exaggerated. Dr. George N. Sullivan, school superintendent told The Freeman, that while suspension action was taken in the case, there was no evidence of narcotics activity in the schools.

However, Lt. Howard told the Democratic Club audience of some 150 that "It's (the drug problem) is here—we know it exists," and that there was evidence of such activity in the Woodstock area. He said in his talk Monday night that he didn't wish to imply that there "was a black mark" directed at Woodstock, but that facts supported claims that that particular area was a locale of suspected drug—activity.

Police Offer Help

As in his talk before the Democratic Club group, Howard answered such questions as "What can I do" about possible drug activity among children by urging parents to exercise discipline and to set the proper example. He said that if parents wished help in such problems, the facilities of his department would be offered and the department would offer help through facilities as well.

Meanwhile, Town of Esopus officials, took issue with reports of local physicians that "there is no problem" locally involving either narcotics or the "glue-sniffing kick," and warned that there was a possibility that youngsters were participating in the "kick" which they said could make a person seriously ill and could possibly lead to a serious addiction problem.

Report Glue Sniffing

Constable Joseph Feraca and Peace Justice Allan S. Dargie told The Freeman in a joint statement that they have received complaints that youngsters were reportedly "sniffing" vapors from tester's model cement and plastic glue kits. They said the reports were pertinent to that community.

Local health officials, however, indicated that "glue-sniffing" was "not a major health problem" in the area and that there was no need for publicizing any isolated reports unless it becomes a "problem of sufficient magnitude."

Called 'Thrill Fad'

Some health officials termed the sniffing of glue through the nostrils — a so called "self-created smog" — as a "thrill seeking" fad of the current generation, comparable to fads of past generations such as fish-swallowing and the consumption of anything containing alcohol during prohibition.

The tubes and jars containing the glue substances, it was reported, can be placed in a paper bag with the top off the container. By closing the bag around the face, a person may inhale the vapor and obtain the toxic effect through his nostrils.

Doctor Explains

As a result, one doctor said, the person inhaling the "smog" gets "a little high—a little drunk." He described those who would use such a device as "emotionally disturbed," adding that in some cases, the inhalation can cause damage to liver and kidneys.

Some officials said it would serve no purpose to bring this to the attention of the public, and children in particular, "when we haven't got a problem." The tubes and glass jars containing such glues are marked with such warnings as "Do not take internally or breathe vapors," and "Keep out of the hands of children."

Parents Should Find Out

However, law enforcement officials discounted the theory that by bringing the glue-inhalation process to the attention of the public that it "would give other children ideas." Rather, they said, it was incumbent upon parents to find out whether their children have such items in their possession, and what, if anything is being done with them.

Feraca, who is also director of the Rifton Youth Organization, and Judge Dargie, cited a recent case in which a 15-year-old Bronx boy apparently tried to leap 15 feet between the roofs of two buildings in that borough and plunged five stories to his death. An open tube of airplane glue which had a narcotic effect when sniffed, was found on one of the rooftops. The boy's body was found on a store roof near his home.

"Maybe we don't have a major problem," said Feraca, "but we don't want any problem—not even a minor one."

Moscow Records Sumatra Quake Of Medium Force

MOSCOW (AP) — An earthquake of medium force, apparently centered near the northern tip of Sumatra, was recorded at the Moscow seismic station early today.

A spokesman at the seismic station said the quake registered a force of 6.5 on the 10-point Richter scale. The Alaskan earthquake last week was measured at 8.2 and 8.7 points.

failing kidneys is a technique called peritoneal dialysis. This is an operation in which two tubes are inserted into the abdominal cavity between blood vessel rich membranes called peritoneum.

Chemicals are then fed in through one tube. They draw out some of the waste products and compounds accumulating in the blood — substances that would have been removed by the kidneys.

Then the flushing chemicals and waste products are drawn out through the other tube, completing the circuit.

Through Wednesday afternoon, doctors had not felt pressed into using this or other artificial kidney techniques—but they were carefully watching the status of MacArthur's blood for signs that it might be necessary.

They continue to feed drugs into the general's veins to raise the blood pressure and to "encourage" the kidneys.

Killed in Car Mishap

17-Year-Old Hurt In Route 28 Crash

In an attempt to avoid a dog crossing the highway, Richard S. Kahil, 17, Box 46 Mt. Tremper, lost control of his car Tuesday afternoon about 5:45 o'clock near the Rudy DeSilva store at Boiceville. The car, headed west on Route 28, left the highway and came back some 150 feet from where it had left the road, overturned several times and traveled some 150 feet to come to rest right side up headed east on the south side of the road. The car was owned by Richard Kahil, Sr.

Rotary Honors Harry Beatty

Members of Kingston Rotary Club enjoyed a review of the club's 1963 chicken barbecue at its luncheon-meeting Wednesday. Slides were shown depicting the Rotarians at work erecting the huge tent, setting the tables, preparing the food, serving the large attendance and doing other chores in preparation for the annual event.

The program was in the form of a tribute to Harry Beatty, who makes a great contribution each year to the success of the affair. The barbecue, which is the chief source of funds for Kingston Rotary's local civic activities, is held at the Beatty Farm.

Brazil Regime Is Assured of U. S. Recognition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new revolutionary regime in Brazil appeared today to be assured of U.S. recognition and full political and economic cooperation — if and when it secures its hold on the country.

There was no doubt at all, however, that the White House and the State Department were hoping for rebel success in completing the ouster of Brazilian President Joao Goulart.

An unmistakable indication of official Washington's attitude was given last Monday night when a high State Department official said there was increasing danger of a Communist takeover in South America's largest country.

A spokesman said "the situation in Brazil has steadily deteriorated" since last January.

Mail Truck Is Hijacked by Trio

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (AP) —Three men hijacked a mail truck here today and fled with all the mail bags it contained.

They fled in the direction of Shawinigan, about 20 miles north of here, and provincial police set up roadblocks throughout the southern section of St. Maurice County.

There was no immediate indication of the contents of the mailbags.

Their Good Stocks Grow While Oranges Give Cash

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband and I both owned separate businesses, which we have sold. We plan to semi-retire on an orange grove in California that is fully paid for and worth $70,000. We have $40,000 in cash and would like to invest $10-$15,000 in growth shares. We don't need income, as we expect our orange grove to supply that. We would appreciate your mentioning 4 stocks." G.D.

A) I will be glad to do so and I congratulate you on a carefully thought out semi-retirement plan.

My first suggestion of a strong growth stock is Bristol-Myers, perhaps the most effective merchandiser of toiletries and proprietary drugs, with a good stake in ethicals as well.

Sears, Roebuck is our greatest general merchandiser and is expanding into insurance and mutual funds. Procter & Gamble, dominant in its field, would be a good issue to round out your list.

Q) "I'd appreciate your explaining how you arrive at the General Motors yield of 5.1 per cent, as mentioned Feb. 28. General Motors, then selling below 80, to yield 5.1 per cent requires $4 annual dividend. Regular rate was $2 per year, raised recently to $2.60 a year." F.F.

A) That's a reasonable question. General Motors has usually paid a conservative quarterly rate, but when business warrants it pays a special interim dividend and a generous year-end extra.

To conclude that General Motors this year will pay out no more than its newly established quarterly rate of $0.65 a share is not realistic, since they paid out only a little less than that in 1961, a rather poor motor year.

I consider that under present conditions they will declare this year at least as much as in 1963, when a total of $4.00 was paid out.

Goulart Pledges

south, the Navy Ministry announced a destroyer and a submarine were sailing toward Porto Alegre to block the harbor entrance, a spokesman said three or four navy ships were "standing by to sail at any moment."

Goulart's brother-in-law, Leonel Brizola, was reported in control of Brazil's 3rd Army, based in Rio Grande doSul and the most powerful of the country's four armies. But rebel leaders said one of the 3rd Army's strongest units had rebeled against Brizola at a rail center near the Uruguayan border and was headed toward Porto Alegre.

Almost Bloodless

Although the revolution began Tuesday, it has apparently been almost bloodless. Only two casualties were reported—pro-Goulart students killed in a clash Wednesday with troops at Recife.

In Sao Paulo, ticker tape descended from skyscrapers and streets were filled with cars, their horns blaring. Radio announcers shouted jubilantly, "Long live Brazil."

Goulart's steady drift to the left had aroused staunch conservative, anti-Communist and Roman Catholic opposition. The tensions came to a climax last week with a 40-hour mutiny by 1,425 sailors against conservative control of the navy.

On Monday, a U.S. State Department official in Washington said the situation in Brazil has "steadily deteriorated" and expressed concern over increasing Communist influence in the largest and potentially richest country in Latin America.

Denies He's Communist

Although he has insisted he is not a Communist, Goulart said in a nationwide television address Monday night, "There is no force capable of turning us aside from our program."

That program was most recently capped by decrees expropriating land for landless peasants and seizing Brazil's remaining private oil companies. He also urged legalizing the Communist party, outlawed by the courts in 1947.

Goulart, 46, a wealthy rancher who succeeded to the presidency in 1961, hastily departed from Rio as the rebellious armies headed toward the city Wednesday and at least eight states were reported lined up against him.

In an apparent gesture to show he still exercised presidential authority, Goulart signed a decree nationalizing all gasoline distributing companies shortly after arriving in Brasilia.

Mazzilli, 53, is the son of Italian immigrants and a lawyer of conservative political inclinations. He has been acting president four times in the past, three times in the absence of Goulart or President Janio Quadros from the country, and when Quadros resigned in 1961 while Goulart, then vice president, was on a trip to Communist China.

Workshop Scheduled On Children's Books

"Using the Juvenile Book Collection — Science Books" will be the subject of six identical morning workshops to be held during April in six libraries in the Mid-Hudson area. The workshop sessions will be from 10 a. m. until 12:30 p. m.

Miss Martha Dykes, children's consultant of Mid-Hudson Libraries, the five-county library system serving member libraries in this area, will lead the meetings. Librarians and trustees of all public libraries in the area are invited to attend.

The meetings will be held as follows:

Dutchess County, Howland Circulating Library, Beacon, April 7 and Hyde Park Free Library, April 21.

Ulster County — Saugerties Public Library, April 9 and Kingston City Library, April 17.

Greene County — Catskill Public Library, April 23.

Columbia County — Chatham Public Library, April 14.

Guilty Plea Is Entered in Case Of License Bribe

NEW YORK (AP)—A state Senate legislative aide accused of taking a $2,000 bribe to help pass a chiropractic licensing bill pleaded guilty today to a criminal contempt charge.

Chief Criminal Court Judge John M. Murtagh paroled him pending sentencing. The defendant could be sentenced to a year in the penitentiary and a $500 fine, or an indeterminate sentence of up to three years.

The licensing bill subsequently was enacted.

The grand jury said in its information that Anthony Mignone, 34, of Jamaica, Queens, an insurance broker, had arranged to pay $2,000 to Hoyle for his help in getting the law passed.

Volunteers are needed for appointment as captains in the first and tenth wards in Kingston. Anyone willing to serve is asked to call the American Cancer Society office, 400 Broadway.

Commenting on the initial stages of the Crusade in Ulster County, Chairman Quilty said, "I hope that each family in each community and the city of Kingston will open its door and its heart and make the kind of donation required by the urgency of the cancer problem when a Crusade volunteer rings your bell."

Mrs. Freeman said, "Half of all cancer patients and potential patients must rely on new research breakthroughs for hope against the disease." She pointed out that some froms of cancer, notably leukemia, are still incurable, although "life-extending progress has been made in these areas, too." She added, "To support and expand the Society's research program is a key objective of the Crusade's fund appeal."

Chairmen in other townships of the county are expected to announce their team workers.

Major Breakthrough

Chamber Key Test For Space Living

SEATTLE (AP) — Thirty days of confinement in a sealed chamber for five men have led to a "major breakthrough" in research into whether American astronauts can live indefinitely in the hostile environment of space.

Workable and Sound

"We are on the threshold of being able to sustain men in outer space for as long as we need," said Dr. Eugene B. Konecci, director of biotechnology and human research for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's office of advanced research and technology, after the men emerged.

"The basic principles and techniques of life-support systems have been proved workable and sound. Now we refine and advance them," he said.

"We are already looking and preparing far beyond."

Refinements and further advancements are needed, but the basic principles and techniques for survival outside the earth's atmosphere were found to be sound.

NASA, which contracted with the Boeing Co. for the test, called it "a major breakthrough."

Three Main Goals

When the men emerged from their cramped quarters Wednesday, first thoughts were for wives, families and food, in that order.

Since March 2 they had lived, slept and eaten under space conditions, except for weightlessness, in a windowless, L-shaped chamber.

The air they breathed was constantly restored by a chemical. Water they drank and washed with was reclaimed from body wastes, sink drainings and condensations. Food was freeze-fried and restored by adding water.

When the crew stepped out, the three married men quickly scooped up their wives in tight embraces. The two others blinked and grinned.

Lt. Cmdr. Donald E. Robinson, 33, the crew's medical officer from Pensacola, Fla., said the first thing he wanted was "a steak three inches thick with a green salad."

Roger Barnicki, 28, of Edwards Air Force Base, headed the crew. Others, besides Robinson, were three Boeing men, Ralvan Welker, 36, of Woodinville, Wash., and Warren Swenson, 26, and Paul Trush, 26, both of Seattle.

Two Are Missing As Carrier Part Falls Into Ocean

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A flight deck elevator on the carrier Randolph broke loose and fell into the ocean Wednesday night, carrying five men and an airplane with it, the Navy reported today.

Three of the men were rescued by the destroyer Holder, which was performing plane guard duty for the Randolph. The two other men were listed as missing. The accident occurred 270 miles southeast of Cape Henry, Va.

Immediately after the elevator broke loose there was an explosion, followed by fire that engulfed the starboard side of the ship, a Navy spokesman said.

He said the flames were put out in 10 minutes. The Randolph did not give the cause of the explosion or the extent of damage to the ship, the spokesman added.

The names of the missing men, as well as those of the rescued men, were withheld temporarily.

Judge Is Against Long Bus Rides in School Race Move

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A judge, calling for preservation of the neighborhood school concept, has struck down the transfer of 127 Negroes from one public school to a previously all-white institution 3.7 miles away.

Justice William G. Easton of State Supreme Court said Wednesday it was "reprehensible" that "innocent children of any race should be used as pawns in these weird sociological chess games."

"The neighborhood school is a tenet of American educational faith," Easton said. "While segregation (not racial imbalance) in our schools by law or in fact is to be abhorred, it is detrimental to both Negro and white children to uproot them from their communities and haul them from one school to another to force integration in an artificial and unworkable manner."

The transfer from School 3, which has a predominently Negro enrollment, to School 30 was carried out last January. The Rochester Board of Education ordered the move, claiming it was to correct overcrowding at School 3.

Arthur B. Curran Jr., Rochester's corporation counsel, said the 127 pupils would not be transferred from School 30 until a court order implementing Easton's decision was handed down. He said he would ask Easton or the court's appellate division not to issue such an order pending appeal of the judgment.

Anchorage . . .

ak and Seward are being used as emergency centers. In the Kodiak Island village of Old Harbor, the school is standing but the village it was supposed to serve is gone.

Transportation facilities are getting emergency repairs.

Henry Roloff, state commissioner of economic development and planning, said the government - owned Alaska Railroad, the only one in the state, should be open north to Fairbanks and south to Whittier in three weeks.

Repairing it from Whittier south to Seward "will be a long haul" because of the number of bridges out, he said.

The highway to Seward is out and the town is being supplied by air. The Alaska Highway to Seattle and the Richardson Highway to Valdez are open, however.

Docks at Anchorage, Cordova and Homer are operable, but the one at Valdez was destroyed. Tides at the latter city have been running 14 feet lower than normal, indicating that the land in that area raised 14 feet in a massive uplift.

and the rumbling continued. It was awful. The people were sticking together, helping each other. Gene was called back to his outfit, but some neighbors stayed with us. Mom, I was scared to death.

"We are still hearing tremors, but if anything more happens, we are ready to evacuate at a moments notice. Don't worry, we'll be okay. The radio has warned that we will be having tremors for another week. However the shocks will be less than half of the earlier ones."

Hudson Mayor Is

$3,200 over and above the salaries that he proposes be eliminated.

"In my opinion," the mayor said, there is no reason to maintain a common council of 10 members, plus a president, as it appears to be cumbersome and unwieldy for a city of this size.

Wheeler then proposed that, in conjunction with establishment of a city manager type of government, the aldermen be reduced to five, plus a president; one alderman to be elected from each ward and the president to be elected on a city-wide basis.

"The city manager, being retained by the council, and performing substantially all the duties now performed by the mayor, there would no longer be a necessity for the office of mayor under the form of government I am proposing, and the office of mayor would be eliminated," Mayor Wheeler said.

Mayor Wheeler stated that under his proposal, his $2,000 salary would be eliminated, followed by the $800 salary of the president of the common council, and $4,000 representing salaries of the 10 aldermen.

With this $6,800 salary expenditure eliminated, the mayor said, the city would need only another $3,200 to meet the estimated $10,000 salary of a city manager.

It was reported that the reason for Mayor Wheeler's proposals at this time, stems from his concern over the fact that the council's seeming lack of action on many projects he considered essential, has not brought the progress he considers imperative.

Stating that he is not satisfied that Hudson "has even scratched the surface of its great potential," Mayor Wheeler said:

"I am convinced that the meanderings of this council can be traced to a minimum of courage and maximum of apathy, which is forcing the business men and residents of this community to tag not just the legislative branch but the entire city government as a do nothing administration. The question the citizenry wants answered is this: "Where does the blame lie? Is it the mayor? Is it the common council?" I can only answer for myself, I stand on my record."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to rally early this afternoon with motors, steels, airlines and cigarette issues prominent gainers. Trading was active.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to a point or so.

Police Offer Help in Narcotics Cases, Give Alert on Glue Sniff

BY CHARLES M. McCARTHY
Freeman Staff Writer

Rising concern for the teenager and the availability of police agencies in stemming possible narcotics addiction among the young were cited in a talk by Lt. Lemuel Howard of the Kingston Police Department at the regular meeting of the Woodstock Rotary Club, this week in Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock. Some 25 club members attended.

Meanwhile, Town of Esopus officials, concerned with reports in so-called "kick thrills"—particularly inhalation of such toxics as airplane glue—issued a warning to parents of the township to make certain that they knew whether their children were participating in such activity. They cited a known case of last fall in which a town child was taken ill after "sniffing" airplane glue.

No Evidence in School

Lt. Howard's appearance came some two weeks after he participated in a panel discussion in Woodstock under sponsorship of the Woodstock Democratic Club, in which he supported allegations of "drug" activity in the township. The Freeman reported that Woodstock had been "under suspicion for some time" by the State Narcotics Control Bureau, and that there was a case involving alleged drug activity in Onteora Central School which proved to be grossly exaggerated. Dr. George N. Sullivan, school superintendent told The Freeman, that while suspension action was taken in the case, there was no evidence of narcotics activity in the schools.

However, Lt. Howard told the Democratic Club audience of some 150 that "It's (the drug problem) is here—we know it exists," and that there was evidence of such activity in the Woodstock area. He said in his talk Monday night that he didn't wish to imply that there "was a black mark" directed at Woodstock, but that facts supported claims that that particular area was a locale of suspected drug—activity.

Police Offer Help

As in his talk before the Democratic Club group, Howard answered such questions as "What can I do" about possible drug activity among children by urging parents to exercise discipline and to set the proper example. He said that if parents wished help in such problems, the facilities of his department would be offered and the department would offer help through facilities as well.

Meanwhile, Town of Esopus officials, took issue with reports of local physicians that "there is no problem" locally involving either narcotics or the "glue-sniffing kick," and warned that there was a possibility that youngsters were participating in the "kick" which they said could make a person seriously ill and could possibly lead to a serious addiction problem.

Report Glue Sniffing

Constable Joseph Feraca and Peace Justice Allan S. Dargie told The Freeman in a joint statement that they have received complaints that youngsters were reportedly "sniffing" vapors from tester's model cement and plastic glue kits. They said the reports were pertinent to that community.

Local health officials, however, indicated that "glue-sniffing" was "not a major health problem" in the area and that there was no need for publicizing any isolated reports unless it becomes a "problem of sufficient magnitude."

Called 'Thrill Fad'

Some health officials termed the sniffing of glue through the nostrils — a so called "self-created smog" — as a "thrill seeking" fad of the current generation, comparable to fads of past generations such as fish-swallowing and the consumption of anything containing alcohol during prohibition.

The tubes and jars containing the glue substances, it was reported, can be placed in a paper bag with the top off the container. By closing the bag around the face, a person may inhale the vapor and obtain the toxic effect through his nostrils.

Doctor Explains

As a result, one doctor said, the person inhaling the "smog" gets "a little high—a little drunk." He described those who would use such a device as "emotionally disturbed," adding that in some cases, the inhalation can cause damage to liver and kidneys.

Some officials said it would serve no purpose to bring this to the attention of the public, and children in particular, "when we haven't got a problem." The tubes and glass jars containing such glues are marked with such warnings as "Do not take internally or breathe vapors," and "Keep out of the hands of children."

Parents Should Find Out

However, law enforcement officials discounted the theory that by bringing the glue-inhalation process to the attention of the public that it "would give other children ideas." Rather, they said, it was incumbent upon parents to find out whether their children have such items in their possession, and what, if anything is being done with them.

Feraca, who is also director of the Rifton Youth Organization, and Judge Dargie, cited a recent case in which a 15-year-old Bronx boy apparently tried to leap 15 feet between the roofs of two buildings in that borough and plunged five stories to his death. An open tube of airplane glue which had a narcotic effect when sniffed, was found on one of the rooftops. The boy's body was found on a store roof near his home.

"Maybe we don't have a major problem," said Feraca, "but we don't want any problem—not even a minor one."

17-Year-Old Hurt In Route 28 Crash

In an attempt to avoid a dog crossing the highway, Richard S. Kahil, 17, Box 46 Mt. Tremper, lost control of his car Tuesday afternoon about 5:45 o'clock near the Rudy DeSilva store at Boiceville. The car, headed west on Route 28, left the highway and came back some 150 feet from where it had left the road, overturned several times and traveled some 150 feet to come to rest right side up headed east on the south side of the road. The car was owned by Richard Kahil, Sr.

Kahil suffered multiple lacerations of the face and head, requiring some 50 stitches to close the wounds. He was treated at Kingston Hospital.

The car was towed from the scene.

Rotary Honors Harry Beatty

Members of Kingston Rotary Club enjoyed a review of the club's 1963 chicken barbecue at its luncheon-meeting Wednesday. Slides were shown depicting the Rotarians at work erecting the huge tent, setting the tables, preparing the food, serving the large attendance and doing other chores in preparation for the annual event.

The program was in the form of a tribute to Harry Beatty, who makes a great contribution each year to the success of the affair. The barbecue, which is the chief source of funds for Kingston Rotary's local civic activities, is held at the Beatty Farm.

Brazil Regime Is Assured of U. S. Recognition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new revolutionary regime in Brazil appeared today to be assured of U.S. recognition and full political and economic cooperation — if and when it secures its hold on the country.

The Johnson administration, fearful of being accused of intervention, maintained strict silence on Brazilian developments for the time being.

There was no doubt at all, however, that the White House and the State Department were hoping for rebel success in completing the ouster of Brazilian President Joao Goulart.

An unmistakable indication of official Washington's attitude was given last Monday night when a high State Department official said there was increasing danger of a Communist takeover in South America's largest country.

A spokesman said "the situation in Brazil has steadily deteriorated" since last January.

Mail Truck Is Hijacked by Trio

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (AP) —Three men hijacked a mail truck here today and fled with all the mail bags it contained.

The robbery took place on an isolated road, where the three men, in a small truck, forced the driver of the mail truck to stop.

They fled in the direction of Shawinigan, about 20 miles north of here, and provincial police set up roadblocks throughout the southern section of St. Maurice County.

There was no immediate indication of the contents of the mailbags.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Their Good Stocks Grow While Oranges Give Cash

Q) "My husband and I both owned separate businesses, which we have sold. We plan to semi-retire on an orange grove in California that is fully paid for and worth $70,000. We have $40,000 in cash and would like to invest $10-$15,000 in growth shares. We don't need income, as we expect our orange grove to supply that. We would appreciate your mentioning 4 stocks." G.D.

A) I will be glad to do so and I congratulate you on a carefully thought out semi-retirement plan.

My first suggestion of a strong growth stock is Bristol-Myers, perhaps the most effective merchandiser of toiletries and proprietary drugs, with a good stake in ethicals as well.

My next choice would be Texaco, which I regard as the finest domestic oil marketer.

Sears, Roebuck is our greatest general merchandiser and is expanding into insurance and mutual funds. Procter & Gamble, dominant in its field, would be a good issue to round out your list.

Q) "I'd appreciate your explaining how you arrive at the General Motors yield of 5.1 per cent, as mentioned Feb. 28. General Motors, then selling below 80, to yield 5.1 per cent requires $4 annual dividend. Regular rate was $2 per year, raised recently to $2.60 a year." F.F.

A) That's a reasonable question. General Motors has usually paid a conservative quarterly rate, but when business warrants it pays a special interim dividend and a generous year-end extra.

To conclude that General Motors this year will pay out no more than its newly established quarterly rate of $0.65 a share is not realistic, since they paid out only a little less than that in 1961, a rather poor motor year.

I consider that under present conditions they will declare this year at least as much as in 1963, when a total of $4.00 was paid out.

Goulart Pledges

south, the Navy Ministry announced a destroyer and a submarine were sailing toward Porto Alegre to block the harbor entrance, a spokesman said three or four navy ships were "standing by to sail at any moment."

Goulart's brother-in-law, Leonel Brizola, was reported in control of Brazil's 3rd Army, based in Rio Grande doSul and the most powerful of the country's four armies. But rebel leaders said one of the 3rd Army's strongest units had rebeled against Brizola at a rail center near the Uruguayan border and was headed toward Porto Alegre.

Almost Bloodless

Brizola, a Yankee-baiting politician with workers' support, is a former governor of Goulart's home state and a power in Brazil's southland.

Although the revolution began Tuesday, it has apparently been almost bloodless. Only two casualties were reported—pro-Goulart students killed in a clash Wednesday with troops at Recife.

The rebel proclamation of victory Wednesday touched off wild demonstrations in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, Brazil's largest cities.

An apparent strong man in the revolt was Gen. Amaury Kruel, war minister in Goulart's cabinet in 1962. Thousands of troops under his command headed toward Rio from Sao Paulo to take control of the city.

Goulart's steady drift to the left had aroused staunch conservative, anti-Communist and Roman Catholic opposition. The tensions came to a climax last week with a 40-hour mutiny by 1,425 sailors against conservative control of the navy.

On Monday, a U.S. State Department official in Washington said the situation in Brazil has "steadily deteriorated" and expressed concern over increasing Communist influence in the largest and potentially richest country in Latin America.

Denies He's Communist

Although he has insisted he is not a Communist, Goulart said in a nationwide television address Monday night, "There is no force capable of turning us aside from our program."

That program was most recently capped by decrees expropriating land for landless peasants and seizing Brazil's remaining private oil companies. He also urged legalizing the Communist party, outlawed by the courts in 1947.

Goulart, 46, a wealthy rancher who succeeded to the presidency in 1961, hastily departed from Rio as the rebellious armies headed toward the city Wednesday and at least eight states were reported lined up against him.

In an apparent gesture to show he still exercised presidential authority, Goulart signed a decree nationalizing all gasoline distributing companies shortly after arriving in Brasilia.

Mazzilli, 53, is the son of Italian immigrants and a lawyer of conservative political inclinations. He has been acting president four times in the past, three times in the absence of Goulart or President Janio Quadros from the country, and when Quadros resigned in 1961 while Goulart, then vice president, was on a trip to Communist China.

Workshop Scheduled On Children's Books

"Using the Juvenile Book Collection — Science Books" will be the subject of six identical morning workshops to be held during April in six libraries in the Mid-Hudson area. The workshop sessions will be from 10 a. m. until 12:30 p. m.

Miss Martha Dykes, children's consultant of Mid-Hudson Libraries, the five-county library system serving member libraries in this area, will lead the meetings. Librarians and trustees of all public libraries in the area are invited to attend.

The meetings will be held as follows:

Dutchess County, Howland Circulating Library, Beacon, April 7 and Hyde Park Free Library, April 21.

Ulster County — Saugerties Public Library, April 9 and Kingston City Library, April 17.

Greene County — Catskill Public Library, April 23.

Columbia County — Chatham Public Library, April 14.

Guilty Plea Is Entered in Case Of License Bribe

NEW YORK (AP)—A state Senate legislative aide accused of taking a $2,000 bribe to help pass a chiropractic licensing bill pleaded guilty today to a criminal contempt charge.

The plea by James O. Hoyle, 63, of Albany, covered a seven-count grand jury information alleging six counts of perjury and one count of contempt.

Chief Criminal Court Judge John M. Murtagh paroled him pending sentencing. The defendant could be sentenced to a year in the penitentiary and a $500 fine, or an indeterminate sentence of up to three years.

The licensing bill subsequently was enacted.

Hoyle was accused during a grand jury inquiry to determine whether he had conspired to accept bribes to bring about its passage.

The grand jury said in its information that Anthony Mignone, 34, of Jamaica, Queens, an insurance broker, had arranged to pay $2,000 to Hoyle for his help in getting the law passed.

Two Wards Open

Volunteers are needed for appointment as captains in the first and tenth wards in Kingston. Anyone willing to serve is asked to call the American Cancer Society office, 400 Broadway.

Commenting on the initial stages of the Crusade in Ulster County, Chairman Quilty said, "I hope that each family in each community and the city of Kingston will open its door and its heart and make the kind of donation required by the urgency of the cancer problem when a Crusade volunteer rings your bell."

Mrs. Freeman said, "Half of all cancer patients and potential patients must rely on new research breakthroughs for hope against the disease." She pointed out that some froms of cancer, notably leukemia, are still incurable, although "life-extending progress has been made in these areas, too." She added, "To support and expand the Society's research program is a key objective of the Crusade's fund appeal."

Chairmen in other townships of the county are expected to announce their team workers.

Wet and cloudy weather covered broad areas in the nation today and a pocket of cold air remained in sections of New England.

Snow and rain mixed with snow dampened areas in the Plateau region. Fairly heavy snow was reported in some sections, including four inches in a six-hour period in Ely, Nev. It was a little chilly throughout the region with temperatures in the 20s and 30s.

Showers splashed across areas from the Ohio Valley to the central Plains. Fairly heavy rainfall was reported in parts of Missouri but amounts were light in most sections.

Clear skies prevailed along the Eastern Seaboard.

Temperatures were near zero in northeastern Maine and in the teens and 20s in other sections of New England.

Johnson Giving Little Room For Compromise Insuring CR

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently is giving his legislative lieutenants little room to maneuver toward any compromise that might insure Senate passage of the civil rights bill.

The President was described by close associates today as being hard-rock firm against any changes in the House-passed measure. They said he has maintained this attitude in private strategy conferences as well as in his public statements.

Johnson, an expert on how to get things done in the Senate, is said to have told the bill's managers they should plan for eventual around-the-clock sessions in an attempt to break a Southern filibuster.

The President reportedly has little hope that Dixie opponents will ever permit passage of the legislation without the invoking of the cloture rule. This means that two-thirds of those voting would have to approve applying a debate limitation.

Therein lies the dilemma of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill, and the Democrats and Republicans who are backing his efforts to bring it to a vote.

There is no practical way — and Humphrey is the first to admit it — of getting the necessary two-thirds vote unless Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is willing to go along.

Dirksen wants some changes in vital sections of the bill. He has said he will propose about a dozen amendments to the provision dealing with fair employment practices but has no wish to "emasculate" it.

He also is expected to offer a substitute to a section banning racial discrimination in hotels, gas stations and sports stadiums. He has not spelled out his proposal yet.

Dirksen said he has substantial Republican support for efforts to change the fair employment section. He has not tested the GOP temper on the public accommodations section.

But the Republican leader has predicted flatly that before any bill is passed it will be amended. He has left the impression that he and Republicans who follow him on the matter will not be willing to support cloture unless it is.

If all senators were present, approval of 67 would be needed to curb a filibuster. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Wednesday proponents can rally only 58 votes at this time.

Life Terms Are Decreed for Two In Gang Slaying

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP)—An all-male jury has decreed life imprisonment for two members of Brooklyn's Profaci gang in the slaying of Louis Mariana, member of the rival Gallo gang.

The panel returned a verdict of first-degree murder last Saturday, after deliberating 22 hours following a four-weeks' trial.

Wednesday, however, the jurors reconvened to hear more testimony and determine the sentences. They made their final verdict known Wednesday night.

The life sentences which are mandatory, will be handed down April 15.

The defendants are Anthony (Tony Fats) Regina, 29, of Commack, N.Y., and John J. (Moose) Battista, 47, of Brooklyn.

Mariana, 26, was slain last Aug. 9 by gunmen who pulled alongside his automobile near a Port Jefferson, Long Island, shopping center and fired 12 bullets.

Police said the two gangs were contending for control of slot machines on Long Island.

Docker Is Slain

NEW YORK (AP)—A dockworker was shot to death early today by a burglar in his apartment in Harlem, police said.

Police said that Incarnation Felix Vega, 58, was awakened about 2:30 a.m. by the noise of a man searching in dresser drawers. The burglar fired one shot and fled.

The victim's wife and four children were not harmed.

Wilber Peters, district superintendent of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., was guest speaker at this week's luncheon meeting of the Lions Club at Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Peters spoke on the damage and effects of the recent ice storm in the Kingston area which left at one time or another up to 14,800 homes and businesses without power.

During the meeting Joseph Scholar, club president, announced that Barbara Ann Gloede, Miss New York State of 1964, would appear during this year's Home and Auto Show at the Armory during April 14-18. Scholar said the Lions are setting a goal of 20,000 persons for attendance figures at the 17th annual show.

$750,000 Damages Sought by FBI Man for Injuries

NEW YORK (AP)—An FBI agent is suing for $750,000 damages for injuries suffered in a beating by members of a Brooklyn family that authorities say has connections with Cosa Nostra.

The agent, John P. Foley, 42, filed the suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court.

He was in a hospital for six weeks with a fractured skull and other injuries. His suit says some of the injuries are permanent.

Foley was beaten, kicked and clubbed April 3, 1963, outside Immaculate Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church in Brooklyn while photographing persons attending funeral services for Carmello Lombardozzi.

The suit named as defendants four Lombardozzis and two relatives arrested in connection with the attack. Five of the men were sentenced to 20-month jail terms for assault. One Lombardozzi was acquitted.

Johnson Giving Little Room For Compromise Insuring CR

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently is giving his legislative lieutenants little room to maneuver toward any compromise that might insure Senate passage of the civil rights bill.

The President was described by close associates today as being hard-rock firm against any changes in the House-passed measure. They said he has maintained this attitude in private strategy conferences as well as in his public statements.

Johnson, an expert on how to get things done in the Senate, is said to have told the bill's managers they should plan for eventual around-the-clock sessions in an attempt to break a Southern filibuster.

The President reportedly has little hope that Dixie opponents will ever permit passage of the legislation without the invoking of the cloture rule. This means that two-thirds of those voting would have to approve applying a debate limitation.

Therein lies the dilemma of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill, and the Democrats and Republicans who are backing his efforts to bring it to a vote.

There is no practical way — and Humphrey is the first to admit it — of getting the necessary two-thirds vote unless Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is willing to go along.

Dirksen wants some changes in vital sections of the bill. He has said he will propose about a dozen amendments to the provision dealing with fair employment practices but has no wish to "emasculate" it.

He also is expected to offer a substitute to a section banning racial discrimination in hotels, gas stations and sports stadiums. He has not spelled out his proposal yet.

Dirksen said he has substantial Republican support for efforts to change the fair employment section. He has not tested the GOP temper on the public accommodations section.

But the Republican leader has predicted flatly that before any bill is passed it will be amended. He has left the impression that he and Republicans who follow him on the matter will not be willing to support cloture unless it is.

If all senators were present, approval of 67 would be needed to curb a filibuster. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Wednesday proponents can rally only 58 votes at this time.

Life Terms Are Decreed for Two In Gang Slaying

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP)—An all-male jury has decreed life imprisonment for two members of Brooklyn's Profaci gang in the slaying of Louis Mariana, member of the rival Gallo gang.

The panel returned a verdict of first-degree murder last Saturday, after deliberating 22 hours following a four-weeks' trial.

Wednesday, however, the jurors reconvened to hear more testimony and determine the sentences. They made their final verdict known Wednesday night.

The life sentences which are mandatory, will be handed down April 15.

The defendants are Anthony (Tony Fats) Regina, 29, of Commack, N.Y., and John J. (Moose) Battista, 47, of Brooklyn.

Mariana, 26, was slain last Aug. 9 by gunmen who pulled alongside his automobile near a Port Jefferson, Long Island, shopping center and fired 12 bullets.

Police said the two gangs were contending for control of slot machines on Long Island.

Docker Is Slain

NEW YORK (AP)—A dockworker was shot to death early today by a burglar in his apartment in Harlem, police said.

Police said that Incarnation Felix Vega, 58, was awakened about 2:30 a.m. by the noise of a man searching in dresser drawers. The burglar fired one shot and fled.

Wilber Peters, district superintendent of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., was guest speaker at this week's luncheon meeting of the Lions Club at Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Peters spoke on the damage and effects of the recent ice storm in the Kingston area which left at one time or another up to 14,800 homes and businesses without power.

The C-H spokesman gave an informative and exacting report on the severe storm.

During the meeting Joseph Scholar, club president, announced that Barbara Ann Gloede, Miss New York State of 1964, would appear during this year's Home and Auto Show at the Armory during April 14-18. Scholar said the Lions are setting a goal of 20,000 persons for attendance figures at the 17th annual show.

$750,000 Damages Sought by FBI Man for Injuries

NEW YORK (AP)—An FBI agent is suing for $750,000 damages for injuries suffered in a beating by members of a Brooklyn family that authorities say has connections with Cosa Nostra.

The agent, John P. Foley, 42, filed the suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court.

He was in a hospital for six weeks with a fractured skull and other injuries. His suit says some of the injuries are permanent.

Foley was beaten, kicked and clubbed April 3, 1963, outside Immaculate Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church in Brooklyn while photographing persons attending funeral services for Carmello Lombardozzi.

The suit named as defendants four Lombardozzis and two relatives arrested in connection with the attack. Five of the men were sentenced to 20-month jail terms for assault. One Lombardozzi was acquitted.
